FRIDAY, THE THIRTEENTH, HO!

Many Jokes Cracked, Including First Snow by Colonel Welsh.

LUCKLESS DAY HOLDS ITS CHARM

Despite Tangible Evidence to Contrary Many People Still Firmly Cling to the Traditional Delusion.

Friday, the 13th, came in for its usual amount of attention. In the first place, Weather Forecaster Welsh had to take a hand in the little joke by sending the first snow of the season in Omaha. And it was welcomed, too, for it laid the annoying dust and gave a pleasant lightness to the air.

"Friday the thirteenth," remarked the man who, because of absorption in his own thoughts, slipped on an icy pavement Friday morning.

"Friday the thirteenth," said the man who had incorrectly judged the trend of the stock market.

"Friday the thirteenth," said hundreds of other people who for one reason or another, but generally through their own fault or carelessness, had mishaps of some kind on the day of alleged ill-omen.

Ninety and nine per cent of these will continue firm, fixed and resolute in the belief that the unfortunate result of their own miscalculations, laziness or other mental vice, was due to the fact that the day was Friday and also the thirteenth of the calendar. Thus again is furnished a beautiful illustration of the fact that with regard to superstitions it is the belief which creates the evidence and not the evidence which creates the belief. This fact, well known to psychologists and other thinking persons, can be observed by anyone who will watch how popular beliefs in ghosts, mental telegraphy, theosophy and a dozen other forms of the occult, gain strength in this way. The believer in the more or less "witching hour" of 12 o'clock, midnight, and in the state of mind in which he is, the flapping of a bird's wing or the shaking of a tree branch will firmly convince him for the rest of his days that he saw or heard a ghost, probably both.

Chief's Anniversary in Office

Friday, the 13th, was the ninth anniversary of the appointment of Chief John J. Donahue as head of the Omaha police force, and that official has many reminiscences to tell of his long service, including many years on the force as patrolman and captain before being made chief.

Women Play on Thirteenth

The thirteenth section of the Ladies' Aid society of North Presbyterian church will give a dinner at the church tonight. They will have thirteen tables, with thirteen meals at each table, and the price of the meal will be 25 cents, which, by careful computation, will be found to be twice 13.

LAW SUIT OVER SWEET CORN

Case Arising from Advance in Certain Brands Last Fall is Just Decided.

A suit growing out of the remarkable rise in certain brands of seed sweet corn in the fall of 1907 has just been decided in Judge Troup's court after a trial lasting over a week.

At the close of the hearing Judge Troup gave the J. C. Robinson Seed company of Waterloo a judgment for the possession of three-fifths of a crop of Stowell's Evergreen Sweet corn, over which the legal battle was waged.

In the fall of 1907 the price of this particular kind of seed corn went up from $1 to $2 per 100 pounds, its normal price, to between $3 and $12 per 100 pounds, owing to a reported shortage in the crop. Seed raisers who were lucky enough to have a crop of it hoarded it almost as they would gold dust. Sweepings of granary floors were gathered up and sold to the dealers and every kernel counted.

JIMS WANT ALL THAT PIE

Enough Omaha Democrats Apply for Jobs to Clean Them All Up.

And still they come. Each day brings forth more democrats who are hungry for state jobs, and if all the Omaha men were successful in their quest the rest of the state would not be represented on the official roster.

The latest aspirants are Walter Moise, Frank Planck and Fred Anheuser. Moise wants to be a colonel, having decided that he does not care to sit on the excise board.

Frank Planck is after the same job that Joe Butler wants—state oil inspector. Both Planck and Butler hold appointive city jobs and they see no reason why they could not get appointive state jobs.

Fred Anheuser is after the superintendency of the state institution at Milford, say other democrats, though some say that this young democrat would be satisfied with being brevetted a colonel on the governor's staff.

GUIOU HANDS OVER MONEY

Pays Ten Thousand Dollars as Alimony Allowed His Wife with Her Divorce.

Ten thousand dollars was paid by Arthur P. Guiou to F. A. Brogan, attorney for Mrs. Grace H. Guiou as the alimony allowed by Judge Estelle at the divorce hearing Thursday. The payment of the money ends the case in district court and precludes an appeal from the decree of the court allowing the money.
