Pure Food Commissioner Visits Omaha Butcher Shops and in the Main Finds Them to Be

LINCOLN, Dec. 16.-(Special.)-Labor Commissioner Ryder was in Omaha Tuesday to have a session with managers of department stores, some of whom were said to be ignoring, in the case of a few women, the ten-hour law as applied to female labor n Nebraska.

"It was what we may call a conciliation conference," said the commissioner. "Calling the managers of the big concerns into the offices of County Attorney English. they were informed that complaints, more or less definite, had been made. Then came explanations of conditions, principal among which was an admission that voluntary agreements had been entered into between girls and their employers by which the girls were released for several hours, perhaps, on certain days, and made up the time on Saturday.

court recently written by Justice Brewer in an Oregon cases, where it was held that no employe is competent to make any contract or arrangement for work or hours ment heretofore operating in some of the stores was held by Mr. English and myself to be unlawful, and it was also pointed out that where the law is strictly complied with no dissatisfaction exists.

Sillek May et Pardon. "The final result was that those managers in whose stores the rules have not een definite and certain agreed that women work over ten hours. The word 'must' will govern the matter.

We have had complaints of others than department stores on this matter of overworking female employes as to length of hours, but these have been easily straightened out.
