IRELAND DRAINED OF ITS YOUNG

Old Age Pension Law Shows Active Sons and Daughters of Erin Have Gone to Other Countries.

DUBLIN, Nov. 7.—(Special.)—Ireland has lost one of its most picturesque characters in Michael Waters, the king of Innismurray, who died a few days ago, and who has been succeeded on the throne by his son, Michael. Innismurray is a storm-bound island about nine miles off the Sligo coast and the Waters have ruled there as far back as the memory of man runs. The late king succeeded his mother, who in turn succeeded her husband, and the ruling monarch has been a king in fact as well as in name. There are neither clergymen nor police nor magistrates on the island and the king's word is the supreme law to the eighty inhabitants. An Innismurray man has never been known to trouble the courts on the mainland.

Clanricarde Trade in Whisky.

Officially the main industry of the island is fishing, but unofficially it is making whisky, or whiskey, which pays no tax to the government. The liquor is sold to the public on the mainland and is delivered when the weather is suitable—that is on dark and stormy nights when the excitement and their boats are not likely to be abroad. About ten years ago the government determined to put a stop to this traffic and stationed a police sergeant and four men on the island. After four months, however, it was discovered that the inhabitants were in danger of starving to death on account of the ruin of their industry. The police, too, were in danger of starving for the islanders refused to supply them with food, and there are sometimes periods of a month or more when all communication with the mainland is cut off. At the end of this period the police were withdrawn and the staple industry of the island has flourished ever since without hindrance.

King Michael Popular.

King Michael was well known to thousands of tourists who visited the island to see the remarkable ruins of the abbey, founded jointly by St. Malachy and St. Columbkille, early in the twelfth century. The king's "castle," a neat whitewashed cottage, stood near the only landing stage on the island and the king was always at the water's edge when a boat arrived to welcome the visitors, unless they were policemen or exiles, when the welcome would be a very cold one. The king was a very old, but carefully brushed, black, and his scepter a formidable blackthorn. His real robe was the garment known in the west of Ireland as a "wileycot," which is a cross between a flannel jacket and a jersey.

King Michael's funeral was attended by every one of his subjects, the hundreds of people from the mainland. He was buried in the royal plot inside the walls of the ruined abbey.

Home Rule is Gaining.

Another evidence of the change in public sentiment even in the unionist party on the subject of home rule is furnished by an interview with Sir George Doughty, a leading unionist member of parliament, which has just been made public. Sir George, while repeating the usual formula about complete separation of Ireland from England being impossible, says that a large number of influential men in the unionist party believe that Ireland should receive a measure of self-government quite as full as that enjoyed by any of the British colonies. He also declares that it is confident that this will soon become the official policy of the party. It may be pointed out that this is all that the Irish nationalists are asking for. A colonial parliament means the next thing to entire political independence.

Gets After Clanricarde.

The Irish land commission has at last taken steps to deal with the scandal of Lord Clanricarde, who enjoys the distinction of being the only land owner ever publicly denounced in parliament by a British prime minister for his treatment of his tenants. The statutory notice for the compulsory purchase of the Clanricarde estate by the land commission under the act passed in 1903 and within another year it is expected every tenant who has been evicted from the Clanricarde estates will be back on his own land. Lord Clanricarde, of course, is doing all he can to oppose the purchase, but apparently all he can do is to make the land commission's work as difficult as possible. He has not seen the estate for twenty-five years and he lives the life of a recluse in England, devoting his time to art and curio collecting. He is shunned by his fellow peers on the rare occasions of his appearance in the House of Lords.

Effect of Immigration.

An announcement which has just been made in the English Parliament by the prime minister throws a sinister light on the manner in which Ireland is being robbed by emigration of the young and active part of its population, leaving only the old and poor behind. Mr. Asquith announced that the number of applications received for old age pensions for twenty-five years and over was 1,200,000. An analysis of the applications shows that they were divided as follows: The total population of each country is given for purposes of comparison.

Applications.	Population.
England	7,725,000
Ireland	4,400,000
Scotland	4,200,000
Wales	1,875,000

This means that Ireland, with the same population as Scotland, has three times as many applicants for a pension of $1.25 a week, payable at the age of 70 or over, and compared with England has four times as many in proportion to the population.

New Name for a Road.

An agitation has been started in Dublin for the naming of the road from Kilmarnock to Chapelizod, "Islede Road," in memory of the Princess Isabelle, the last of the Arthurian legend. Isabelle, it will be remembered, was the daughter of the king of

NEW UNIFORM LADING BILL

Measure Will Be Set Forth in Detail by Commercial Club Soon.

A circular will be issued in a few days by the Commercial club setting forth in detail information regarding the new uniform bill of lading which has been recommended to all railroads by the Interstate Commerce commission. There is, of course, to railroad men and shippers a great amount of interest in the matter, and among the shippers at least some uncertainty as to the situation.

It may be stated that at a meeting of western railroad traffic agents just held in Chicago it was ordered that shippers may use the old forms until the first of December, provided that these are made subject to the provisions of the new bill of lading through the medium of a rubber stamp mark to that effect. This involves among other things the assumption of a common carrier's risk by the shipper, and if he refuses to ship on these terms, an increase of 10 per cent in tariff is ordered.

The circular, which committee Guild is preparing will set forth in detail the regulations and conditions in detail and will be thoroughly read by the many business men interested for the redempt of freight as well as the shipper. It is, of course, involved in some measure.

ROOF FOR THE AUDITORIUM

Permit to Cap the Big Building Anew Calls for Forty Thousand Dollars.

Permit for the construction of the roof on the Auditorium was taken out, Friday, by the Omaha Auditorium company in the office of the building inspector. The permit is in the sum of $40,000 and the work on the roof has already begun.

Several other large building permits were taken out during the day, the aggregate of the other permits being $25,000. These permits are as follows: A. J. Marriott, 2308-10-12 Cuming street, brick flats, $2,500; Josephine G. Hamlin, 130 South Twenty-ninth avenue, brick dwelling, $3,000; J. B. NEW YORK CENTRAL LEADS BOOM

Rumor that E. H. Harriman is to Become Factor in Its Control

STEEL MAKES RECORD MARK

Speculation Stimulated by Reports from All Sections and Receipt of News of Business Resumption.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—A flood of buying orders which had poured in on brokers during the night sent prices soaring on the Stock exchange today and brought scenes of activity on the floor, the like of which had not been witnessed in many months. So strong was the bullish sentiment that in some instances prices jumped upward points at a time on single sales. The rise with which prices were made at the advanced figures indicated that many buying orders had been placed practically without limitation in price. New York Central rose 5 points on a few purchases and United States Steel by short spurts forced itself up to 3 1/2, the highest price ever touched by that stock. Many other prominent stocks advanced 1 to 2 points over last night's closing. There was no definite single piece of news to account for the extreme activity, but speculation apparently was stimulated by reports from all sections of the country of receipts of large orders by manufacturers, of rapid expansion in business and of the fact that the large number of workers are being re-employed.

The big advance in New York Central was attributed in part to a rumor current in the street to the effect that E. H. Harriman soon is to become a factor in the control of that system. Neither confirmation nor denial of this report was to be had today.

The animated trading continued until the close, though considerable selling to realize profits developed in the closing hour. As a result, the gains in some of the prominent stocks were wiped out, but the substantial advances in some shares remained to the end. Prices were working upward again when the closing gong put an end to the trading for the week.

Edward H. Harriman was informed by those at his home in Arden, N. Y., this afternoon of the rumor that he was to become an active factor in the management of the New York Central & Hudson River railroad and that the price of the stock had advanced, supposedly on the strength of that rumor. He declined to discuss the subject.

BOZARTH ON TRIAL FOR LIFE

Insanity Will Be Plea of the Defense in Case of Greenwood Murder.

PLATTSBURGH, Neb., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—In the district court in this city Friday before Judge H. D. Travis was tried the case of Matt Bozarth, charged with murder in the first degree for killing James Dyer in Greenwood October 6. Dr. N. D. Talcott of Greenwood testified that he examined the body of Dyer soon after the murder had been committed, but the man only gave one gasp after his arrival and found two wounds had been made in his abdomen and on his heart. H. H. Weideman testified that he saw Bozarth approach Dyer and put his left arm around his neck and plunge the knife into his body three times.

Weideman caught hold of Bozarth and held him until the arrival of City Marshal J. J. Andrews, who assisted in taking the knife away from him and placing him in jail. Several witnesses corroborated the statement. Depositions were read from the wife of Bozarth and from several of his brothers. All telling of his unreasonable statement and actions and believed him to be of unsound mind. His brothers also testified that insanity had been in the family for years, one cousin being an idiot and another one a feeble-minded man. The same way, Dr. John T. Hayes, superintendent of the asylum for insane in Lincoln, testified that he had examined the prisoner and believed him to be insane and that he would never be any better.

County Attorney C. A. Rawls appeared for the state and A. N. Sullivan for the murderer. The case was given to the jury in the evening and they returned a verdict Saturday forenoon, finding that the prisoner was guilty of murder in the second degree.

A reporter Bozarth said that he was born in Texas on September 4, 1875, and was married in Texas. He stated that he would like to see his wife and their two children, a son 7 years of age and the daughter 5. He had written to his wife three times since being confined in the jail here, but I cannot find his wife answered the letters, although she could write, but had been an invalid since the birth of their daughter. He gave as a reason for the killing of Dyer that Dyer had written a letter derogatory to the character of his wife and had read it in the street on the Fourth of July.

Bozarth is laboring under the hallucination that someone is trying to injure his character and imagines he can see and hear people talking against him and imagined that Dyer had a gun and intended to kill him. He stated that he "saw I have weak mind and I guess I am crazy, but I cannot stand so much abuse and imposition."

James Dyer was about 55 years of age and leaves a wife and several children, one daughter being present at the trial. Dyer was also born in Texas, and when Bozarth and Dyer arrived in Greenwood, they took the family to his home and kept them for a few weeks and then asked them financially and otherwise, in fact was his best friend.

Legislature Goes Republican.

BISMARCK, N. D., Nov. 7.—According to the latest returns the North Dakota legislature will be overwhelmingly republican. In the even hundred districts the senators held over. Taking these into account as well as the newly elected senators, the senate will comprise thirty-seven republicans, nine democrats and one independent. The house will contain but eight democrats out of a membership of ninety-five.

WILLIAM D. CORNISH DEAD

Prominent Railroad Man Expires Suddenly in His Hotel.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—(Special.)—William D. Cornish, a prominent railroad man, died suddenly in his hotel here today. Death apparently was due to heart disease.

Mr. Cornish was a member of the directorate of the following corporations: Leavenworth, Kansas & Western railroad; the Northern Pacific Terminal company of Oregon; the Oregon Railroad and Navigation company, of which he was also vice president; Oregon Short Line railroad company, of which he was also president; the Portland & Astoria Steamship company, the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake Railroad company; the Southern Pacific company; the Southern Railway company; the Union Pacific Terminal company, of which he was president; Spokane Union Depot company, Union Pacific Land company, of which he was president, and the Wells-Fargo & Co.

Mr. Cornish attended the theater last night and retired at about 11 o'clock, apparently in perfect health. Today when Mr. Cornish's private secretary, who had awoken him his death was discovered. An examination of the body by the house physician disclosed the fact that Mr. Cornish had been dead for some hours. While a superficial examination indicated that death had been due to heart disease, the doctor said there was a possibility that it had been caused by apoplexy. The coroner's inquest was set for this afternoon, after which the body will be sent to Orange, N. J., where the deceased resided. His office was at 120 Wall street, New York.

The verdict of the coroner's jury was that death had been due to heart disease.

A telegram announcing the news of Judge Cornish's death reached the office of Vice President Mohr of the Union Pacific in Omaha before the press dispatch, and the information was communicated to The Bee. At headquarters an investigation of the banker and capitalist, who knew Judge Cornish well, was particularly dear. His long and faithful services with the Harriman lines had made him a power and he was popular among all his associates.

Judge Cornish came to the Union Pacific during the period of the reorganization of the company. When the receivership was over and the road passed into the hands of Mr. Harriman the Judge became vice president, with offices in New York, and in that capacity he remained.

He had a large share in the acquisition of the Union Pacific and all Harriman lines.

The information received by the Union Pacific was that Judge Cornish's mission at this time in Chicago was to confer with other Harriman officials on matters pertaining to the proposed acquisition of the Chicago & North Western, which was being taken over by the American Tobacco company and its subsidiaries practically controlled the tobacco trade of the world. The American Tobacco company itself is capitalized at $18,000,000. Its president is James B. Duke, but Thomas F. Ryan, the banker and capitalist, has been regarded as the dominant force in the great corporation.

Since January, 1906, regular quarterly dividends at the rate of 6 per cent a year have been paid on preferred stock. The first dividend on common stock was 2 1/2 per cent, paid on March 1, 1905. Since that time dividends in the same amount have been paid in December, 1906, 5 per cent extra in September, 1907, 7 1/2 per cent extra in September, 1907, and 2 1/2 per cent extra in last December. Extra dividends aggregating 15 per cent on the common stock have been paid thus far in the present year.

He is German Throne Enjoys Trip in Airship with Count Zeppelin.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Nov. 7.—Crown Prince Frederick William made an ascent today with Count Zeppelin in the latter's airship. The start was made at twenty minutes past eleven. There was a strong northerly wind and the weather is very cold. It is possible that the airship will proceed to Donaueschingen, Baden, where Emperor William will arrive in the course of the day from Austria. His majesty will visit Prince von Furerberg.

DONAUESCHINGEN, Baden, Nov. 7.—The Zeppelin airship, with Crown Prince Frederick William on board, arrived over this town at 1:40 and is now engaged in a series of maneuvers. It made a number of trips along the railroad track while awaiting the arrival of the special imperial train on which the emperor is coming from Austria.

The imperial train arrived about 3 o'clock. The airship followed it into town at a rapid rate and at 4:00 the crown prince greeted his father through a megaphone and the emperor responded to this salutation by waving his hand. Upon alighting from the train his majesty drove to the castle and took up a position on the terrace. The airship then approached and when directly overhead the crown prince waved his hand and the emperor responded to this salutation by waving his hand. Count Zeppelin then circumnavigated the castle, after which further greetings were exchanged and the airship started on its return voyage to Friedrichshafen.

AUSTRIAN CABINET RESIGNS

Disensions Between Ministers Cause Change in Administrative Board of Government.

VIENNA, Nov. 7.—The Austrian cabinet resigned today as an outcome of the disensions between the German and Czech ministers following the recent racial controversy in Bohemia and Moravia. This action has nothing to do with the international situation. It is expected that Baron Richard von Biehnert, minister of the interior, will be entrusted with the formation of a new cabinet.

German Banker Ends Life.

MAYENCE, Germany, Nov. 7.—Karl Oppenheim, a partner in one of the oldest banks in Hesse, committed suicide by shooting here today. Heavy financial losses are said to be the reason for the act.

Patch May Cause Man Trouble.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 7.—(Special.)—A peculiarly shaped patch on the heel of one of Fred Larcins shoes may hang him. Because of this patch Larcins is suspected of the murder of Miss Adda Bailey of Denver, which occurred here September 12, and an effort is being made to connect him with the crime is now being made by Sheriff Smalley.

Larcins, who is a negro, was arrested yesterday for invading the home of C. R. Hoffman, holding up Hoffman and his wife and daughter and robbing them of a small amount of money.

Larcins might be the murderer of Miss Bailey was first aroused by his resemblance to the description of her assailant given by Miss Bailey while she was dying. The appearance of Larcins and the description of the murderer are almost identical, even to the height—4 feet 3 inches—and the phenomenal breadth of shoulders. A more convincing piece of circumstantial evidence is a pair-shaped patch on the heel of one of the shoes worn by Larcins when he was arrested. The murderer of Miss Bailey left distinct tracks when he fled from the scene of the crime and in these tracks appeared the impression of a pair-shaped patch identical with that on Larcins' shoe.

An investigation of Larcins' whereabouts on the night of the assassination of Miss Bailey is now in progress.

IN VIOLATION OF LAW

Government Scores First Point Against Tobacco Trust.

COURT OF APPEALS RULES

It Holds that Combine Operates in Restraint of Trade.

RECEIVER IS NOT NECESSARY

Government's Request is Held to Be Impracticable.

WAY PAVED FOR AN APPEAL

Injunction Will Not Lie Against Subsidary Companies Until Case is Decided by Supreme Court.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The government's attempt to bring about a dissolution of the American Tobacco company, the giant corporation which practically controls the tobacco trade of the world outside of Great Britain, has made substantial progress. After long consideration of the great volume of testimony taken during the many months since the suit was instituted, the United States circuit court today handed down decisions holding that the company is operated in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law and in restraint of trade. The court found, however, that the government's request for the appointment of a receiver was impracticable and wholly unnecessary and at the same time the four judges agree that the application for an injunction against the various subsidiary companies should be suspended until after a decision on an appeal from the present judgment. The complaint against the Imperial Tobacco company and the British-American company was dismissed.

The government's complaint against the tobacco company included the names of a large number of subsidiary and allied companies, but not all of these are included in the decision handed down by the judges of the United States circuit court today.

The suit has been in progress for many years and great volumes of testimony were taken in the past. The government has taken the defendant companies. In the course of these examinations it developed that the American Tobacco company and its subsidiaries practically controlled the tobacco trade of the world. The American Tobacco company itself is capitalized at $18,000,000. Its president is James B. Duke, but Thomas F. Ryan, the banker and capitalist, has been regarded as the dominant force in the great corporation.

Since January, 1906, regular quarterly dividends at the rate of 6 per cent a year have been paid on preferred stock. The first dividend on common stock was 2 1/2 per cent, paid on March 1, 1905. BOY SHOT BY HIS PLAYMATE

Didn't Know - It Was Loaded Target Rifle Does the Shooting.

Earl Carr, 14 years of age, was shot in the hip by a playmate Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at his home, 1130 North Twentieth street.

Earl with two playmates named Smith were in the back yard playing with a target rifle. Virgil Smith, 12 years old, pointed the rifle at his brother's head. Earl Carr reproved him for doing this and the lad then turned the weapon on the Carr boy and pulled the trigger, not knowing the gun was loaded.

The bullet entered the right hip. Carr was taken to the Omaha General hospital where he was attended by Dr. Bance.

Oil Magnate Arrives in St. Louis Enroute to Stand Trial in Lone Star State.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 7.—H. Clay Pierce, chairman of the Waters-Pierce Oil company, arrived here today on his way to Texas, where he is to stand trial on an indictment charging perjury. He was apparently fully recovered from his indisposition, due to an operation performed in St. Louis, and was driving in his private car to an automobile, which took him to his home. He declined to make any statement, but at the office of his attorney it was reported that Mr. Pierce will leave here for Texas tonight.

EMPEROR OF CHINA SICK

Foreign Educated Physicians Discharged and Natives Now Attend Ruler.

PEKING, Nov. 7.—The emperor of China the last ten days has been suffering from a disorder which has manifested itself in the inactivity of an intestinal function. His complaint has been attended also by more or less fever. The government and the members of the imperial family are alarmed over his condition. The foreign educated physicians who have been attending his majesty since his illness of last summer have been dismissed and the old style practitioners reinstated.

LABEL SUIT IN FEDERAL COURT

Haskell-Hearst Controversy is Formally Transferred from Douglas County District Court.

The Haskell-Hearst $500,000 label case has finally reached the United States circuit court. The transfer to that court was made Friday afternoon from the district court of Douglas county.

The order granting the transfer from the state to the federal courts was signed by Judge Lee S. Estelle Tuesday, but there was some necessary delay in making the formal transfer on account of preparing the transcript and the formal filing of the case in the federal court was delayed until Friday afternoon.
