pened to want commanded good, steady prices. Thus good, fat lambs sold up to 38 and a fair kind of fed yearlings brought to 36 and a fair kind of fed yearlings brought to 36 and a fair kind of fed yearlings brought to 36 and a fair kind of fed yearlings brought to 36 and a fair kind of fed yearlings brought to 36 more of the 36 and a fair kind of feeling, however, on the part of the coast. The acquired of the sear side and the sear side.

Feeders, both sheep and lambs, were also more of through lines, and it was the logical thing for that road to build on to the bear side.

Feedors, both sheep and lambs, were also very dull for the first time in a good many days. The general feeling was weak and still such stuff as was wanted commanded still such stuff us was wanted commanded about steady prices, while other stuff on sale was neglected for the want of someone with a buying order to bid on it.

The whole trade might be summed up as one of those indifferent kind of markets that are slow and unsatisfactory with the offerings, selling a few loads at a time, but without any life or snap or strength at any point.

Question Asked, Does Northwestern Get Northern Pacific ?

THROUGH TRAINS FAN THE RUMOR

Northwestern's Auxiety to Scoure Coast Extension One Factor that Bolsters Up This Unconfirmed Rumor.

Has the Northwestern secured control of the Northern Pacific?

This question is being asked on all sides in railroad circles and many indications seem to point in that direction. It has been known for a long time that the Northwestern was anxious to have a line to the coast and it is thought by many that this is the solution. Where the rumor comes from no one seems to know, but it is persistently talked of in the railroad circles of the north. One local indication that some such ar-

SHEEP—Receipts of sheep continue very liberal at this point, there being another very fair run teday, making the total for the week very much larger than last week and more than twice as large as for the corresponding week of last year. The quality of the arrivals, however, was not very good. In fact, the receipts consisted largely of stuff on the feeder order. There were fifteen double decks of feeder wethers in one string and there were also quite a good many feeder lambs. The offerings of desirable killers on the other hand were few and far between.

The trude as a general thing was very slow and dull; in fact business in the sheep barn was the most quiet experienced in some time. Such stuff as buyers just happened to want commanded good, steady prices. Thus good, fat lambs sold up to prices. Thus good, fat lambs sold up to as many feeder lines, but was made up

> The acquisition of the Northern Pacific would make a new through connection to the coast which might tend to disturb the peaceful relations of that road and the Union Pacific at Omaha. At present the Union Pacific divides its through eastbound business between the Northwestern and the Milwaukee in the part, although a part of the business goes to other lines.

Corn Show Exhibits. Corn show exhibits are already enroute to Omaha in large quantities and the installation will soon begin. The Northwestern has advices that four large baggage cars filled with exhibits are already moving toward Omaha and will be in in a few days. One car comes from Chicago, one from Brookings, one from Huron and one from Minneapolts. Hal Buckingham, chief clerk in the general freight office of the Burlington, has gone to Minneapolis.

HERE, YOU FOOT BALL PLAYERS Now Comes a Man Who Can Tackle a Street Car on an End Run.

Foot ball beroes are not in it with Arthur Linder, 38 years of age, whose specialty is bucking street cars. While doing the goat act with a car at Twentieth and Charles streets Thursday morning, he received a broken nose and minor injuries. It is thought he wished to board the car, but being intoxicated, he started to go through the side before it stopped instead mounting the platform. He was thrown down and had both bones of his nose fractured. Police Surgeon Harris dressed the injury and afterward had to have Linder's arms placed in leather handcuffs so he could not pull the bandages off. The injured man lives at Sixteenth and Cass streets and is a laborer for the gas company.

AN OLD CASE IS APPEALED Suit Brought During Moores Regime Goes to the Supreme

The celebrated case of T. W. Blackburn against Frank E. Moores and the members of the city council, involving the validity of the contract for lighting the streets with gas lights, will be carried to the supreme court. A transcript of the evidence was to filed in district court Thursday morning. The fight was over the action of the council in awarding the contract to the local gas company at $28 per lamp. Judge Ken-nedy decided the contract was valid and the appeal was taken from his decision.
