OMAHA CHAP IS HONORED

Bill Rush Gets Big Knife as Souvenir from President Roosevelt on Recent Visit.

"Bill" Rush of Omaha has been given the knife by President Roosevelt. This does not mean that "Bill" has been knighted in a political sense, but on the contrary he has been handed a valuable souvenir by President Roosevelt that he is going to keep and show to his grandchildren some sixty or more years hence.

"Bill" Rush is the 8-year-old son of Special Assistant Attorney General S. R. Rush, and he accompanied his father on his recent visit to Washington and with his father called upon President Roosevelt.

"What is your name, my young man?" asked the president.

"Bill Rush," was the rather independent reply.

The president was rather pleased with the boy's abrupt answer and said:

"Well, Bill, I am going to give you something to remember me by. I don't want you ever to use it, but just keep it as a keepsake."

The president then gave Bill Rush an unique hand-made and dangerous looking knife that might be mistaken for a Philipino bolo, but it was merely an American production given the president by some admirer.

CALGARY LOOKS TO OMAHA

Western Canadian Metropolis Writes to Gate City for Advertising Information.

Up in far away Calgary where the "Black Rocks" and other Ralph Connor novels come from, the success of Omaha and of the Omaha Commercial club in advertising this city, has been heard and Calgary wishes to know just how it is done and is being done.

Charles H. Webster, secretary of the Board of Trade of the Canadian city, named has written to the Commercial club here asking for detailed information regarding advertising operations here, and saying that Omaha's success in this respect has awakened admiration all over his section of Canada.

Mr. Webster is evidently a "booster" himself, for after this graceful introduc-

OMAHA ELECTION IN FALL

Democrats Plan to Avert Storm Arising from Legislature.

ANTICIPATE THE POPULAR WRATH

Business Realize that if Their Plans for Corporation Subserviency Carry They Dare Not Face People Soon.

Drunk with the thought of power, but not so drunk that they do not realize the danger of a day of reckoning, Democratic legislative leaders have determined to do just the Omaha city charter as to postpone the city election from spring until fall in 1909.

So far as present arrangements go this is settled on. Frank Ransom has been selected to draw up the Omaha charter bill and Colonel Ransom's measure will, if present plans are carried out, deftly juggle things so that no democrat will have to hazard his political future upon so perilous a thing as facing the people at the polls in the spring.

The fact is simply this: These hungry pap seekers realize now that carrying out their present legislative plans will place laws on the statute books that would mark positively certain the overwhelming defeat of any democrat who dared run for office in the spring. They figure that by fall the fire of public wrath might be cooled down to such an extent that running for office would be a less dangerous undertaking. Besides they could not well contrive an excuse for placing the Omaha city election any further in the future than the fall of 1909.

Thus the scalp of Mayor Jim may not come off for several months more. Thus the city councilmen whose record has made voters impatient for the chance to get at them may be spared the political axe a little while longer. But what those men have done in office to merit public scorn is nothing to what they will have to face by the time legislature adjourns, so the wise ones now realize. It is conceded by those on the inside that Nebraska's legislature of 1908 will be the most wide-open proposition that has been in the state house since the fusion ring of old.

Can Bryan Swing It.

So far as Mr. Bryan curbing any rash tendencies of this legislature is concerned, the Ransom-Howell-corporation crowd smile at the thought. The only fear that seems to beset them is that they may not be able to control the country delegations, that if the Omaha bunch measures swords with Bryan he may be able to reach the members from the country and thus thwart the city crowd and still control the election. In such an event some of the nearly laid Omaha plans might come to naught.

But one thing is certain now—Shallenberger is with the Omaha crowd as opposed to Bryan. He has been told that "you know who elected you," and, it is understood, has given every assurance that he will stand hitched. The governor-elect, in a very pleasant mood the other night at one of the Lincoln hotels, gave out such in inference.

But Shallenberger's loyalty to the corporations and disloyalty to Mr. Bryan is nothing new, according to the word of so high an authority as Mayor James Charles Dahlman of Omaha. It was during the recent primary election campaign in Omaha that Colonel Dahlman declared from the stump that Shallenberger was a "four-finisher," and last, but not least, "has always been against Mr. Bryan," and "was in the gang that sold out Mr. Bryan before and he will do it again."

With these impassioned utterances of the eloquent Cowboy mayor so fresh in mind there is no great surprise now in the disclosure that the governor-elect will stand with the Ransom-Howell crowd as against Mr. Bryan.

CRUSADE FOR NEW MEMBERS

Commercial Club Campaign is On and One Thousand Mark is the Goal.

"We shall prosecute an active campaign for members in the next ten days," said Chairman L. M. Talmage of the membership committee of the Commercial club, "and shall endeavor to bring the total up to the desired 1,000 mark by the end of that period."

The Commercial club now has a membership of between 750 and 800 and the ambitious to reach the thousand mark has been cultivated for some time. With the approach of the new year and the closing of the books, so to speak, active steps are promised by the committee to the desired end. Associated with Mr. Talmage, who is assistant cashier of the United States National bank, are Daniel Baum, Jr., C. D. Beaton, Roy Coffeen, M. E. Colpeter, Eugene Duval, O. D. Kiplinger, E. T. Swobe, Harry A. Tukey and J. D. Weaver.

PUBLICITY BUBBLE BURSTS

Local Democrats Fails to Disclose Names of Contributors.

OFFICIAL REPORT DOES NOT SHOW

Despite All Mr. Bryan's Pleading for Frank Disclosures Treasurer of Local Committee Keeps It Dark.

In spite of the declaration in the democratic platform for publicity of campaign contributions and the earnest plea made by William Jennings Bryan that the books of campaign committees be thrown open to the public, the local democratic county committee has evidently not been impressed with the desirability of allowing the public to know who contributed the money to run the local campaign.

The contributions into one lump sum and says the total receipts of the committee amounted to $2,287.63. The disbursements are divided into five subheads and they amount to $2,227.57, leaving a balance of $60.06 in the treasury.

The statement of expenditures is as follows:

CHILD IN PITIABLE PLIGHT

Own Father is Accused of Being Responsible for Her Condition.

Blanche Harrington, who says she is 15 years of age, but who looks even younger, was taken into the Salvation Army Rescue home yesterday afternoon. Within an hour after her arrival there she gave birth to a child of whom she claims that her own father is the parent. According to the story told by the girl her home is Hamburg, Ia., her mother and father are divorced and she has been living with her mother and stepfather. Last June her father came to visit her and she asserts committed the crime of which she is now paying the penalty.

She left Hamburg Tuesday night and went to Council Bluffs, where she was admitted to the Good Samaritan home, where she was given employment. Yesterday she became sick and unable to work and she says she was turned out with the statement that she would have to go somewhere else, she had 25 cents in money and came to Omaha. She was carrying a
