Camp Fire at Fort Omaha

Colonel and Mrs. William Gilsdorf gave a delightful informal "camp fire" Sunday evening at Fort Omaha, when Captain Jack Crawford, the well known frontier scout, gave an enjoyable entertainment. It was an impromptu affair and the idea originated from seeing the camp fire which the workmen were using in the immense ballroom building at the post. Colonel and Mrs. Gilsdorf entertained several guests from Omaha at an informal camp supper at their home, after which they joined the officers and their families from the post, who had assembled around the fire in the ballroom house. It was especially fitting that the officers of the signal corps should be entertained by one of the famous scouts, whose places they are filling in the army. One of Captain Crawford's gifts is the ability to put into poetry well known events in the engagements in which he has participated. A large number of officers and friends were present Sunday evening.

Miscellaneous Shower

Misses Alta Thomas and Gertrude Childs gave a miscellaneous shower at the home of the latter Monday afternoon in honor of Miss Mattie McGuire, whose marriage to Carl Spring took place Tuesday morning. The rooms were prettily decorated for the occasion. Games and music afforded amusement for the afternoon. A dainty lunch was served to about twenty guests, among them being Misses Mattie and Effie McGuire, Frances and Jessie Bullock, Mattie Nevins, Alta Thomas, Edith Carter, Georgia Morton, Lina Washburn of Benson, Kittie McClausen of Omaha, Ruth Anderson of Council Bluffs, Anna Beatrice Blair, Mesdames A. LOOSE-WILES Omaha

ATTACK ON DIVORCE LAW

W. P. Thomas Will Introduce Bill to Strengthen Statute.

NEBRASKA WANTS NO SUCH FAME

Obloquy Attached to South Dakota is Spurred by Omaha and the Good People of This State.

Nebraska's divorce laws will be made more stringent by the next legislature if present plans are carried out. W. P. Thomas, attorney, of Omaha, and democratic member-elect of the lower house, has determined to introduce a bill contemplating a radical revision of the statute, so as to save Nebraska from the obloquy that has attached to South Dakota by reason of its being the so-called "divorce mecca." Mr. Thomas will have the support of various elements interested in the moral welfare of the state. Judge Howard Kennedy of the district bench in Omaha favors a tightening of the lines, and so do other men in similar positions. It has come to notice that Nebraska's divorce law is the same as that formerly in force in South Dakota; in fact, South Dakota's law was patterned after the Nebraska provision. But the rich and pretty and prominent divorcees from the east—Grace R. Molinax and other members of the far-famed Florodora sextette, Mrs. "Bob" Fitzsimmons and wives of other "bigs" of the ring, Countess Zarewsky and other titled women of the realm—did not know of the Nebraska law, and therefore flocked to South Dakota, where divorce decrees were made while you wait. Two years ago, however, the South Dakota legislature screwed up its nerve sufficiently to repeal the law and raise the limit to one year's residence.

Initiative and Referendum. But South Dakota has an initiative and referendum clause in the state constitution and lawyers and the owners of the palatial hotels in Sioux Falls—the divorce mecca—secured the legal number of signers and invoked the initiative, requiring a vote by the whole people. By doing this they put off the evil day for two years, but the people sustained the legislature in the recent election, thus forcing the appointment of the lawyers and the capitalists, for hundreds of thousands of dollars are invested in costly hotels in Sioux Falls, hotels which will compare favorably with any in Omaha.

Then the lawyers in the east began to look up the statutes of the different states and discovered that Nebraska had a six months' divorce law. This was better yet. Nebraska has larger cities than has South Dakota, and the large town appeals strongly to the divorcee, for she comes from a large town. Sioux Falls is the metropolis of South Dakota, but Sioux Falls has a population of but about 15,000—one-tenth that of Omaha.

One Point for Nebraska

"I am not one of these people who do not believe in divorce," said Mr. Thomas, "but I do not like the idea of people coming here for no reason other than securing a decree of separation and then leaving as soon as the marital tie is severed. Our law is better than that of the palatial hotels in one particular; divorce decrees cannot be granted in chambers, but the six months' provision is undeniably wrong. Just what period of residence should be required I am not at this time prepared to say, but I believe that Nebraska's divorce law should conform with those in force in the majority of the states. I would like to see a divorce law in this state along the lines of the uniform divorce law as outlined by the American Bar association. I will look into the matter thoroughly and present a bill at the coming session of the legislature."

Constitution Has a Voice

The constitution of the United States requires that due cognizance of the statute provisions in other states shall be taken by all the commonwealths of the nation; but the supreme court has ruled that this constitutional provision does not apply to divorce laws, and on this holding New York has persistently refused to recognize South Dakota decrees of divorce. It has never discounted a Nebraska decree, for no hurry up "divorce while you wait" work has been done in this state, despite the statute provision. Should the present law remain on the statute books and the divorcees transfer their love from South Dakota to Nebraska, then it is probable, attorneys say, that the Empire state will tell Nebraska to take its old divorce and tie to the sand hills with them.

Grand Jury Tries to Quit

After Eight Weeks of Toil It is Endeavoring to Complete Its Session.

After a session lasting eight weeks the county grand jury is getting ready to adjourn. The closing session probably will not come until early next week, however, owing to the large amount of business yet to be transacted before the jurors can quit.

It is the intention of the county attorney's office to take all the police court cases it has on hand before the jury Wednesday. After listening to the evidence in these cases and disposing of them the grand jury will then turn its attention to the final report, which, it is said, will be elaborate and rather detailing. Agreeing on the form and substance of this report will probably require several days and while some of the jurors would like to quit this week the probabilities are the session will extend over into next week.

WIFE'S PLIGHT FREES MAN

Pitiful Story of Woman Moves Judge to Release Disobedient Juror from Jail.

A. H. Anderson, former member of the grand jury, who was sent to jail for thirty days for contempt of court, has been released by Judge Sears after an appeal for clemency by Mrs. Anderson. Monday evening Mrs. Anderson called on Judge Sears and told a story which touched his heart. She had with her a small boy with his leg bandaged and stiff. She said the boy had undergone an operation for tuberculosis of the bone at a local hospital and had just gotten out of the hospital. "I have two younger children at home and there is no food or fuel in the house and I am out of money. I don't know what I will do."

Judge Sears was touched and, giving her some money to tide her over until Tuesday, investigated her story. Tuesday morning he called Anderson over from the jail and had a long talk with him. At the close he told the sheriff to release him from jail.

Anderson pleaded guilty to a contempt charge Saturday. He admitted going to a young woman witness before the grand jury and asking her not to testify against a friend of his whom she implicated in her story to the grand jury. She also charged he made insulting proposals to her and struck her when she refused.

Anderson is employed by the Union Pacific.

LARGE RECEIPTS IN CORN

Heavy Shipments Into Omaha Are Looked For During the Coming Week.

Large receipts of corn are looked for the coming week in Omaha. This grain has been steadily held by farmers who have been holding for a higher price. Tenant farmers, who are more in need of the money, have let go their holdings, but a large percentage of the men owning their own farms have cribbed their corn.

Northwestern wheat continues to come into the market in larger quantities than some expected, but this has not had a depressing effect on the price. The Argentina scare, of course, has been the strongest factor in maintaining the price of this grain.
