TO RESTRICT LOAN SHARKS
Measure Drawn by Yeiser and Thomas for the Legislature.

LATER WILL INTRODUCE BILL
Body Snatchers Are Quietly Preparing to Put a Lobby in Lincoln, as They Have Done in Former Years.

A bill to curb the avarice of loan sharks who prey on men of meager salary and exact usurious interest after luring unfortunates into their offices by graphic advertisements and cleverly-worded promises, will be introduced at the next session of the legislature by Walter P. Thomas, one of the Douglas county delegation to the house.

The exact details of the bill have not been worked out yet, but a measure is now being drawn by Mr. Thomas and John O. Yeiser, who has led the fight in Omaha against the body-snatcher methods of the chattel money loaners. The bill will be directed against the evils of the system which now enable money loaners to violate law and decency in the exaction of from 20 to 100 per cent interest a year from their victims.

Mr. Yeiser has already outlined a plan whereby he hopes to prevent the sale of usurious notes to innocent purchasers, making them collectible. He proposes to do this by requiring that usurious notes be endorsed with a notice that they are contaminated by usury. He would make it a criminal offense to sell such a note without first so endorsing it. This would protect legitimate business and would operate to prevent traffic in the papers secured by loan men at usurious rates.

Bar on Assigning Salaries.
Restrictions may also be placed in the new legislation on the wholesale assignment of salaries earned and unearned which are the basis of the blood-sucking operations of some chattel loan men. At present the inexperienced borrower will sign a blank assignment of his wages or give to some person connected with the loan company a power of attorney. In some cases these assignments, or powers of attorney, have bobbed up months and years afterward to prevent poor men dependent on their daily earnings from collecting their wages except by litigation which they cannot afford.

Several states have restrictions of one kind or another. One state requires the employer of the man to sign the assignment in order to make it valid.

Mr. Thomas and Mr. Yeiser will hold several consultations before drawing up a bill in its final form. The legislation is considered of great importance and every effort will be made to put the measure in such form it cannot be invalidated by the courts.

The loan sharks are not indifferent to the movement to remove their tentacles. Some of them are quite as busy in preparation of a defense in the shape of a lobby for whose maintenance a plethoric pot will be necessary. Four years ago the loan shark lobby was quite strong, so it was in 1904. A fellow who has been in many different lobbies and is now running a weekly paper of a peculiar character in Lincoln was the head man for the body snatchers at Lincoln and is said to have made it pay him decidedly well.

START FOR NEW COURT HOUSE
Removal of Stone Paving is First Step in the Work of Demolition.

In preparation for the grading of the south half of the court house square for the new court house, Lamoureux & Peterson Friday morning put a force of men to work removing the stone on the paving of the driveway leading up to the jail building. The grading will be pushed from now on as long as the weather will permit, the contract calling for the completion of the job by March 15.

The contractors will not wait for the removal of the old county jail building, but will grade the east end of the south half. The county under the contract must remove the jail building by February 1. In order to hold the graders to their agreement to finish by March 15, the stone driveway and the retaining walls around the part to be graded will be removed before the grading work actually starts.

SCHURMAN AT CORN SHOW
President of Cornell Will Speak at Exposition December 16.

NEW YORK CITY MAKES INQUIRY
Wattles Wants Foreign Vote Signers to Come to the Front and Get Ready for the Big Festival.

Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, president of Cornell University, was requested to address at the National Corn exposition at 10:30 o'clock December 16 at the Auditorium. A telegram from him gives definite word that Mr. Schurman will be here.

Dr. Schurman will arrive with his daughter Tuesday, December 15, from Iowa City. Dr. Schurman is one of the best known educators and orators of the country and was chosen by President McKinley to act as chairman of the first Philippines commission. With the retirement of President Eliot of Harvard he comes very close to being the best known college president in the United States. He was requested to choose a subject which will appeal to the popular mind, and he advised C. C. Rosewater yesterday by wire that he had chosen "Our National Outlook" as his subject. Even when discussing a weighty theme, however, he has a remarkable faculty for clear exposition and his living interest is generally with more interest when he occupies the platform, for his appearances thus are not frequent, the Chautauqua platform having never enticed him.

His appearance during the Corn exposition is a matter on which the exposition officials are being consulted. It is understood that members of the Cornell Alumni association will entertain him during his visit here.

New York is Awake.
Even New York City has awakened to a knowledge of the Corn exposition. The appended letter shows that the so-distant residents of the metropolis are aware that the National Corn exposition is to be held, and this may be termed a triumph, for when men in "little old New York" will take cognizance of anything west of the Appalachians it means that the rest of the country is talking of nothing else. The letter mentioned asks about railroad fares. It may be answered that the Western Passenger association has granted a cent-and-one-half rate through its territory, which reaches as far east as Ohio. The Eastern Passenger association still has the question under advisement. The letter follows:

HUSTED MILLING AND ELEVATOR COMPANY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Nye-Schneider-Fowler Grain Company, Omaha, Neb., Gentlemen: The writer has in mind attending the Corn exposition at Omaha and would like to inquire if the railroads are making any rates for round-trip passage from here, or if they are making round-trip rates from Chicago. I made inquiry from your Mr. Mott here in New York and he referred me to you. If you have this information at hand, would appreciate your prompt reply. Yours very truly,
J. J. JONES.

Baggage Fall of Exhibits.
Two large baggage cars are being loaded on the Northwestern with exhibits for the National Corn exposition, one of which will leave Chicago November 29 and pick up exhibits enroute and the other will leave Brookings, S. D., December 1 and will pick up a few more exhibits on the way down. The railroads are immensely interested in the Corn show, more on account of the educational features than because of the large number of people they will bring to the show. To raise a few more bushels of corn per acre over this year corn-producing belt means an enormous increase in the wealth of the middle west, from which the railroads will reap a harvest in time, as well as all other business interests.

President Wattles, who is preparing programs for special events during the National Corn exposition, has designated the evening of Wednesday, December 16, for the appearance of singers and musicians among the foreign born citizens of this as well as other western cities. A little investigation discloses the fact that there is an immense amount of what may be called home talent in this region, which if brought together would merit. Mr. Wattles wishes to hear from all such musicians and asks the leaders of singing societies of every nationality to communicate with him without delay.

Will H. Young, superintendent of grain exhibits, arrived in Omaha Friday and plunged immediately into his work. His family accompanied him. E. H. McMann, secretary of the Omaha Grain exchange, who has been in Kansas City and Sioux City the last few days, returned Friday and said that interests in the Corn exposition in those two cities was intense.

BRIDE AND TROUSSEAU GONE
Woman Who Promised to Bring Wardrobe for Both Fails to Meet Longing Lover.

Supposing he was about to be married, J. C. Summers came to Omaha Thursday to meet his intended, who was thought to have come here from her home at Crawford Monday with some new clothes he had bought for her and also in possession of his suite set. No Miss Emma Carol, which is the name of the young woman, met him at the depot or welcomed him with a kiss or even the glad hand and now the police, who were consulted in an effort to locate the missing miss, have come to the conclusion that Summers has just been "done" by the woman for a few new clothes and the contents of his grip.

NURSES CHAFE UNDER RULES
Young Women at Methodist Hospital Threaten to Quit, but Are at Work.

Objection among the nurses at the Methodist hospital to certain rules imposed on them since the new building was occupied led to friction which threatened to result in a walkout of the nurses Thursday morning. Mrs. Lucia Rider Meyer of Chicago, superintendent of the Chicago Training School for Nurses and a member of the general board of discharges work in the church, arrived in Omaha Thursday and it was said her visit had some connection with the trouble among the nurses.

Since the hospital moved into the new building at Thirty-sixth and Cuming streets, Miss Anderson, superintendent of nurses, has made more stringent regulations than were necessary in the old hospital. The new rules do not meet with the favor of the nurses and they are threatening to go on a strike unless the rules are less severe. Some of them, it is understood, have also objected to the table board they are receiving.

Mrs. McLaughlin, superintendent of the hospital, is of the opinion all friction will be allayed without any serious consequences.

"What little difficulty there was has been settled," said Mrs. McLaughlin Friday morning. The nurses have made no demands on me and we have had no meetings or negotiations of any kind with them. Mrs. Meyer came from Chicago Thursday, and I did not know she was here until she telephoned me she was at the depot. She did not come at my request and I do not think any of the nurses have asked her to come. She has wanted to visit the new hospital for a long time and I think she has just taken this opportunity to come."

There are about fifty nurses in the training school connected with the hospital, but how widespread among these the dissatisfaction is the hospital authorities preferred not to know.

TIN CAN MAGNATE CONTENT
Man Who Hid His Money Will Not Sue Those Arrested for Having It.

Since the recovery of all but $30 of the $1,500 can of gold which was removed from its hiding place under Peter G. Grosso's house, 316 North Fifteenth street, Tuesday, A. D. Jones and his wife and child, who were arrested when the money was found in their possession, have been released from custody. Grosso says he will not file a complaint against them, as it appears that they were merely keeping the money for lack of an owner. Half of the money belonged to Mrs. Grosso and the couple were intending to purchase a home with the sum when the temporary financial flurry upset their plans and they hid their savings in their cellar.
