FRANK DUNLOP IN TROUBLE

Lands in Denver Toils for Freedom with Worthless Checks.

SAYS HE IS NEPHEW OF BRYAN

Throws Fit in Woman's House and is Carted Off to Jail and Next Day Fined in the Police Court.

Frank Dunlop, for years distinguished around Omaha as an "impersonator," has fallen into the hands of the police of Denver and into the papers of that city for long stories and large photographs of himself.

According to the Times and Post, Dunlop has been panning himself off as a nephew of W. J. Bryan, throwing fits and writing bogus checks and, the Times says, made a "daring attempt" to swindle Mayor Speer and the city.

Dunlop was very generally known in Omaha for some years. He finally got into the employ of the Great Western and suddenly got out, and since then he has been "better" known than ever in his city.

Here is what the Denver Times says of his case:

Dunlop, it is charged, endeavored to induce the mayor to let him have the auditorium for a six-day roller skating race and as an evidence of good faith submitted a draft for $1,000 drawn upon his wife at Creston, Ia., through the Denver National bank.

This draft, according to Chief of Police Armstrong, is worthless. A result Dunlop was refused the use of the auditorium. Evidently he had hoped to make a neat sum of money without any further capital than an unlimited amount of nerve.

At the time he sprang the $1,000 draft on the mayor he was questioned by Chief Armstrong, but released because he had not injured any one. Chief Armstrong had him brought to headquarters when circulars advertising a six-day roller skating race and soliciting entries for the same were being distributed in the city. Dunlop was given to understand he would not be permitted to pull out of the city.

For the past two weeks the police have been looking for Dunlop. Not a trace of him could be found. Patrolman Schmitt happened to arrest him yesterday afternoon on the charge of disturbance. Schmitt did not know Dunlop was wanted for uttering worthless checks until Special Officer Jack Payment, while in police court this morning, happened to see Dunlop on the "mourners' bench." Payment notified Chief Armstrong, who detailed Detectives Cretick and Mulligan to restrain the man.

Laughs at His Luck. Smiling because he had escaped with a $5 fine on the disturbance charge, Dunlop stepped off the witness stand when the detectives informed him of the serious charge preferred against him.

Dunlop is charged with uttering worthless checks to Miss Kate S. O'Brien, manager of the Brownleigh Arms hotel, 140 Court street, and to C. C. Simmons, grocer at 135 Broadway. Miss O'Brien accepted a check for $15 and Simmons losses to the amount of $27. To both Dunlop had exhibited his draft for $1,000 and stated he had been unable to cash it owing to the lack of funds of those to whom he had offered it.

The charge of disturbance which led to his arrest was based upon a scene he had created at the home of Mrs. W. F. Wood, 23 West Sixth street. Mrs. Wood is the wife of a well-known physician and lives here with her son. Yesterday afternoon Dunlop called at her house and requested to see Dr. Wood, who, he said, had been recommended to him as a specialist for lung trouble. He represented himself as a nephew of William Jennings Bryan.

Mrs. Wood informed Dunlop that her husband was not in Denver, but in Chicago. The man then "threw a fit" and frightened the woman and her son almost out of their wits. Helpless, Mrs. Wood called Dr. Cunningham and then notified the police. Patrolman Schmitt was sent to the house and the arrest followed. So frightened was Mrs. Wood by the man's peculiar actions that she was taken ill and this morning was unable to appear in police court and testify against him.

Further than to declare he was a sick man Dunlop could say nothing in his behalf when questioned on the witness stand. He insisted that the draft found on him is perfectly good. As the reason for falling to get any money on it he stated that his wife had moved away from Creston to that city and that he was unable to get living at the present time.

"Sweated" by Captain of Detectives Binions, Dunlop stated that he was in Omaha and that he is a promoter of various enterprises in all parts of the country.

CASH GONE, PORTER NABBED

Sum of $430 Stolen from Maurer's and Colored Employee is Arrested.

Five boxes of money, representing the amounts belonging to the different departments of Ed Maurer's restaurant and sample room, 1306 Farnam street, and amounting to $430, were broken open and emptied by a burglar, who gained entrance to Mr. Maurer's private office on the second floor of his place of business Thursday morning by crawling through the window.

The office and prying open the desk between 12:30 and 1 o'clock.

John A. Henderson, the colored porter, who was the only person in the restaurant after closing hours, has been arrested by Detectives Ferris and Dunn, the officers working on the case. He is suspected of the loss of the money and all articles of it. Henderson is locked in the Maurer restaurant building every night at 12:30 o'clock, and cannot leave the place till morning.

About an hour elapsed between the time the colored porter left Maurer's and the time the loss was discovered. He went to his home, 233 Erskine street, where he was arrested soon after 9 o'clock, and the theory with the detectives is that if he took the money, he hid it before reaching home. The premises of the house were thoroughly searched and Henderson had only about $3 on his person when taken into custody. A strict suspicion of the fact was placed opposite his name on the jail register. A strenuous attempt is being made to locate the money.

H. Brush, who may be transferred to the command of one of the departments in the Philippines.

Seeking Refuge In Clothes of Obscure Origin

MANY men appreciate the advantages and economy of buying clothes ready-to-wear, but do NOT buy them because they cannot judge sufficiently of cloth and tailoring to select something really good.

You too often see clothes apparently fashionable in cut—fairly respectable in fit—which prove so lacking in genuine tailor-given quality that they betray their cheapness in a fortnight.

The small tailor is the refuge of the man once bitten by such a disappointment. We have no bone to pick with this man. But we point out to him that Stein-Bloch Clothes are kept by the leading clothier in almost every city and town, affording him cloth selection, fashion possibilities and sureness of fit beyond those of any average tailor shop.

are First Lieutenant A. Gilmer, Fourth field artillery and Second Lieutenant W. V. Carter of the Sixth cavalry.

Brigadier General Carter is a graduate of the West Point military academy, of the class of 1872, having been appointed at large from New York. Upon his graduation he was assigned to the Eighth United States Infantry as a second lieutenant and in the fall of 1874 was transferred to the Sixth United States cavalry. He was made first lieutenant in 1879 and a captain ten years later. In 1897 he was promoted to major in the adjutant general's department, became a lieutenant colonel in 1898 and reached his colonelcy April 15, 1902, and was made brigadier general in June, 1902.

General Carter was awarded a medal of honor for distinguished bravery in action against the Apache Indians in 1881, when with the voluntary assistance of two soldiers, under heavy fire at Cibola Creek, Arizona, they rescued the wounded of that engagement. At that time he was a first lieutenant of the Sixth cavalry, serving as regimental quartermaster and acting regimental adjutant.

General Carter has been continuously in the service since 1873 and served through numerous Indian campaigns, the Spanish-American and Philippine wars.

JOINT LINE IS A PUZZLE

Hill and Harriman Have People Guessing as to New Road.

ENTERS SPARSELY SETTLED BELT

Thought to Be Future Cut-Off for Union and Northern Pacific from the Puget Sound Country Eastward.

The Union Pacific railroad is building a long line many miles away from its general offices which is being pushed to completion. The Oregon, Washington & Idaho railroad being built jointly by the Northern Pacific and the Union Pacific, from Texas Ferry, Wash., on the Snake river, east to Grandville, Idaho, is still under construction. The line from Texas Ferry to Lewiston, Idaho, is seventy-three miles long and is being built under the direction of the Union Pacific.

This line is a puzzle to the railroad world, as it cannot be conceived why the Union Pacific and Northern Pacific would be building a line into the sparsely settled portions of Idaho. It is thought the road will eventually be used by the Northern Pacific and the Union Pacific as part of a huge cut-off plan to shorten the line from the Puget Sound country west. Arrangements are being made for joint facilities at Lewiston by the Union Pacific and Great Northern.

What Will the Spring Bring?

What the spring will bring forth on the way of railroad building is a problem which is known only to the railroad managers, and they won't tell. While it has been practically definitely announced that the Burlington will build its second line through Wyoming, General Manager Holdrege, who returned recently from New York says the matter stands just as it has for some time. Residents of Wyoming, and especially the Big Horn basin, are looking for the railroad to be built next year and expect to start early in the spring.

Several large grading outfits are now represented in Omaha and are looking for work to open up with the first disappearance of freezing weather. Kilpatrick's have moved some of their large steam shovels to the North Platte extension and are expecting to resume work on that road in the spring. General Manager Mohler says his company has not definitely decided on what work will be taken up in the spring.

Union Pacific Beautifies Grounds.

W. L. Park, general superintendent of the Union Pacific, has returned from a western trip which included Denver. There after a conference with Mayor Speer, Mr. Park agreed that the Union Pacific would start a campaign to make the railroad approaches into Denver more beautiful and slightly instead of the eyesores of which the people of Denver have complained for some time.

The same policy has been followed by the Union Pacific in Omaha and two sides of Union station are now parked with green grass growing in summer time. This park scheme has been extended west to Third leenth street and it is the purpose of the road to beautify the right-of-way from the station to Summit, where the Lane Cut-Off branches from the main line. The work of building four through lines from the bridge to Summit is complete and the road is now ready to plant some grass seed along the right-of-way.

Mr. Park says he favors the plan of parking the tracks and depot entrances and building tree or shrubbery fences, and this policy has been carried out for some time in many of the smaller towns along the Union Pacific. That road has been making vast improvements along its right-of-way in building double tracks and enlarging the track facilities at many of the stations, and this has interfered to a large extent with the plans for beautifying the grounds around the station, but as much of this work is nearing completion, the other will be pushed with greater vigor.

CUPID LOAFS ON THE JOB, TOO

Dan and His Friends, Stork, Are Reported to Be Asleep at the Switch.

"The stork is loafing," says Editor "Uncle" Henry G. Wallace of Wallace's Farmer, and member of the County Life commission.

"Cupid is loafing," say the "six justices of the peace of Omaha," and so says Marriage License Clerk Furay. Said the latter: "I have issued so far this year 1,706 marriage licenses, as against 1,322 covering the same period last year. A big falling off, but that isn't all of the story. I can't give you the exact figures, but a far larger number of licenses than were issued this year were afterward canceled, than was the case last year.

"Why were they canceled? Ask me something easy. I've puzzled my brain over that same question many a time. When a prospective groom comes in bubbling over with joy and gets a license and then in a few days comes sneaking back to have it canceled. Sometimes it's the woman who comes to have it canceled. Yes, Cupid has been loafing this year, but he may take a brass and start in the first of the year with a grand rush. Never can tell, you know."

"You have cheated those two men, according to my ideas of this case, based on the evidence," said Police Judge Bryce Crawford in court Thursday morning to George McNeal, agent for James A. McNeal was arrested Wednesday by Detectives Donahoe and McDonald on complaint of Peter Beard and Harry Dennis, who claimed that deceit had been used to obtain employment fees from them, and that the charges preferred against McNeal. The judge seemed to think that his agency

DAVID BENSON IS DEAD

Octogenarian Dies at Home of E. J. Brown Monday Morning.

David Benson, 84 years old, died of old age at the home of Ed J. Brown, 423 North Portland street, early Thursday morning. The funeral is to be held at the residence Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. T. J. McKay will conduct the services and interment will be in Forest Lawn cemetery.

As the husband of the woman who until her death in March, 1905, conducted a woman's furnishing goods store in the old Young Men's Christian association building on Sixteenth street, Mr. Benson was well known in Omaha. He had lived here for twenty-one years. Mr. Brown is the executor of the Benson estate and Mr. Benson had lived with him for some time. Two younger brothers survive him—Douglas of Erie, Pa., and C. W. of Dubuque, Ia. Mr. and Mrs. Benson had only one child, a son, who died before the family came to Omaha. Mr. Benson was a member of the Episcopal church, the Masonic lodge and the Grand Army of the Republic.

TWO BOYS GET THREE YEARS

"You Ought to Be Turned Over a Barrel and Spanked with Board."

"You ought to be turned over a barrel and spanked with a good big board," declared Judge Sears Thursday morning when he sentenced Sanford Brambery and Emil Syrak to three years each in the penitentiary for robbing a box car of a sack of sugar. The boys are both from the Kearney industrial school. They said they worked at a local candy factory.

Charles Covington pleaded guilty to entering the house of Lizzie Tolson. Covington is the chief witness in one of the cases against a local druggist for selling cocaine and sentence was deferred.

FOUGHT HARD TO RETAIN FORMULA THAT MADE MONEY

Court Decision Finally Gives Westerner Permanent Right to Remarkable Medicine.

L. T. Cooper, who believes that stomach trouble causes ninety per cent of the ill-health of the present generation, has been in New York three weeks. His claims are now admitted by an astonishing number of New Yorkers, and the young man is winning new adherents every day.

Cooper stated Tuesday that fifty thousand people in New York city alone are now trying his medicine. An hour spent at the young man's headquarters where he is meeting the public, would indicate this statement to be correct. Judging from the numbers who called in that length of time.

In speaking of his success, recently, Cooper said: "I believed ten years ago that anyone who could produce a formula that would regulate the stomach would have a fortune. When I got hold of this formula I knew within a month I was right and my fortune was made. I called the medicine Cooper's New Discovery, although I did not get up the formula. I have owned it, however, for three years. I have had one law suit over it, which I won in the Cincinnati courts. When it was settled The Cooper Medicine Company of Dayton, Ohio, became the only company in the world that can prepare the medicine. The medicine has sold like wildfire wherever introduced. I knew it would be just as successful in New York as it was in the West. That is why I said, when I first arrived, that thousands would buy it before I left."

Statements obtained by agents from a number of Cooper's customers who have tried the medicine are as follows: Among them Mr. Oscar Danner, of 73 Nelson street, Brooklyn, was especially emphatic. He said: "I am a well man after four years constant indigestion and stomach trouble. Anyone who had ever had indigestion knows what this means. I don't think anything about this Cooper medicine—I know. I know it has made life a different thing for me. I don't believe Cooper ever had a more skeptical man taking his medicine than I was when I started, because I had tried everything on the face of the globe trying to get relief. I actually refused to believe the medicine was helping me the first few days. I had to admit it, however. Today I sleep like a log, have a fine appetite and can eat anything. The medicine relieved the cause of my ill health almost at once."
