

Character In Clothes

There is an atmosphere about some tailors that distinguishes them as more than mere mechanics. About some clothing there is the same character. A tailor may make the same high-grade woollens and the same trimmings that are used in a Stein-Bloch suit or overcoat and make you a suit that lacks this distinction— which the material used deserves and which rightfully belongs to his customer.

The suit will "wear" but it will never be anything but a cloth covering. On the other hand, some tailors can give you the style and distinction that you demand—but they charge heavily for this atmosphere.

The problem would be a pretty one for you to solve did not Stein-Bloch step in to solve it for you. They are tailors for men and have concentrated their energies on making clothes as well as clothes can be made. They have struck a golden mean of proven fashions, of tested woollens, of smooth fit, of proper style.

Ready at the best clothier's. If you will write for "Smartness," the illustrated book of Fall and Winter fashions, you will appreciate what this means.

VISITING GERMANS HONORED

Consul General and Agricultural Expert Guests of Local Germans.

RECEPTION FOLLOWS DINNER

Latter Held at Deutches Haus, Fairly Informal and Proves to Be a Most Enjoyable Affair to All Concerned.

Dr. Walther Wever, German consul general, and the agricultural attache of the legation, Nichol Kaumanns, who are starting on a tour of inspection of the agricultural resources of Nebraska, arrived in Omaha Wednesday afternoon and were entertained by the German societies of this city.

The party was met by a committee at Council Bluffs, which accompanied the distinguished visitors to Omaha. A dinner was given Wednesday at 533 Maurer's restaurant and in the evening the German societies of Omaha gave a perfectly informal function in honor of the visitors at Deutches Haus on South Thirteenth street.

Father Roessing of West Point acted as chairman of the meeting at the German club house and a most enjoyable evening was spent by the 150 guests who gathered to hear the speeches and listen to the music, part of which was furnished by the Maennerchor. On behalf of the club Robert Pink delivered the address of welcome to the visitors and Dr. Wever responded.

"Four years ago I came to Omaha to investigate the agricultural resources of this great state and met but a few Germans," said Dr. Wever. "I did not at that time realize there were so many Germans in this section of the country. It is a most agreeable surprise to me to see this magnificent club house and a great pleasure to meet so many prominent citizens of Omaha. This club house has been built since I was here and it is truly a magnificent structure and I predict for you many good times within its walls."

Dr. Wever has been in Chicago eight years and expects to leave in a short time to become the German consul general at Cape Town, South Africa.

Father Herman of Council Bluffs was called upon and spoke in a felicitous vein, telling among other things the way the potato bug came into existence.

Prof. Peters of the agricultural department, University of Nebraska, was also called upon and told the visitors of some of the many wonderful sights they might expect to see while traveling in Nebraska.

Several prominent visitors from out in the state were present at the evening session at the club house, among whom was State Senator Volpp of Scribner.

CAN OF BEER USED AS WEAPON

Mrs. Pleiss Severely Injured by Blow Struck by Charles Folger.

Charles Folger, 3212 South Twentieth avenue, was arrested last night on the charge of striking a neighbor, Mrs. Pleiss by name, over the head with a "can" of beer.

The Folger and Pleiss families occupy houses which have the same back yard and the proprietorship of this parcel of ground is supposed to have brought on the trouble. When Folger came home from work last night the row started and both families joined in.

Dr. Schleider was called to attend the injured woman and stated that she had sustained a slight concussion of the brain. Owing to the condition of her health, it is feared complications may ensue.

During the progress of the melee Folger was struck on the head and slightly injured, but his condition is not serious. Because of Mrs. Pleiss' severe condition the case was not heard in police court this morning. The matter may prove more serious than was at first supposed and the police will hold the man at the city jail until it is ascertained just how badly Mrs. Pleiss has been injured.

LINCOLN MAN HURT IN FIGHT

Badly Cut About the Head by a Club in the Hands of W. L. Doty.

Bert Fullerton, who gives his home as Lincoln, Neb., was badly cut about the head and face last night in a fight with W. L. Doty, owner of the Omaha stables.

Doty claims that Fullerton, who is a discharged employe, came to his place with Tilden Hawkins, a friend, and started some trouble. Doty secured a club and proceeded to work on him.

The three men were arrested by Officers Bitter and Reidy and are held on a charge of disturbing the peace by fighting. Dr. Smith, police surgeon, attended the injured man, who claims that he was merely passing the place with his friend when Doty attacked him.

In police court Thursday morning all three men were discharged. Judge Crawford said that Doty should have called a policeman instead of taking the law into his own hands. Fullerton had his head tightly bandaged and it was thought that enough punishment had been dispensed in the case.

How Many Dishes in Your Home?

It's a painful count unless you wash them with Gold Dust.

One to two hours a day for 365 days in the year means drudgery if you follow the soap and water route.

Shake a teaspoonful of Gold Dust into your dishwasher. It produces its own cleansing suds, cuts grease and dirt like magic, drives out every germ and impurity, and leaves your dishes sanitariously clean.

At the Theaters

"The Man of the Hour," at the Boyd.

A modern play, by George Broadhurst. The cast: Alwyn Bennett, William Lamp, Charles Wainwright, Neil Moran, Scott E. Gibbs, Arthur S. Hill, Richard Horrigan, Louis Hendricks, James Phelan, Felix Haney, Perry Carter, Wainwright.

Everett Butterfield, Judge Newman, William Lloyd, Henry Thompson, Mardock J. Macquarrie, William Ingram, S. F. Cairns, Alderman Roberts, Edward Dewey, Henry Williams, Alexander C. Carelton, Arthur Payne, William Cullington, John Mills, Robert F. Tule, Dallas Wainwright, Ruby Bridges, Cynthia Garrison, Evelyn Moore, Mrs. Bennett, Ethel Brandon.

"The Man of the Hour" had its inspiration in the attempted steal of the Philadelphia gas plant and many of the incidents occurring in the action or referred to in the speeches actually took place in the City of Brotherly Love and its environs.

If the drama depended for its strength on these facts its appeal would have vanished with the passing of the element of timeliness, but because the conditions represented and the characters portrayed exist in a measure all through American municipal life and probably will exist for a long time to come, for this reason the play will be potent for many years. This, besides the fact that it is a well constructed drama.

It is for these reasons that many who saw the play on a previous visit were among the audience which welcomed it back to this city at the Boyd last evening.

William Lamp appears this time in the title role. As Alwyn Bennett, elected mayor by a political boss and "big business" accomplice, he disappoints the expectations of the men who thrust the nomination on him as successfully as any other actor who has played the role. None would complain of his playing save that the amount of vigor with which he defies the boss in the second act might be increased by a small amount. It is, of course, a study in contrasts here. Horrigan (Louis Hendricks) brutally denouncing, smashing down all opposition; the mayor, a character quite the reverse in accent, quietly resolute, firm, but devoid of bluster. While this contrast ought to be brought out, yet it must be remembered that the extraordinary vigor of the boss may make the mayor seem like the pianissimo panel in a pressed too hard.

Aside from this, and it is a suggestion rather than an unfavorable criticism, Mr. Lamp was eminently satisfactory and in his most trying scene of all—where he tells his mother that if he holds out against the grafters, they will expose the hitherto unknown baseness of his father's character—in this scene he was most successful, as was Ethel Brandon as Mrs. Bennett, his mother.

The character of Alderman Phelan, the ward boss who lined up the mayor to give vengeance on Horrigan, his ancient enemy, is a grateful one. It is cast in thorough adequate hands, Felix Haney playing it with sincerity in the serious passages and a humor in the comic which gained him the heartiest applause throughout the evening.

Sharing the honors with these two men was Louis Hendricks as the big, domineering feature and figure he is well constructed for the part, nor is he lacking technically. He played throughout the big, virile although corrupt, dominating master of men who ruled with an iron hand not masked by any velvet glove.

Of the women mention has been made of Miss Brandon. In a number of the other parts Ruby Bridges was quite adequate and Evelyn Moore amusing as the girl to whom Everett Butterfield in the part of Perry Wainwright made rapid fire love. The latter found considerable favor with the audience. The rest of the company was of even excellence.

St. Clement's to Celebrate

St. Clement's Protestant Episcopal church of South Omaha will celebrate with elaborate services the centennial day of the parish Monday, December 22, and all the Episcopal clergy of "Greater Omaha" have been asked to attend. Rev. R. R. Biggs of St. John's church will preach the sermon of the occasion. The day's services will begin with a celebration of holy communion at 8 a. m. The principal service will be at the same hour in the evening, the festivities of the saint's day being combined with a harvest home festival and Thanksgiving service. St. Clement's is in charge of Rev. S. J. Hedelund and is prospering.

Foreign Firm Draws Fire

Dr. Holovitchner Opposes Giving School Contract to St. Louis Company.

J. C. Bixby & Son company was awarded the contract for sewerage, plumbing and gas piping in the new Omaha View school by the Board of Education in adjourned session late yesterday afternoon. The firm bid $4,488 for the work. Bids for the heating and ventilating and for electric wiring also came up, but the awarding of contracts for this work was postponed until Monday evening.

Dr. Holovitchner started the filibuster which resulted in the postponing of the awarding of the contracts. The lowest bid for heat and ventilating was presented by Lewis & Kitchen of St. Louis, and the doctor objected to the awarding of the contract to this firm on account of its being an outside concern, employing outside labor, and taking practically all of the money out of Omaha. Lewis & Kitchen also furnish all the plans for heating and ventilating apparatus and the doctor revived the discussion of the feasibility of allowing the engineers to bid on their own plans.

A. C. Kugel, secretary of the plumbers' union, and Henry Howell and John Harwin, other members of a committee from that union, appeared before the board and protested against awarding the contract to an outside firm. A representative of Lewis & Kitchen made the statement that if his firm was awarded the contract Omaha plumbers would be employed on the work, but it was shown that the contract was to install the heating and ventilating apparatus in the Franklin school, the contractor for which was awarded the St. Louis house.

Upon the statement of Secretary Burgess that unless the board adopted a schedule of salaries for the janitors and engineers in the Lothrop, Farnam and Franklin schools there would be no school Friday, the members were adverse to working without knowing what compensation they are to receive, the board adopted a schedule of salaries for them last night. This schedule calls for the payment of $70 per month for each of the engineers and janitor salaries of $60 per month in the Farnam school, $85 per month in the Franklin school and $90 per month in the Lothrop school.

Some of the board members and many having bids for work on the new Omaha View school missed yesterday's meeting on account of the system of elevator service in the city hall. The elevators shut down at 2:30 in the afternoon and those arriving after that hour thought the meeting had adjourned and did not climb the five flights of stairs to the Board of Education rooms. The meeting adjourned at 6:30.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Earnest Karnett Killed by Fall from Ladder at Swift Plant.

HAD JUST FINISHED DAY'S WORK

New Hog-Scraping Machine in Operation at Armour's Which is Great Advance Over Those Formerly in Service.

Earnest Karnett, 2784 South Twelfth street, Omaha, fell off a ladder at Swift and Company's packing plant at 4:30 p. m. yesterday, and died from his injuries at 7 p. m. at the South Omaha hospital. An inquest will be held today at 3 p. m.

Karnett was a mason by trade and had been working on the walls of the company's new beef house, which has been raised to the sixth floor. He had finished his work and was on the point of descending the ladder used by the workmen. He missed his footing apparently on the first rung of the ladder and pitched clear of it or any support and fell to the solid cement floor below, nearly thirty feet. He landed on his right arm and head. Karnett was a heavy man of middle age and the blow on his head caused a basal fracture of the skull. He was taken to the South Omaha hospital as promptly as possible. Dr. C. M. Schindler attended him, but little remained to be done. The man seemed to suffer great pain for the two hours he lived, but all the time was nearly unconscious.

Karnett is survived by his wife, who was unable to reach him before his death. He was not well known in South Omaha, his residence being in Omaha. The body was taken in charge by Heafey & Heafey, which firm made arrangements for the inquest. The funeral has not yet been arranged.

New Hog Scraping Machine

Armour & Co. have installed a new hog-scraping machine which will discount anything in that line. It has a capacity of 6,000 per day, or 600 per hour. The other machines never exceeded 500 per hour. This machine does far better work than the former apparatus. It scrapes the hogs so clean that the work of nearly ten men almost too gentle to do with the former machine consisted of a high perpendicular cylinder, through the center of which the hog was pulled up by the hook in the jaw. In passing they came in contact with the scrapers applied by spring pressure. In this way little hogs did not get scraped hard enough and big hogs got scraped too hard.

In the new machine the hog is picked up in the same way, but starts away on the level. The body of the hog rotates rapidly as it is passed between a series of horizontal revolving shafts bearing strips of belting, at the end of which is a metal tip. The strips of belting revolve rapidly and the centrifugal force brings the metal tip or scraper to the body of the hog whether he is large or small. The action is not greatly different than of the revolving snow sweepers in use on the street car lines. All the hair and outer cuticle of the hog is swept off at great speed. The work is so perfect that the hair on the back of the hog are in most cases stripped off.

This machine has been operated in Chicago. It will be in perfect working order in South Omaha from this time. It has been set up for a week and yesterday the results of the run were very satisfactory. In management a number of the other packers have examined the machine and it is stated that Swift and company will install a similar one in the new hog killing department, which is to be in operation in the early part of 1909.

Dr. Leo A. De Lanney is making a short visit in South Omaha, but will return this afternoon to Paxton, where he is practicing.

The mass meeting called for this afternoon at the city hall to discuss the power proposition is likely to be a pretty lively affair.

During the first three days of the week the receipts of hogs at the South Omaha market show an increase of several thousand daily over last year.

Mike Aikelen was detected stealing pork sides at the Omaha Packing plant yesterday and was fined $1 and costs. His four pounds of pork cost him $4 even.

The following births have been reported: John Wiskowia, 419 North Twenty-seventh, a boy; Joe F. Peak, South Nineteenth, a girl; Charles E. Liss, North Twelfth, a boy; J. C. McGuire, 825 North Thirty-third, a boy.

Two of the juniors will give an exhibition wrestling match and Kenneth White will perform on the light bars. The game of "back" will be played.

TAKES TWO SHOTS AT BURGLAR

G. W. Edwards Interrupts Work of Man Who Entered His Home.

As G. W. Edwards, who lives at 2432 Manderson street and who is employed as a clerk in the Bennett store, was preparing to go to bed last night he heard a noise downstairs. He went down and found that he had neglected to lock the back door and that a window was also open.

He fastened up the house and looked around for prowlers, but saw nothing. Later on he heard another noise and going downstairs found a man in the house. He shot at him, but the burglar made his escape. Edwards followed him into the back yard and fired again, but did not succeed in hitting him.

Edwards thinks the man was in the house when he went to bed the first time, but that he concealed himself in a pantry. Detectives Ring and Murphy were detailed on the case and visited the house, but no trace of the man could be found. So far as is known nothing is missing from the house.

CRACK K. OF P. TEAM COMING

Iola Champions of Dayton Will Send Their Hundred and Five Members to Convention.

W. C. Kerschner, one of the managers of the Iola Lodge champion drill team of Dayton, O., reached Omaha Thursday to make arrangements for the coming of the 105 members of the team. This Pythian aggregation is the most famous drill team in the world and has assuredly traveled more miles and been seen by more people than any other. The team which will travel hither in four special cars, will exemplify first rank work Monday afternoon in conjunction with the drama "Damon and Pythias" at the Auditorium. In the evening the session will be secret and 500 candidates from various states will be given the third degree—not in the police sense, however. J. C. Cleland, grand master of Nebraska, came Thursday also and opened Nebraska headquarters at the Loyal hotel.

Winter blasts, causing pneumonia, pleurisy and consumption will soon be here. Cure your cough now, and strengthen your lungs with Foley's Honey and Tar. Do not risk starting the winter with weak lungs, when Foley's Honey and Tar will cure the most obstinate coughs and colds, and prevent serious results. Sold by all druggists.
