

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Veterinarian Stewart Sent to Pennsylvania for Quarantine Service.

RUSH ORDERS BY TELEGRAPH

Police and Bankers Strive to Unravel Mystery of Check Cashed at Dallas with Fairbury Man's Name Signed to It.

Dr. C. A. Stewart of the Bureau of Animal Industry, who has been one of the veterinary inspectors in South Omaha and the west for several years, left Friday morning for Danville, Pa., to take up the special quarantine inspection for the hoof and mouth disease of cattle. This disease, which is fatal and very contagious, is said to have developed virulently in New York and Pennsylvania so that the states have been placed under quarantine. Dr. Stewart has had a long, scientific experience in the quarantine division of the inspection. He was stationed for several months in Tennessee and Kentucky a year ago. He had spent much time in the west. He is therefore counted one of the best of seventy-five experts, who were called within the last few days to go to the quarantine field. He received his call by wire Thursday evening and in about three hours was on his way. He will arrive in Danville this morning.

The emergency is being discussed in the circles of the Bureau of Animal Industry and it is said that stringent measures will be taken. Cattle found to be infected will be shot and the carcasses burned or thoroughly boiled in tanks. All hands suspected will be segregated and carefully watched for the first systems. The government pays for all cattle thus shot so that no farmer or shipper will attempt by legal proceedings to call a halt to the prompt disposal of diseased animals.

Mystery About a Check.

The South Omaha police have been working for several days on the case of J. W. Wellington, Neb., who lost $500 at the time of the Trip county land opening at Dallas, S. D. The man either drew a check for the money or a forgery was committed. At all events, the check was signed by Wellington and made out to parties unknown to the South Omaha police. The check was taken to the Farmers National bank by Frank Dolezal of this city, who counterfeited it and left it there for collection. The bank at Fairbury paid the check. Wellington now comes forward with a rather confused story, claiming it was a bunco game. The officials of the Fairbury bank were in South Omaha Wednesday and on the advice of the county attorney left town. It is thought they went to South Dakota to secure evidence there if possible. Before any arrests can be made the proper complaint will have to be sworn out at Dallas, where the crime, if any, was committed.

Sunday Services.

The general Sunday topic of the South Omaha pastors will be Thanksgiving. Dr. Wheeler's morning topic is "Some Thanksgiving Thoughts." The evening theme is "The Power to Save."

Rev. Karl Hiller will occupy his pulpit both morning and evening. Rev. R. W. Livers will preach in the morning at the English Lutheran church.

"What God Expects from Believers" is Rev. Van Winkle's morning topic at the Baptist church. The evening theme is "A Happy Man." He will also conduct the service at the Baptist chapel, Thirty-fourth and K streets, at 8:45 p. m.

W. A. Hieberster of Boston and C. Z. Gould of Omaha, members of St. Andrew's Brotherhood, will conduct the service in St. Clement's Episcopal church Sunday at 11 a. m. Special services will be held Monday, November 23, at St. Clement's day. The eucharist will be celebrated at 8 a. m. Rev. James Wise will be celebrant, with Rev. S. J. Heidebrand assisting. At 8 p. m. of the same day a vesper service will be observed. The music will be rendered by St. John's choir of Omaha. Rev. R. R. Diege of Omaha will be the special preacher for the occasion. Rev. E. G. B. Brown of St. Paul's church in Omaha will have charge of the vesper service at St. Edward's chapel Sunday at 7:30.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

The "pop" to be given Saturday evening in the gymnasium will consist of athletic stunts, basketball games, and a wrestling match between two of the juniors. The game of whack will be played and several novel features put on. The general public is invited.

Sunday afternoon the 4 o'clock men's meeting will be addressed by Mr. Howard Vore, who will give a business man's view about "The End of Responsibility." The association orchestra will render a special musical program and Mr. R. D. Campbell will sing a solo.

Owing to the brotherhood week of prayer, which the churches are uniting in, it has been thought best to postpone the week of special service that the association was planning to inaugurate with Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Bailey as conductors. This week of activity will be arranged for later.

The Epworth league Bible class will meet in the association rooms in the future. This has been decided upon because of the central location.

The National Construction company is through the hardest part of the work and under cover at the east end of the Mud Creek sewer.

The South Omaha Library association has received an alcove of books in the Bohemian language. Any one desiring the best literature in Bohemian tongue can secure the same as other books at the library desk.

LIEUTENANT GRIMM DEAD

Absent from Fort Omaha on Sick Leave, but Finds No Relief.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 21.—(Special Telegram.)—Otto Braemer Grimm, lieutenant in the United States army signal corps, died suddenly of hemorrhage in a drug store at Long Beach tonight. He had called for a drink at the soda fountain and was stricken while waiting for his drink. He dropped to the floor and was dead when the clerk got to his side. Papers found in his pockets showed Grimm was on sick leave, had been stationed at Omaha. He received nearly $200 from Surgeon James Kennedy at Fort Omaha by telegraph. His home was in Cleveland, O.

Lieutenant Otto Grimm came here from Omaha six weeks ago to benefit his health, but found no relief here. The body will be taken east for burial.

First Lieutenant Grimm was a native of Ohio. He entered the army as a private in 1886 in the Third artillery and was in 1898 transferred to the First artillery as a noncommissioned officer.

Lieutenant Grimm was one of the most popular of the junior officers of the regular army stationed in the vicinity of Omaha. He was an expert signal corps man and was considered as one of the most efficient officers in that branch of the service. He was unmarried.

STUDENTS DRAW COLOR LINE

Junior Class in Veterinary College Strike Because of Return of Colored Men.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 21.—Thirty-four members of the junior class in the Grand Rapids Veterinary college walked out of a class room today when two colored students entered to resume their studies.

Because of the objections of other students the colored men had been denied admission when they returned to college this year and they appealed to the courts. Judge Perkins of the Kent county circuit court Tuesday mandated the college management to admit the two colored students on the ground that the college, being a quasi-public institution, had no right to discriminate against citizens because of their color.

After today's strike the school authorities suspended the entire junior class, including the two colored students, until next Tuesday.

OIL STILL FAVORITE DISH

Five Omaha Democrats Are Out After State Inspectorship.

PLENTY AFTER OTHER BERTHS

Harry Hayward and Tom Flynn Lead the Opposing Candidates for the Big Thing in the State House.

Joseph P. Butler, Frank Plank, Edward J. Daemon, Thomas J. O'Connor, Gus Peterson.

These are the local candidates for the position of oil inspector during the reign of Shallenberger, all of them with the exception of Mr. Butler being candidates for the deputyship for the second district.

Mr. Butler is a candidate for the chief position.

Gus Peterson is the last to enter the lists, and he comes out under the protecting wing of Harry Hayward.

Mr. Hayward leads one wing of the Jim club, Tom Flynn the other. Mr. Hayward wants the pap for Peterson, Mr. Flynn wants it for Thomas J. O'Connor, and both of them are bound to get the endorsement of the club for their respective candidates.

The mayor has been impetioned to inject his personality into the campaign, but he waves all commercial claims with an imperious gesture and the club members are allowed to wrangle among themselves, with imminent danger of ruction and the deserting of some members to the hated Jacks.

Neither Holds City Job.

Neither O'Connor or Peterson holds a city job, and for this reason many of the big wheels who keep the democracy in the present tense, among these being Colonel Farnley, believe that one of them should get the plum, but, on the other hand, the other candidates have strong endorsements. The Omaha Posten, the local Swedish paper, has come to the support of Mr. Plank, while Mr. Daemon has secured the endorsement of the German society with a membership of nearly 1,000. And the new governor is of German descent.

While the taste of oil is the most pleasant to the Jims, they are not adverse to getting their hooks onto other jobs and new candidates are springing up like mushrooms.

Adam Hunt is a well known fish commissioner under Governor Holcomb, has come out for the same office under Governor-elect Shallenberger and Joe Sherry, another former officeholder, wants to be game warden. Both Mr. Sloup and Mr. Sherry were deputies under Sheriff Power.

Daniel Custer, an old warhorse in the party, has his lightning rod up for the position of custodian of the state house. The job Dave Rowden landed under the fusion administration of days gone by. For candidate so far is Fred W. Simpson of Omaha. Mr. Simpson has been endorsed by all the Grand Army of the Republic posts in this city. He is a soldier with a record back of him, and appears to stand a good show.

Lyman M. Hunt, a resident of Omaha for twenty years, has announced his candidacy for superintendent of the institute for the deaf, and is conducting a strenuous campaign, securing many endorsements for the place. Mr. Hunt was connected with the Nebraska institution for seven years and for the same reason a good show.

Charles Steele, married to a woman who does not love him and whom he does not love, finds himself in the toils of doubt as to life and its meaning and without the reassurances of religion to help him through. Addicted also to drink, he proves a poison in the society in which he mingles.

A drunken ex-minister and an embittered brother-in-law both lay their downfall to him. With the double purpose of finding "rest" and protecting his weak brother-in-law he assumes blame which should go to his relative and plans to go up the river with a riverman whom he has saved from a charge of murder. Attacked in a low saloon he is left almost lifeless and when rescued by Joe Portuguese he has lost consciousness, and even when he recovers in the wide up the river fails to recover the memory of his past. He falls in love with a simple-minded girl and is happy when an inkling of his past leads him to submit to an operation which restores his memory.

He is about to renounce his real love, even though he learns his wife has remarried, thinking he was dead, when news comes of the death of his wife, leaving him free.

The part of Charles Steele is one that requires representative acting. Mr. Standing from the very first, when he swings on the stage the cynical, skeptical lawyer, to the last when he finds life for the first time in the love of Rosalie, is true to life. He can throw off the indifference of the early stages of the story for the grim earnestness of a man who has a bigoted prejudice for his love in the latter stages. His transition into the sober, almost stern man of social responsibility is most natural. It is the fidelity of Mr. Standing's work that gives the play its grip.

Of the same high quality is the work of Theodore Roberts as Joe Portuguese. It is a formal French-Canadian delivering himself of dialect that is seen, but a living, breathing man, every gesture of the hand, every facial expression lending itself to the characterization.

The quality of the rest of the company is unusually high. The minor parts are well filled and the staging deserves special mention. The reproduction of the mountain scenery in the last scenes is true and effective. The boys were crowded last night and the spontaneous bursts of applause, which amounted almost to orations after the unusually strong scenes, indicated the hearty approval of the audience.

The management closes with the Saturday night performance, with a matinee Saturday afternoon.

Death by Fall from Horse.

ECHO OF THE DEBS STRIKE

Pasahandle Railroad's Judgment for Damages Against Chicago Affirmed by Appellate Court.

OTTAWA, Ill., Nov. 21.—The appellate court today affirmed the decision of the lower courts in the case of the $100,000 judgment secured against the city of Chicago by the Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway company, as a result of damages to its property during the strike and rioting of 1894, made memorable by the clash of federal authority, represented by President Cleveland, and state authority, championed by the late Governor Altgeld.

The railroad brought suit against the city for $275,000 damages. The plaintiff took a change of venue from Cook county and the case was tried in Du Page county, where, in a trial lasting from May 1 to August 28, 1905, a verdict for $100,000 was returned in favor of the plaintiff.

The Midwest Life

Statistics show that 60 per cent of the population of the United States are between the ages of 15 and 45, being the age to which most insurance companies limit their risks. Assuming that 10 per cent of the whole population are not insurable because of medical and other reasons, we would have 50 per cent of the population of any given community who are insurable. According to the last census there were in Nebraska 321,150 persons who on this basis were insurable. As a matter of fact only 52,639 in the state are carrying insurance, or only 9.88 per cent of the total number who might get insurance. In New York the percentage is 19.88; in Massachusetts 12.43 and in Pennsylvania 11.02.

The Midwest Life, a Nebraska company, and one making all its investments in Nebraska securities, offers as safe, sound and cheap life insurance, as can be bought anywhere. Home Office 1007 "O" Street, Lincoln; Omaha Agency 327 Board of Trade Building.

When the curtain drops on the last scene of this play one feels as if some great, overpowering weight, some overbearing incubus that was crushing and shutting out the light at the same time had been lifted. The sense of having regained the sunlight and the open air which had been almost hopelessly lost, to say the least, the natural sequence of the five scenes of dramatic situations. This feeling of relief is a tribute to the art of those who are concerned in the making and interpreting of the play. The realism with which the situations have been conceived, and developed and the gripping fidelity with which they are interpreted is entirely responsible for the feeling one has at the end, that he has passed through the soul tortures of Charles Steele and has come out finally into the bright sunlight.

The play itself is set in a favorable background for sharp dramatic contrasts. The conventionalities of respectable society and the hard lines of orthodox religion drawn by blind bigotry are set off sharply in contrast with a soul loving freedom and Jack of external constraint. The scenes shift from the den of Charles Steele in his mansion in Montreal to the wildness of the mountains in a period 300 miles away.

Charles Steele, married to a woman who does not love him and whom he does not love, finds himself in the toils of doubt as to life and its meaning and without the reassurances of religion to help him through. Addicted also to drink, he proves a poison in the society in which he mingles.

Women to Blame for Their Own Ills

Too many women suffer needlessly each month from painful, profuse, scanty, or irregular menstruation.

There is really no excuse for this, for an eminent physician has supplied a prescription (which is here published) that regulates the flow, stops all pain, calms the nerves, cures cramps, banishes headache, clears and beautifies the complexion. Any good druggist will fill it for you: Alpen Seal, 2 ounces; Fluid Extract Black Haw, 1 ounce; Pure Water, 5 ounces.

A teaspoonful before each meal and at bedtime, taken for several days before, during and after each period, will do the work safely and effectively. Are you willing to take a wise physician's advice? Isn't it worth a trip to the drug store and the trifling cost of having the prescription filled?

YOUNG RUNNERS CARRY NOTE

Athletes Take Message from New York to Washington.

DEMOCRATIC CLUBS TO MEET

Colonel Liller Says that While the Party is Disappointed, it Has Much Cause for Elation.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—With cheers from several hundred schoolmates and fellow members of the Young Men's Christian association to spur them on, the young athletes engaged in the relay race organized by the physical department of the Young Men's Christian association between this city and Washington, started on their 241 mile sprint at 3:45 yesterday, bearing a message in a silver tube to President Roosevelt. The start was made from the international headquarters of the Young Men's Christian association in East Twenty-eighth street, where R. C. Morse, general secretary of the international committee of the association delivered the silver tube into the hands of the first runner, George W. Watson, a high school pupil.

From the East Twenty-eighth street headquarters the runners carried the silver tube to the West Twenty-third street ferry, each runner sprinting 300 yards with it and passing it on. From Jersey City to Newark, the relays were 150 yards and from Newark on they lengthened out to one-quarter of a mile. From Newark the itinerary is through Elizabeth, Plainfield, Princeton and Trenton, where the message will remain over night. At 6 o'clock Saturday morning the race for Washington will be resumed by way of Camden, Wilmington and Baltimore. Unless some unexpected hitch occurs the message will reach the hands of the president at 11:30 o'clock Saturday night. Altogether 700 runners will participate. The president's son, Quentin will be among those to carry the message through to Washington. The nature of the message is not known, save only that it contains a request from the boys to the president, who the latter will make public if he so desires.

Psychic Test Attracts Offers.

Attracted by the $5,000 offer of the Metropolitan Psychological society of this city to the person who can count a number of oranges without seeing them, a man in Oakland City, Ind., comes forward with the assertion that he is ready to make good by auto-suggestion and claims the money.

Dr. L. S. Truener of the Indiana town has written to the society, telling of the claims of the man for whom he stands sponsor, saying that he is ready to count the oranges when information as to their location is supplied. Where they are makes no difference to the mysterious man, it is said, but he must have them located before proceeding.

To add interest to the test he proposes to do the counting while asleep. The society has replied to the offer, requesting that a number of preliminary tests be gone through to determine the subject's powers and good faith in the matter. Hundreds of offers to try for the $5,000 are received by the society daily.

Bryan Clubs to Reorganize.

Colonel William C. Liller, chairman of the National League of Democratic Clubs, a statement issued here tonight regarding his call for a meeting of the representatives of all the Bryan clubs and democratic organizations throughout the country, to be held at Washington on December 9 and 10 next, said that it was the purpose of the league to maintain intact the organization now existing and to strengthen the league as an instrument for the work of reorganization at the beginning of each campaign.

"The democratic party, while disappointed over the result of the election, has much cause for elation," said Colonel Liller. "The party is now more united than at any time since 1892. Its recent defeat has not dampened the enthusiasm of its members, but awakened them to the necessity of proper organization and a return to true and fundamental democratic principles. The organization of the clubs will be pushed everywhere from now on."

Munime Slaughter of Animals.

The committee on awards in the $250 prize competition conducted by the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals for the most humane slaughtering device, has announced as the winner "The Behr-Walke" works in Suhl, manufacturers of the Behr shot shooting pistol. This instrument, used in about 700 modern slaughter houses in Germany, instantly stuns, it is said, even the wildest animal and causes death without a struggle.

End of Peonage Cases.

Charles W. Russell, special assistant to the attorney general today informed Judge Hough of the criminal branch of the United States circuit court that he did not intend to proceed against Francesco Sabbi, the employment agent on the indictments charging the kidnapping of men in this city and the shipping of them to labor camps on the Florida keys. This action ends the prosecution of the peonage cases, which were three years in prosecution and cost the government $200,000. There has not been a prosecution in the peonage cases in this district.

Booth Wardrobe to Be Sold.

Two trunks containing a large part of the wardrobe of Edwin Booth, the actor, will be sold at auction in this city on December 1. The trunks, since Booth's death fifteen years ago, have been preserved by his daughter, Edwinna, Mrs. I. J. Grossman, who is soon to make her home abroad.

BRYAN REACHES LAREDO

After Ten Days at Monterey He Will Hunt Along Lower Rio Grande.

LAREDO, Tex., Nov. 21.—William J. Bryan reached this city late today en route to Monterey, Mex., where he and his wife will spend a short time as the guests of Colonel J. A. Robertson, proprietor of the Monterey News. Mr. and Mrs. Bryan were welcomed here by Laredo and Nuevo Laredo by representative citizens and at the latter place were extended every courtesy by the customs officials.

Mr. Bryan plans to spend ten days in Monterey, after which he will leave for a short hunting trip along the lower Rio Grande, thence visiting Austin and Galveston. He will then return to Nebraska.

Gage Democrats Hungry.

BEATRICE, Neb., Nov. 21.—(Special.)—Many democratic pie-hunters in this city are wondering who Governor-elect Shallenberger is going to appoint as superintendent of the feeble minded institute, to succeed Dr. F. E. Osborne. Dr. G. L. Row of this city, is said to be an applicant for the position and there appear to be others.

Dr. C. P. Fall, who was superintendent some years ago, denies emphatically that he is after the place.

Up-to-date the newly elected executive has not remembered a democrat from this city or county with an appointment, and if some of them do not get in on the ground floor there will be walling and gnashing of teeth. Dr. Osborne stated yesterday that he was ready to pack his duds and get out when Shallenberger says the word.

By using the various departments of The Bee want ad pages it is easy to reach the people who have money to spend.
