Prison.

John Murray's sore finger may have saved him a term in the penitentiary. He larceny, his accuser being a traveling man who stopped at the Arcade hotel, where Murray had been working. Several days ago he caught his hand in the door of one of the cells and mashed the first finger. Physicians declared he ought to be where the finger could be treated in order to prevent blood potsoning. County Attorney English allowed him to plead guilty to petit larceny and Judge Sears gave him thirty days in jail, dating the sentence back thirty days, so as to let him out at once.

We want every man, woman and child to know the wonderful cures offseted by the Austro-American treatment in chranto and hervous diseases of men and women, also eptiepsy, stomach and bowel trouble, kidney and bladder diseases, etc. To accomplish this we are willing to stand all the expense of treatment, with the exception of a nominal charge for medicines used. We predict that when the people learn to know the Austro-American treatment it will become universal. Individual prescriptions are comcounded for each case and we use only the purest alkaloids-no crude drugs. Our method, which consists in locating the cause of the trouble and treating it rather than the symptom, which is only the out ward manifestation, is invariably successful. There are some cases which come to us that have been neglected so long that even the Austro-American treatment cannot cure them. These we tell, firmly but kindly, that they cannot be cured. However, this should not deter people from coming to us, as we accomplish cures daily which have proven obdurate to ordinary
