NET ABOUT MME. STEINHEIL

Remarkable French Woman Believed to Be Murderer.

MEN LURED BY HER CHARMS

Her Salon Dazzlingly Brilliant—Hand and Face and Probably Removed by Her Order, is the Belief.

PARIS, Nov. 28.—The Steinheil case continues to be the sensation of the hour in all France. No one ventures to say where the revelations will end. The political side looms larger and larger every day and the interest harks back to the tragic death in Paris in 1899 of Paul Faure, president of France. M. Faure died in the midst of the Dreyfus excitement.

The most minute details of the scene in the room where he expired in the company of Madame Steinheil are today flauntingly published by even the republican newspapers. Up to the present time this incident in the career of Madame Steinheil has only been referred to covertly. The royalist and anti-Dreyfus organs demand an official investigation into the death of M. Faure and intimate openly that M. Faure, as the insuperable obstacle to the leaders of the Dreyfus agitation, was the victim of a plot. They have put forward the old allegation that M. Faure intended to yield to the petitions of the Dreyfusards and sign an order for the revocation of the case, and consequently he was poisoned.

Verdict as to Faure's Death. The only reason to believe that M. Faure did not die a natural death is found in the fact that his body decomposed with unusual rapidity, and to offset this are the statements of five of the best known physicians who certified that he died of cerebral hemorrhage.

The other story, that Madame Steinheil was present when he passed away, seems unfortunately to be true, and great regret is expressed that circumstances have now compelled the disclosure to the public of the old story that Madame Faure and the friends of the former president thought was buried with his body.

What letters containing evidence of M. Faure's relations with Madame Steinheil were surrendered after his death probably is true, but the fact that the communist cabinet contained compromising state secrets is rejected by all who were behind that scene at the time.

With regard to the crimes themselves: Madame Steinheil's husband and her mother, Madame Japy, were found murdered in the Steinheil home in Paris on May 31 of this year, and at the same time Madame Steinheil was discovered bound and gagged; the net is drawing closer and closer around the wife. Stories of her numerous romantic affairs with persons of note in political and artistic circles are coming to light daily, and they prove what a remarkable woman she was.

"The Charmer of Men." She is now called "the charmer of men." Her salon was dazzlingly brilliant. Her last lover, in whose eyes she declared she wanted to justify herself, has now been discovered, and his identity furnished a clue to a motive for the crime. He is a man who is now in the hands of the law.

She is now called "the charmer of men." Her salon was dazzlingly brilliant. Her last lover, in whose eyes she declared she wanted to justify herself, has now been discovered, and his identity furnished a clue to a motive for the crime. He is a man who is now in the hands of the law.

Woman Denies Faure Story. "She told me her past," the widower continued to the newspaper man, "and denied this gossip of her relations with the late president. She said she had never seen him and that she would never marry him."

Continuing his explanation, this man related how the scales gradually fell from his eyes. When the spell was broken he returned to his normal state, and he, however, continued to pursue him and telephoned him every day.

On the morning of the crime she called him up by long distance telephone, but the wire was not working well and he could barely understand what she said. Finally she exclaimed: "I am satisfied, for I have heard your voice; that is enough for me."

The next day, when he learned of the murders, he suspected the truth and came to Paris. He saw Madame Steinheil and she had cleared herself.

The prevailing belief in Paris today is that Mme. Steinheil deliberately had her husband and mother assassinated.

Possible Political Developments. The possible developments of the political case against Madame Steinheil will be decided by the Dreyfusards and the Dreyfusards are moving heaven and earth to explode it, absolutely regardless of the national scandal that may result.

M. Berry, conservative, gave notice in the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon that he intended to present an interpellation on the matter.

The sensational afternoon papers are filled with the widest rumors and the most minute articles concerning the death of M. Faure. It has been predicted already that Madame Steinheil will be declared crazy and locked up in an asylum and that in this manner all further proceedings will be stifled.

As a matter of fact, the experts agree that she is today a complete nervous wreck, even if she were responsible at the time of the crime. Several newspapers are endeavoring to know the name of the assassin of Steinheil and Madame Japy, as well as that of his accomplice.

Late this afternoon the widower who admitted he was the last lover of Madame Steinheil came into the examining magistrate's office to tell his story to M. Andre, the examining magistrate. The name of this man has not yet been disclosed.

EMPEROR'S DIAMOND JUBILEE. Francis Joseph Entertains Delegation of Eight Hundred Officials, Who Assure Him of Loyalty.

VIENNA, Nov. 28.—Emperor Francis Joseph today received a delegation of 800 officials of the empire, including the Austrian premier, who congratulated him on his diamond jubilee. The premier made a speech in which he assured his majesty of the steadfast loyalty of his subjects. The emperor replied that the work of the servants of the empire must always be based on the law and must never be identified with any political party. Both houses of the Austrian Parliament were in session today and speeches of enthusiastic loyalty were made in each.

JUDGES TO COME ON MONDAY

Them down because of the source of the idea. And then some of the officers believe it is beyond their jurisdiction to make recommendations to a legislature and governor of the opposite party.

One thing, however, has been practically agreed upon by the holdovers and the Governor-elect Shallenbarger will get an opportunity to assess railroads all by his lonesome next summer. One of the reasons why the democrats urged the election of the Alma man was because, they said, he would increase the value of railroad property and reduce the value of farm lands. At least two members of the board have said since election they will vote for any motion Mr. Shallenbarger makes in reference to the assessment of railroad property. These two reasons the new governor will constitute a majority of the board.

So the new governor will be given a free hand to keep his pledge to increase the value of railroad property. A majority of the holdover board members will also vote to reduce the value of farm lands if the new governor makes the motion. Consequently no governor ever went into the executive office in better shape to carry out his pledges, and if the new governor fails to keep his promises and finds it impossible to keep them for other reasons the blame will be entirely his own.

Certificates of election have been made out to the democratic electors by Governor Sheldon and a letter sent them to appear at the executive office "at noon Saturday preceding the second Monday in January" to meet and organize.

On the Monday following that meeting they will meet again and select a messenger to take the vote to Washington.

OLD ENGINES FOR MUSEUMS

New York Central Lines Will Present Them to Technical Schools of Country.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—(Special Telegram.)—Instead of establishing a museum of its own to preserve its relics, the management of the New York Central lines has decided to donate whatever it has of historical value to the colleges and universities of the country. To start the work the company has presented to Purdue university in Lafayette, Ind., an old Eddy engine, the only one of its type in existence, which was built in Springfield, Mass., in 1874, named in honor of the inventor.

This school already has in its museum five distinct types of old locomotives and the Eddy will make the sixth. The Marmosa has for some time been used for heating cars at the Worcester, Mass., terminal of the Boston & Albany road.

The Eddy is sufficiently small to be transported by water on an ordinary flat car. Its standard weight of engines built in 1874 was about 100,000 pounds, while the standard of passenger engines now on the big roads is 275,000 pounds.

The Eddy was made under the standard of the year, it was built, and embraces several peculiar features. The New York Central system is made up of some of the oldest roads in the country and it is believed a search will find a great deal that will be of value to the schools of the country. Of course in the distribution most of the stuff will go to the technical schools.

DIVORCE EXHIBIT DEPLORABLE

Cardinal Gibbons Comments Upon Showing by United States—One in Twelve Marriages.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 28.—Cardinal Gibbons comments today on the divorce statistics recently sent forth. It was a deplorable exhibit, he said, that there was not a united effort to combat the evil if we are to remain a Christian people. There must be more stringent legislation on the subject, he declared.

Referring to the showing of one divorce in every twelve marriages, the cardinal said: "But when we come to observe more closely, we find that as the Catholics do not tolerate divorces they must be excluded from this state, which makes the showing actually one divorce in every ten marriages. Could anything be more shocking?"

The data shows that the divorce rate is higher in the United States than in any other civilized country in the world. He added: "The marital tie is becoming less and less binding, and unless something can be done to check the evil, the results must be appalling."

MANY ANIMALS AT THE SHOW

Record-Breaking Competition Marks International Live Stock Exhibition at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—With more animals than were ever shown here before the International Live Stock exposition opened today at the International Amphitheater and adjacent buildings at the stock yards, to continue for the next twelve days. The exhibits are from twenty-two states, England, Belgium, Canada and Mexico. Today's program included contests between students of agricultural colleges for $5,000 worth of agricultural scholarships offered by J. Ogden Armour. One feature was a comparison by rigid contests of practical ex-

Feel Better, Look Better, Eat and Sleep Better

Hood's Sarsaparilla will renew your vigor and vim, clear your complexion and improve your color, increase your appetite and aid your digestion, and make your sleep refreshing.

It multiplies and develops the red blood corpuscles, gives health and strength to the white corpuscles, and is the greatest curative, tonic and preventive medicine the world has ever known.

It is scientifically established that pure blood is indispensable to the proper performance of any function of the body.

Without it, neither the stomach, liver, kidneys nor bowels, nor any other bodily organ can work well.

Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure blood, and it is in doing this that it accomplishes so much.

It eradicates scrofula and all other humors, cures eczema or salt rheum, catarrh, rheumatism, and dyspepsia, relieves that tired feeling, and builds up the whole system.

It gives the best possible protection against all infectious and contagious diseases, by making the white blood corpuscles healthy and strong so that they can destroy disease germs which attack the red blood corpuscles and bodily tissues.

WATER POWER IN SIOUX FALLS

Big Project Second Only in Importance to Harnessing of St. Anthony Falls.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., Nov. 28.—(Special.)—By the harnessing of the Big Sioux river, which flows directly through Sioux Falls, the greatest water power development in the west this year is fast nearing completion in this city. The development of the water power of the falls of the Big Sioux river at a point in the northeastern portion of the city was financed by the American Trust and Savings bank and the Thomas J. Bolger company of Chicago. Half a million dollars has been expended. The project is second in importance only to that of the development years ago of the water power of St. Anthony falls, which has made Minneapolis one of the greatest manufacturing cities of the west.

The company has an authorized bond issue of $750,000, of which $500,000 is outstanding. The company purchased and consolidated with the Cascade Milling company, the capital of which was $150,000, and the Queen Bee Milling company, with a capital of $600,000. The officers of the new company are: President, E. W. Coughlin; vice president, W. G. Haley; treasurer, George B. Caldwell; secretary, Fred H. Reed. Mr. Caldwell is a Chicagoan, being in charge of the bond department of the American Trust and Savings bank of that city.

The company owns about twelve acres of land along the Big Sioux river, extending from a point below the famous falls of the Big Sioux to the business center of the city. It controls the flowage from the falls some three miles up the river. The water power of the Queen Bee Milling company was furnished by a dam across the river, just above the falls. A massive retaining wall has been built on both sides of the river by the new company, this extending from a point far up the river to a point a short distance above the falls.

FIFTEEN YEARS FOR CASHIER

William B. Montgomery Sentenced to This Term by Pittsburg Judge.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 28.—William Montgomery, former cashier of the Allegheny National bank, which failed for over $1,000,000 some time ago, was sentenced to serve fifteen years in the western Pennsylvania penitentiary today by Judge James S. Young of the United States court. Montgomery was sentenced upon two indictments charging him with the embezzlement and abstraction of over $500,000. Contrary to expectations, there were no arguments when the motion for a new trial came up today and Judge Young immediately pronounced sentence.

Attorney Marshall, the banker's counsel, said: "This ends the case. I do not think that a writ of error will be asked for." Before being sentenced Montgomery was given an opportunity to make a statement and said:

"I never took a penny of the bank's money for my own use. The way I have been treated reminds me of the old days of witchcraft. I was willing to go on the stand and was not allowed to do so. My case was butchered up. I had no opportunity of refreshing my memory from the books of the bank. I was led to believe by counsel that my case would not be tried until four or five weeks after the term of court was opened and then was hurried into court before I was prepared. I never took money of the bank."

PREPARING FOR CEREMONIES

Edict Issued Fixing Beginning of Reign of Pu Yi for New Year's Day.

PEKING, Nov. 28.—An edict was issued today ordering the necessary sacrifices preparatory to the ceremonies of December 2 to mark the ascension to the throne of the infant emperor, Pu Yi. Another edict of today fixes the beginning of the Hsuan Hsuan Tung era (the reign of Pu Yi) for New Year's day and sets forth that Pu Yi makes his ascension to the throne immediately becoming, having received the great responsibility from Kuang Hsu, the late emperor, he must lose no time in undertaking it.

TAFT WILL ACCEPT CHAIR

President-Elect Will Preside Over Governors' Resource Conference.

PINCHOT TO FILE INVENTORY

Chief Forester Will Make Recommendations Covering Many Phases of Conservation Problem.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—President-elect William H. Taft has accepted an invitation to preside over and address a joint conference of the National Conservation commission with the governors of the states in this city December 3, an event which brings together an assemblage of the nation's leading men in commercial, financial and political activity, and whose importance may be expected to rival the noted White House conservation conference held by President Roosevelt last May.

The joint conference will be in progress four days, and that space of time will be fraught with wonderful possibilities toward shaping an epoch in the country's commercial advance. In fact, it is the first conference wherein tangible data as to the scope of the natural resources in the United States will be issued by the commission and a practical plan mapped out whereby conservation may be accomplished.

President Roosevelt will deliver an address the opening day, as will other distinguished men, including governors, senators, representatives, bankers, business men and others. J. J. Hill, John Mitchell, Andrew Carnegie and a score of other representative men have accepted invitations to be present.

Since the conference seven months ago when the president quickened the interest of the entire nation in one of its most perplexing problems, the National Conservation commission has made an inventory of the natural resources of the country. This inventory, which embraces waters, minerals, forests and lands, will be presented by Gifford Pinchot, chairman of the commission, who in his report to the president January 1 will make recommendations which both the work of the commission and the joint conference may suggest as vital in solving the conservation problem.

TENNESSEE MILITIA FIRED ON

Soldiers Guarding Mill Near Hamburg Are Attacked by Night Riders.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 28.—A dispatch from Union City, Tenn., to the News-Scimitar late this afternoon confirms reports of an attack on a detail of militia by a band of men, presumably night riders, at the Gleason saw mill, near Hamburg, last night. According to the dispatch, one of the soldiers was wounded in the hand and about fifty shots were exchanged between the military and the attacking party.

The attack followed the firing on three men by soldiers who discovered them in the mill yards. The intruders, when challenged, refused to halt. Spasmodic shooting continued for several hours and was followed at midnight by a fusillade. When the fire was returned by the soldiers the band, composed of about thirty men, disappeared. With the arrival of reinforcements from Camp Rankin a search was made, but none of the assailants could be found.

The placing of guards at the Gleason mill was because of threats that it would be burned if operations continued.

UNION CITY, Tenn., Nov. 28.—Fifty indictments were returned late today by the grand jury investigating the recent night rider raids in the Redfoot lake region, which reached a culmination a month ago in the lynching of Captain Quinten Rankin of Trenton, Tenn.

SNOW IN SOUTHERN STATES

Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas Panhandles Visted by Heavy Fall of Moisture.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 28.—A heavy rain and snow, the latter from six to twelve inches in depth in some places, has fallen all over southwestern Kansas, in the Oklahoma and Texas panhandles, and as far southwest as New Mexico during the last twenty-four hours. In Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico and eastern Colorado, the snow is heavy enough to impede railroad traffic. Snow and sleet extended as far east as Dodge City and Bucklin, Kan., but east of these points only rain is falling.

Today's is the first real snow of the year in Kansas and Oklahoma. There is practically no wind and no suffering among live stock. The wheat crop will be greatly benefited by this moisture.

SIX SUFFOCATED TO DEATH

Air Supply Cut Off from Men Working in Salt Mine Shaft Near Detroit.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 28.—Six men were suffocated to death this afternoon in the village of Oakwood along the western outskirts of Detroit. They were at work 300 feet down in a shaft being sunk for a salt mine, when the canvas tube which supplied them with air became clogged and the shaft filled with gas. The Oakwood contracting company has been engaged in sinking an 800 foot shaft for the Detroit Salt company.

The six men who lost their lives this afternoon were at work excavating 500 feet down in the shaft. Their supply of air came from a two-foot canvas tube which ran down the shaft from the surface of the ground. In some unknown manner this tube either became tangled or clogged this afternoon about 200 feet down from the surface. With the air supply shut off the shaft rapidly filled with gas and the men were suffocated.

It was some time before rescuers from the surface could reach them, and then they were at first able to extricate only four of the bodies.

The dead are as follows: EDWARD BROOKS, FRANK WILLAY, GEORGE GIBBONS, JOE DAILEY, L. P. PETERSON, WILLIAM HOYT.

All except Hoyt are married men and leave families. The six were doing repair work 350 feet down in the 900-foot shaft. The contractors state that they had failed to properly connect 150 feet above the canvas tube, which carried air down the shaft. With the air supply shut off sulphur gas rapidly filled the mine and suffocated the men.
