CHARITY ACTOR IS ROBBED

While Carl Herring Rehearses "Oliver Cromwell" Thief Touches Him.

SMALL-BORE ROGUES' BUSY NIGHT

Porch Climbers and River Rats Take Everything from a Few Cents Up They Can Get Their Hands On.

While Carl E. Herring was rehearsing Oliver Cromwell, for sweet charity, a scamp stole his purse containing $30, gold watch and chain and Elks pin. It occurred Friday night when Mr. Herring and his associates in the local talent company were rehearsing their play at the Lyric theater. Petty thieves and burglars still continue their nightly business, but those of greater caliber have not been heard of in Omaha for some time.

D. C. Lewis of 1919 South Twenty-eighth street was the intended victim of one of these money burglars, but it so happened that there was no cash in the house Friday night, except 90 cents in Mr. Lewis' trousers pocket. The unwelcome visitor ransacked the house from top to bottom, opening drawers and rummaging through clothes, but nothing save the 90 cents was taken, all the jewelry and silverware being left by the burglar, who is set down as a crank by the police.

A window raser entered the home of W. M. Barnam, 2812 Shirley street, Thursday night and stole $13. Nothing else was touched. A trunk belonging to Frank Stataney and kept in his room at 703 Leavenworth street, was broken into. The thief took only a new $5 bill and Stataney's watch and chain.

Someone visited A. R. Callahan's room at the Merchants hotel Friday while the occupant was not there, and left with a pocketbook containing $10 which Mr. Callahan had placed under his pillow the night before.

The largest burglary reported to the police during Friday or Saturday was the theft of $80 from F. J. Rockwell's home while the family was moving from 4323 Grant street. It is not known who took the money, as everyone connected with the work of moving was busy at the time.

LAND AND MONEY FOR WOMAN

Half of Homestead and $5,000 Given by Father to Mrs. Lomilla McLean.

In the case of the estate of William Hopper, who left six deeds by which he provided for the descent of his property to his heirs, Mr. McLean, a non-in-law, says the estimate that the estate was worth $200,000 is excessive. He says $75,000 is the limit of its valuation.

These six deeds have been held by County Judge Leslie to be a legal part of the will of Mr. Hopper. Some heirs have contested the will. One of these is Mrs. Lomilla McLean. It has been stated that she filed her contest because her father gave her no property outright, but only a lien for $5,000 on a farm he gave to Gilbert Hopper.

EIGHT FINED FOR GAMBLING

One Other Man is Charged with Keeping House Where Gambling is Conducted.

On charges of gambling, eight men were convicted in police court Saturday morning and fined $10 and costs each, while J. D. Reynolds, 283 1/2 North Sixteenth street, and J. E. McCann, 704 North Sixteenth street, charged with keeping disorderly houses, where the alleged gamblers were arrested, received fines of $25 and costs each. The cases will be appealed, according to the statements of the men.

The eight men receiving the $10 fines were J. H. Bennett, 122 Douglas street; Joe Goff, 317 Franklin street; Carl Clark, 814 South Twenty-fifth street; Joe Anderson, 1217 South Eighteenth street; George Lee, 1549 North Nineteenth street; Oscar Bloomenthal, Forty-sixth and Pacific streets; L. Rosenthal, 105 South Fortieth street, and Ernest Allen, 515 South Thirtieth street. The men were arrested late Wednesday night and early Thursday morning at the two places kept by Reynolds and McCann. The raids were made by Police Sergeants Hayes, Cook and Vanous and Patrolmen Chapman, Brugman and Unger. Eleven arrests were made and all but one of the men were found guilty.

POOL ROOMS FREE OF LAW

Not Prohibited from Night Operations by Any Statute on the Books.

Following the arrest of two pool room proprietors about 1 o'clock Friday morning on the charge of keeping open after hours it develops that there is no law prohibiting pool rooms to conduct their business after midnight or any other hour. The charges against the men were dismissed and the police wish it understood that they are not responsible for any pool hall keeping open late at night or on Sunday, as there is no statute or ordinance under which they may act in such cases.

The only ordinance used by the police against pool hall men is the one prohibiting minors to play. A case of this kind was prosecuted and a conviction secured in police court during the last week. When pool and billiard rooms prove bothersome to citizens, the police say they can only prevent it by considering the place a disorderly house and proceeding on that ground.

TWO SCHOOL BOARD BILLS

Holovitchner Wants Third of Number Elected Each Year.

NO PARTISANSHIP IN MEASURE

Jim Connolly, Legislator-Elect, Proposes Eighteen Instead of Twelve Members of the Board of Education.

Two bills changing the method of electing members of the Omaha Board of Education have been drawn by J. P. Connolly, member-elect of the legislature, and Dr. E. Holovitchner, defeated for re-election at the primaries, member of the Board of Education, and they will be presented to the legislature this winter. The bills are similar in the one respect that members shall be elected from the various sections of the city, but in other respects are radically different.

Mr. Connolly proposes to have a board of eighteen members instead of twelve as at present, not more than half of the members to belong to one political party. He proposes to divide the city into nine election districts with two members from each district, not more than one of whom shall belong to the same party. One third of the members shall be elected every year.

Dr. Holovitchner proposes to have but twelve members, one-third elected each year, and one from each ward. Party affiliations do not enter into the doctor's bill. The present board is composed of twelve members elected at large, with the result that the southern part of the city was not represented until Dr. Holovitchner was appointed to the board. The doctor is the only member living south of Leavenworth street in which district are four wards, the First, Second, Seventh and Tenth. The other eleven members live in the western and northern part of the city. W. B. Christie lives on Burdette street, Paul W. Kuhns on Franklin, James C. Lindsay on Evans, Dr. J. H. Vance on Emmet and David Cole on Binney, all in the northern part of the city. J. O. Detweiler and F. B. Kennard live on West Dodge, Charles Harding on West Douglas, J. L. McCague and George D. Rice on West Harney, J. O.

THE PURITAN-HUB LAUNDRY

We give the same attention to rips and buttons that mothers gave when gentlemen were boys. We may excel your mother on the finish. Corset Launderers of Gentlemen's Lives.

Phillipi on West California and J. W. Maynard on West Burt street, all in the western part. A. C. Kennedy lives on South Thirty-second and Carl E. Herring, appointed in the place of Robert Dempster, lives on Leavenworth street.

MR. BRYAN NOT TALKATIVE

Former Democratic Leader Has Nothing to Say to the Interviewers.

W. J. Bryan, chief orator of the National Corn exposition Saturday, was unable to arrive in Omaha, but not so loquacious as when pursuing the somewhat elusive presidential office.

"What do you think of the contention of Judge Gary of the Steel trust that that corporation can get along after a fashion without the tariff, but that the trust's small competitors would be wiped out by removal of the duty?"

"I would not answer a question like that offhand," replied Mr. Bryan, who further intimated that he would like to think the query over and then reduce his answer to writing.

This was the only question bordering on politics which three interviewers were able to insert amid the welcomes which were extended Mr. Bryan by the committee on reception. This included G. W. Watters, W. H. Watson, managing editor of the World-Herald; Very Rev. G. A. Beecher and T. J. Nolan. Mr. Bryan did, however, vouchsafe the information that he leaves Omaha Saturday evening for Pennsylvania, where he will deliver three addresses.

MOTOR CARS IN BIG DEMAND

McKeen Shops Turn Out One a Week and Fill Short of Orders on Hand.

The McKeen Motor Car company is turning out motor cars at the rate of a car a week and at that is not able to supply the demand for these cars from all sections of the country. Nearly every large railroad is sending these cars and the orders are being filled as fast as possible. The company will soon be in its larger quarters, the old car shops of the Union Pacific, which are being rapidly vacated as the machinery and men are transferred to the new magnificent car shops which are nearing completion. W. R. McKeen is rapidly recovering from his extended illness and as soon as he is able to be in harness again it is thought the force will be increased at the McKeen shops and the output of motor cars increased.

RALSTON RATE INVESTIGATED

Matter is Received by Railway Commission, Which Will Deliberate Before Ruling.

Dr. H. J. Winnest and Henry T. Clarke, Jr., members of the Nebraska Railway commission, were in Omaha Saturday to investigate the Ralston rate situation.

Ralston is a station on the Burlington & Missouri three miles west of South Omaha, and local capitalists are striving to build a manufacturing center at that place.

On November 26, both the Missouri Pacific and the Burlington raised the rates on building material to Ralston, making the rates in some cases several hundred per cent higher than they were before.

The complainants wish to have Ralston remain within the switching zone of Omaha and to have switching rates the same as are enjoyed by Portal, a station which is beyond Ralston. The previous rate was from $2.50 to $5 a car, but on the raise to a per hundred basis the rate in some cases was raised to $10 a car.

The members of the commission arrived in Omaha Saturday morning over the Burlington and were at once taken to the Missouri Pacific depot where a special train was waiting to transfer them to Ralston, where they had an opportunity to see the situation. Ralston already has a large number of switching tracks installed and is preparing for the building of several large manufacturing plants.
