MARKET OF THE WEST

"BOOST" is the watchword of the modern business man. Every enterprising community boosts for its home institutions. Let the Omahans and Nebraska boost for the South Omaha Live Stock Market. It is a home institution grown to national prominence and now ranks third among the large live stock markets and packing centers of the United States. By merit alone it has won its high place.

The increased slaughtering capacity of its large and modern packing establishments; the increasing demand from smaller packing houses outside which have no regular markets, and the constantly increasing feeder trade, are all instrumental in creating at South Omaha a market for almost unlimited quantities of Cattle, Hogs and Sheep.

SOUTH OMAHA'S HOG MARKET is attracting shippers from territory which is tributary to other markets. A comparison of prices is the explanation.

ITS CATTLE MARKET continues the best on the Missouri river.

ITS SHEEP MARKET is conceded to be the only close rival of Chicago.

ITS HORSE AND MULE MARKET is noted the country over. The range horse season, which will soon be over will be closely followed by the special sales of native horses and mules. Keep a lookout for the advertisements of John S. Cooper and E. W. Anspach, the big dealers in all classes of horses and mules at South Omaha.

The stock yards service and facilities for handling live stock are unexcelled in the west.

The fine sales pavilion for pure bred stock will be in demand this winter. Those desiring to engage it should communicate with the Stock Yards Company.
