Keep your money and valuable in a safe deposit box in the American Safe Deposit Vault in The Bee building, which is absolutely burglar and fireproof. Boxes rent for only $4 a year or $1 a quarter. Me-gra-ta-e Dale Wants Her Land—Me-gra-ta-e Dale, an Omaha Indian maiden, has brought suit against the United States in the United States circuit court to recover the right, title and interest in a certain allotment of land on the Omaha Indian reservation. She claims the land by right of inheritance, and alleges that she is unjustly deprived of it through the connivance of the government and its agents on the Omaha Indian reservation. Husband and Wife Made Peace—A butcher knife was the weapon with which M. Moore, colored, is alleged to have threatened his wife Anna Tuesday night before they were arrested by Patrolmen Murphy and Aughe on charges of having disturbed the peace by fighting. In police court yesterday the wife had smoothed over their difficulties and denied having ever been at outs with each other. Fines of $1 and costs were assessed against both. Eddie DePrey to Be Deported—Lillie DePrey, a French woman who has been held in the Douglas county jail for several weeks at the instance of the immigration bureau on the charge of being in violation of the immigration laws, will be taken east Wednesday evening for deportation. The purpose of immigration Inspector W. R. Mansfield's present visit to Omaha is to take Miss DePrey east. She has been held in default of $5,000 bail since her arrest in Omaha some weeks ago. Ten Days for Stealing—Stealing in jail secured R. M. Rasmussen a second sentence that is considerably longer than the one he was serving for drunkenness Saturday and Sunday, and it is thought not probable he will again take a gold ring belonging to a fellow prisoner. He was in jail over Sunday and said he just picked up a ring off the floor, but the officers on duty at the station testified he took great pains to conceal the ring, so Judge Crawford gave him ten days and advised him not to steal in jail any more. Thirty Days for Jar With Wife—Insurance seems to have been the cause of a dispute between Henry I. Mills and his wife at their home, 234 North Twenty-seventh street, Tuesday evening, and when the smoke had cleared away, he was in jail with the charge of having abused his wife and little daughter placed opposite his name on the record. Thirty days was his lot when he faced the judge in police court and incidentally called his wife a liar when she testified. The arrest was made by Patrolman Thrasher at the instigation of neighbors. Gas Gets Up to Test—City gas has been practically up to test since cooler weather set in and a test of 59.7 British thermal units has been the lowest in a month. This is in accordance with the advice of Dr. Clabaugh, vice president of the Omaha Gas company, gave the council last summer when it was considering all sorts of drastic legislation to bring gas up to the required test. Mr. Clabaugh at that time said that cooler weather would result in gas of a higher test. Councilman Ellasser, chairman of the lighting committee, says that nothing will be done as long as gas hovers around the 60 B. T. U. test.

SAILOR LOSES HIS SAVINGS Accuses Woman Who Was with Him with Being the Cause of His Loss. A. M. McGregory, a recently discharged sailor from the United States navy, reported to the police last night that he had been robbed of his savings in the city. McGregory, who has been in the city for a day or two, has been consorting with a woman who gives her name as Marie Casey. Last night he left the room for a few moments where she was at the time, leaving his vest and money in her care. When he returned the money was gone. The woman was later arrested by Detectives Mitchell and Sullivan, who also arrested two of her companions, who gave their names as Earl Hill of Fort Collins, Colo., and Ed Giltner of Milwaukee. The money has not yet been found. McGregory states that he was recently discharged from the navy in New York City and that he is on his way to the Pacific coast to enlist on some other ship. He will remain here as a complaining witness before he again enters the service of his country.

CITY EMPLOYEES TESTIFY Three Men of Repair Department Are Asked to Enlighten the Grand Jury. Employees of the city repair department have been summoned to appear before the county grand jury. Summons have been served on William Britton, foreman of the asphalt repair plant, J. B. Parrott, Fred Behm and others. The examination of these men is said to be a part of the plan of the grand jury of inquiring into the methods of conducting all the departments of the Omaha and South Omaha city governments. The grand jury is reported to have in contemplation a thorough report on civic affairs.

Music

The recital given Tuesday night at the First Baptist church was well attended and most heartily appreciated. The artists who gratified completely the musical people present were Arthur Hartmann, the great violinist, and Alfred Calain, the very complete supporting pianist. It is worthy of mention that the music critic of The Bee applies the word "great" with the clearest conscience he can apply in this case. The term great artist is often carelessly used, but not so when it is used in describing the personality and prowess of Arthur Hartmann. It might not be amiss to speculate on the "double-stopping," the "upper harmonies," the "impassioned" effects and so on, after the manner of learned writers on the violin recitals, but let it suffice to say that here is a man who is a player of music, a musical player, a musician, an artist. Well balanced is he beyond all dispute. His fingers are sensitive as his ear, and his soul is made of music. But his fine sensibility does not run towards eccentricity, which spoils so many otherwise interesting artists. Hartmann possesses repose and tranquillity of manner to a marked degree, and withal he has the true fire. It is worthy of mention that the concert in E minor was given with magnificent breadth and with great clearness of tone in the most rapid runs and cadenzas; in the ever beautiful andante movement, the quality of the singing tone was beyond the power of describing in cold words. Instead of the Faust fantasia, which was on the program, Mr. Hartmann substituted a program of requests and substituted a triple number: An from a concerto by Goldmark; barcarolle by Tchaikowsky and a mazurka by Zaraycky, dedicated to Sarasate, a most interesting and original work. The artist gave a particularly designed twist to the tail of the program in the shape of a symphonic rhapsody, which introduced American airs to gladden the hearts of the lovers of that style of concert music. In the group "In Penese" (Arthur Nevin), "A Wild Rose" (MacDowell) and "Farralls" (Saret) the highest enthusiasm of the audience was awakened by the delicately spun effects which the player wove. Mr. Calain was heard to great advantage in a Liszt rhapsody, which he delivered with tremendous power and dignity. The "Pavillon" of Rosenthal was as the fluttering of many butterflies on a summer day. He also played the minor ballade with good effect, even if the piano lid was inadvertently left unraised. Miss Hopper, who presented this fine attraction, is entitled to the warmest support of the community, and her next recital will be that of Mme. Bloomfield Zeisler, on January 4.

PHYSIOLOGY OF INTEMPERANCE Miss Marie C. Brehm Delivers Lecture at Central Presbyterian Church. "The Physiological Phases of Intemperance and Their Relation to the Economic Phases" was the title of the lecture delivered at the Central Presbyterian church last night by Miss Marie C. Brehm, special lecturer on scientific temperance of the permanent committee of the United States Presbyterian church of the United States. The lecture room of the church was well filled to hear the address, which was devoted principally to the scientific side of the liquor question, the effects of alcohol on the human brain and body. The startling facts were brought out and among them were more noteworthy than the investigation of Dr. MacNichol of New York, who recently completed the examination of 55,000 school children in New York City as to their mental efficiency. Of those free from hereditary alcoholic taint, 96 per cent were proficient, while of those with an hereditary alcoholic taint 77 per cent were deficient and 77 per cent were dullards. This is but one example of the many arguments proposed by Miss Brehm against the continuance of the liquor business. The lecturer is on her way to California and stopped over in Omaha, where she has been before and has many friends, in response to a special invitation. From here she goes to Salt Lake City, where she lectures Sunday night and from there to California, where she will speak at Oakland, the University of California and other places.

COON GOES BACK TO KEARNEY One of Numerous Forgery Charges Against Him to Be Prosecuted There. Sheriff Sammons of Buffalo county came in from Kearney yesterday and departed last night, taking with him C. E. Coon, who is wanted there on a charge of forgery. Coon is credited with being a rather clever individual. Some time ago he went to Kearney, representing himself as an eastern capitalist, with money to invest in an electric railroad. He succeeded in inducing a number of Kearney business men, and when he thought the psychological moment had arrived he asked one of them to cash a check for him. He secured several hundred dollars from various sources and came to Omaha, where he was arrested on a similar charge. Coon is also wanted in Memphis, Tenn., Detroit, Mich., and other places, and he gets through he will probably be an old man.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Improvements Nearing Completion at Omaha Packing Plant.

POWER PROJECT MASS MEETING Charter Revision Committee is Called to Meet in the Council Chamber Tuesday Evening—Public Taking an Interest. Internal improvements have been in progress at the Omaha Packing plant for several weeks with the object of making the plant up-to-date in all sanitary respects. The days of the wooden floor in packing houses is past. Most of the modern packing plants, especially structures erected in the last two years, have cement floors throughout. In a plant like the old Hammond property, the original plan of structure was not of a kind to support heavy cement floors without a vast amount of reinforcement. This would amount practically to reconstruction. For this reason the asphalt floor was substituted. This is lighter and quite as sanitary. The work of putting them in in various departments has almost been completed. When this is done the plant will be classed entirely modern in every respect. While the new plant has been perfected with the exception of a smoked meat department, which is planned, the old plant from Thirty-third to Thirty-fifth on F street has been altered and fully half of the original buildings taken down. It has been proposed to sell the old wooden beef-killing department. It is valuable as salvage lumber only. Meeting to Discuss Power Proposal. Sentiment is much divided over the proposed Nebraska Power company's proposition to furnish South Omaha with a power plant, supplied from the canal at Columbus, using the water of the Loup river as the motive power. Under the latest proposition the city is to make all payments on the principal investment, amounting to $2,000,000 from the proceeds of the sale of power and light. It is proposed that the city require the payment of interest on the deferred payments. This would amount to over $100,000 per year. A meeting for the discussion of the scheme will be held at the council chamber, November 19, at 2 p. m. It is expected that the representatives of the company will be present as well as the representatives of the Omaha Electric Light and Power company.

REUSE KNOWN HERE. A. K. Reese, superintendent of the Nelson Morris packing plant at St. Joseph, who was killed Monday afternoon by a rising elevator, which crushed him between its floor and the ceiling of the room in which he attempted to take the elevator, was a manager of a department in the Hammond plant here years ago. He lived at that time at Nineteenth and I streets. He had charge of the export pork department. From that position he was promoted to the superintendency of the Nelson Morris plant.

Hotel Guest Robbed. E. T. Miller of Miller's hotel, reported to the police yesterday that someone had entered his hotel during Monday night and took a suit case containing nearly $40 worth of clothing belonging to W. T. Arnold, a guest. Mr. Miller reported that he had the police are making an effort to locate him. He has been in South Omaha since the Ak-Sar-Ben carnival.

David-Bukac. The marriage of Peter M. David to Miss Marie P. Bukac occurred yesterday morning at the Church of the Assumption. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Mundelak. Miss Victoria Vana played Mendelssohn's wedding march. Miss Mollie Jaded and Miss Marie Lejek were bridesmaids. Joseph Pavlik and Frank Borzac were best men to the groom. The couple will live in Chicago.

FORGETS HIS NAME IN WRATH Cheyenne Man Writes Postoffice, but is Too Mad to Sign His Letter. The Omaha postoffice is just in receipt of a telegram as full of indignation as a democrat after election. It is from a man in Cheyenne. He sends a copy of the telegram by mail in order to give it additional emphasis. The man claims that he had directed the Omaha office to hold his mail here for further orders and that later he would write, directing the mail to Cheyenne. The telegram and its mail replica are all right, but the indignant writer forgot to attach his signature to either and the postoffice folks at Omaha are a little uncertain whether to send the entire batch of dead letter mail to Cheyenne for the morning mail, mailed at the Omaha postoffice, or wait until he cools off enough to send his name. "This is just a sample of some of the kicks we receive," said Assistant Postmaster Woodard, "and is in keeping with the reason of many of them. For instance, here is a bunch of letters of just this morning mail, mailed at the Omaha postoffice. Some of them are not addressed at all, others have no postoffice on them, some are not stamped and so on. Probably these very letters are of extreme importance to the writers and the Postoffice department will, of course, be blamed by the indignant person in failure of their delivery. There is nothing on the envelopes to indicate the writers and our only recourse is to send them to the dead letter office."

Magic City Goals. E. P. Roggen, deputy city clerk, is ill with an attack of tonsillitis and quincy. The N. N. O. club will give a dance November 20 at the Home hotel in Omaha. At the party of the Omaha City Club, South Omaha show an increase of 75.83 for the year. Thomas Sigal was fined $10 and costs for stealing ties from the Burlington railroad Monday night. A party of fifty friends surprised Morgan Healey last night at his home, Twenty-third and F streets. Officers Morton and Small arrested five Austrians Monday night for disturbing the peace. They will be brought to trial November 19. Mrs. D. G. Robb will entertain the women of the Methodist Church society at a tea Thursday. The residence is 124 North Twenty-fifth street. The Women's Missionary society of the Presbyterian church will meet with Mrs. William Jones at the Home, Twenty-third street, Thursday at 3:30 p. m. Mike Novak was fined $20 and costs on two charges yesterday morning. He was found carrying concealed weapons and had been molesting women on the street. The United Presbyterian church will present an elaborate Christmas program Thursday and Friday evenings of this week on the occasion of the sixteenth annual church conference. Mr. and Mrs. Martin's church has determined to purchase a new organ. The finances of the church are excellent and she and her husband are the recipients of the most liberal support Monday evening.

At the Theaters

World Tours at the Krug. Lyman C. Howe, with his "personally conducted world tours" in moving pictures made apparently real, is the offering at the Krug last night and tonight. Moving pictures are not the novelty they once were, half a dozen places in Omaha showing them the week through at prices within reach of the street urchin. Therefore, when an established theater gives up two nights to them in place of a dramatic attraction it may be presumed that the pictures this is true. Such pictures have probably never before been shown to the amusement lovers of the city. Primarily they are pictures of travel, of strange and foreign lands. Glimpses of unfamiliar people and cities which only the last two years, have cement floors throughout. In a plant like the old Hammond property, the original plan of structure was not of a kind to support heavy cement floors without a vast amount of reinforcement. This would amount practically to reconstruction. For this reason the asphalt floor was substituted. This is lighter and quite as sanitary. The work of putting them in in various departments has almost been completed. When this is done the plant will be classed entirely modern in every respect. ELKS BEFORE JIM JUBILEE Hitchcock Will Have to Ride the Big Goat Night of the Democratic Ratification. The Jimcoerats are proclaiming abroad that Congressman Hitchcock will attend the big justification and ratification meeting of that club in Washington hall Friday evening and that he will make a speech to the faithful. He is expected to make a slip "twixt the cup and the lip," and the congressman may not be able to attend. And this is the reason why: During the campaign when the congressman and A. W. Jeffers were busily engaged in snarling voices, they were snared by a bunch of loyal Elks and both of them put in their applications to join the lodge—they could not very well refuse in a time like that. The lodge meets on Friday evenings and the congressman and the worthy other men who are yet are not notified to wear the antlers, have been notified to present themselves before the lodge for a ride on the goat when the lodge meets this week. All lodges have goats, but the Elk goat is said to be an improvement on all other makes—at least those who have bumped the bumps by the aid of this postiferous beast testify to this fact. Well, Congressman Hitchcock is to take a ride on this fearful goat Friday evening. Afterward (if he is able) he shall attend the Jimcoerats Governor-elect Shallenbeger, the three new state senators from this county, and others will address the meeting. Afterwards a banquet, with plenty of ice water, will be served.

TAX SALES BEAT WHEAT PIT City Hall is Scene of More Excitement Than Bulls and Bears Make. Talk about the wheat pit! It is not in the tax sale market is concerned with the city and county treasurer in the treasurer's office in the city hall. Crowded against the iron grating a horde of hungry buyers of tax titles fight and push and shove to get as close as possible to the clerk writing down the names of the city and county treasurer in the treasurer's office in the city hall. The sale begins every morning at 10 o'clock and continues as long as interest is shown by the purchasers.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Grand Jury Inquisition Has a Salutary Effect on the Members. NO MORE DONATIONS OF PROPERTY Squatters on City Property to Be Ejected and City to Come Into Its Own—Barbers Want Ordinance Repealed.

"We do not consider it advisable to vacate any more city property at this time."—Committee report signed by Thomas McGovern, Peter Ellasser and Lee Bridges, committee on street improvements, and presented to and adopted by the city council last evening. The democratic city council has felt the lash of the county grand jury. It has discovered that its direct violation of the city charter cannot be continued unnoticed. It has decided to pay more strict attention to law in the future, at least "at this time"—while the grand jury is in session. The O'Keefe Real Estate company sent a communication to the council last evening asking that a triangular strip of ground on the southeast corner of Twenty-third and Cass streets be vacated in its favor. The communication was referred to the street improvement committee, of which Thomas McGovern, singled out to do duty before the grand jury and explain the unlawful vacation of city property, is chairman. The committee promptly decided not to comply with the request, and brought in a report to that effect. The report was received and adopted without the quiver of an eyelash on the part of a single councilman. But this was not the only grand jury sting which the democratic council attempted to extract by means of resolution. Squatters to Be Ejected. A petition from the George Real Estate company, which laid dormant for a time, was last night referred to the city attorney with instructions to eject squatters occupying city land on the river bottoms. Get third was the ordering of the city engineer, but on the other side of the street piles of lumber belonging to the Chicago Lumber company and occupying city land at Pierce and Fifteenth streets. The lumber company has been occupying a large plot of land at this place for some time without paying any rent for the same. City Abstracter Hartley called the council's attention to this in his report of last May, which report rested calmly and serenely in the pocket of Chairman McGovern from May 12 until the grand jury met. The curtain was rung down on the comedy which to some of the councilmen contained elements of a tragedy in the passing of a resolution instructing the city attorney to ascertain what right the Omaha Van company has to claim ownership to the vacated realty at Sixteenth and Leavenworth streets and build thereon a retaining wall in preparation to erecting a large storage warehouse. The land was vacated for the accommodation of the Great Western Railway company and was by it sold for a good price to the van company. The city, however, shared not in the sale of the property. Three of the resolutions were introduced by Councilman McGovern and one by Councilman Ellasser. As an encore, Councilman Davis introduced a resolution instructing the city controller to take possession of what is known as the Cornelius Leary house at Twenty-fourth and Webster streets which became city property when Twenty-fourth street was opened. Dr. Davis explained that the house is occupied, but that the city is occupants would not allow the city's appraisers to enter so as to do their work. The resolution was passed over the objection of Councilman Ellasser who wished to protect one of his barbers who lives in the house. Barbers Present Petition. Councilman Ellasser presented a petition signed by a large number of barbers asking that all of chapter 9 of the revised ordinance, with the exception of section 12, be revoked. The petition was referred to the committee of the whole. That part of the ordinance which the petitioners want repealed provides for a board of examiners to inquire into the proficiency and healthfulness of all barbers and issue permits to those who show that they are not afflicted with any contagious disease and know the ailments common to the skin. City Boiler Inspector Wolfe made his perfunctory request for a typewriter, the request being refused, as have all previous ones. The Missouri Pacific Railway company, having neglected to comply with the council's order to place an electric arc light at Thirty-third and Pratt streets, the city electrician was instructed to cause the Omaha Electric Light and Power company to install a lamp and to charge the cost to the railway company. An arc light was also ordered placed at the intersection of Twenty-ninth and Farnam streets and a gas lamp at the corner of Twenty-fourth street and Kellison avenue. Statement of City Cash. The city comptroller submitted his financial statement showing the amount of cash on hand at the close of business on November 10, the statement being as follows: Cash in drawer $2,588.58 Checks for deposit $4,487.72 Balances in Banks—City funds: First Nat. bank $30,478.59 Merchants' Nat. bank $20,987.22 Nebraska Nat. bank $10,697.92 Omaha Nat. bank $28,446.72 U.
