Features of the Trading and Closing WEATHER IN THE GRAIN BELT

Prices on Board of Trade.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—Wheat pirices on the local exchange today touched newhigh record mar2s for the season, December selling at $1.04 and May at $1.05. Healiging sales caused a slump from the high level, but the market closed firm. Corn was also firm and outs and provisions were steady.

Although wheat prices soared to a new high record paint for the season, sentiment in the pit was not so intensely builtsh as that manifested during the provinces session, but the volume of trade was again on a liberal scale. The fact that the European grain markets responded only feebly to the sharp upturn here yesterday was one of the chief reasons for heavy selling pressure by small holders, which caused several setbacks suring the Deart of the selling however, was bounded out by additional rais in the Orlie river valley. A report from Dujuth that a considerable quantity of wheat had been sold there for shipment to Germany caused comment. Total export business for the day was estimated at hixty boat leads. Several reports were received regarding the condition of the wheat crop in Argentine which claimed that the crop is the southern portion of the country was endangered by drouth. These advices helped to create additional bullish sentiment. The market for the day, after fluctuating over a reage of 1912c, closed firm, with prices unchanged to 40 %c higher. Final quotaines on December were at $1.035 0 1.032 nnd on May Ht $1.07% 01.07%. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 232.000 bushels. The world's visible supply as shown by Bradsreet's, increased 1,892,000 bushels.

The corn market was inclined to be weak early in the day, but later a firm tone developed. One local concern sold 160,600 bushels for direct shipment abroad and total export sales were estimated at 275,000 bushels. The market closed firm, with prices & clower to 3cc higher, with December at 62%c and May at 62% 62%c.

Outs were firm the greater part of the day, but eased off on profit-taking and closed about steady, with prices unchanged to 160 to lower.

Provisions were rather weak early in the day. Later the market became firmer. At the close prices were 2% 65c lower to 12%c higher.

outset that they carried liberal orders for beef steers. The result was that the market opened active and anything at all desirable sold very freely at prices that generally looked loc higher than yesterday. Quite a string of Montana rangers sold up to $5.25.

Cows and heifers were also in active demand and anything desirable was safely strong to loc higher than yesterday. Even the common to medium grades sold more freely, so that although the offerings were large the most of them changed hands in very good season.

The feeder market, especially on the more desirable grades, was also active and anywhere from strong to quite a little higher. Speculators all seemed anxious for cattle and it was no trouble at all to dispose, of desirable kinds at very satisfactory figures. as high as aboy was paid for pretty decent and of stuff. There were quite a good many feeder wetners included among the receipts and an over-supply of interior and undearable owes. The trade, as a whole, was in a good, healthy and fairly acuve condition, and the big blik of the receipts changed hands in very fair season. Attention has been called several times in these columns to the inadvisability of shipping in warmed up or hair fat sneep or ramps. At the present time a good many ewes of that description are being forwarded, ewes that are a little too fat to sell down to feeder prices and on the other hand not nearly fat enough to make them suitsole for giners. Stuff of that description is extremely hard to move as neither feeder buyers nor packers care for it. Council Heedless of Defective Machinery, Though Warned by Botler Inspector. Pound, pound, go the pumps in the boiler room of the city hall, and with each pound the costly city building is jarred to its very foundations, a state of affairs which will cause the racking of the structure in time.

City Boiler Inspector Wolfe notified the democrats in the council of the defective pumps and boiler over two years ago, soon after taking office, and succeeded in getting three of the bollers repaired. The democrats refused to do anything with the pumps, however, and today they are pounding furiously, shaking the tables in the room above so that it is impossible for the bookkeepers in the office of the city comptroller to keep on with their work. and rattling the windows as if the wind was blowing forty knots an hour.

The democrats refuse to heed the destruction and remain serene in the face of the probability that one of the remaining pumps may break down completely at any time, thereby stopping all elevator service and compelling people to walk the five stories to the upper offices in the hall. The pumps are used to pump water into a tank to furnish the motive power for the elevators. Three pumps were installed.

One broke down two years ago end the custodian of the building, Dave Rowden, has refused to fix it and the council will not order it done. The others are now breaking down as fast as they can and the pounding of them can be heard in the lower offices and on the north side of the building, where they are situated, the floors tremble.

The pumps are operated by steam power, as much steam being expended to run themas would be required to run an electric motor, which means are used to operate the elevators in the larger office buildings of the city. "There is no immediate danger from the pounding of these old pumps," said Assistant City Building Inspector Maus, "but it stands to reason that the constant jarring which can be felt on the lower floor does not do this costly and magnificent city hall any good. It is not the business of this department to see that the pumps are fixed, but somebody ought to do something." . .
