

The Stomach Does Not Cause Dyspepsia

Neither Will It Cure It Because the Lack of Gastric Juices Prohibit Relief.

The stomach is a strong, powerful organ, which is composed of muscles of great strength. It is filled during digestion with gastric juices which, when the stomach, extending and compressing the food, dissolve it and separate the nourishment from the waste matter. If, however, these gastric juices are lacking, the stomach is not capable of digesting its food because it has not the tools with which to work successfully.

The gastric juices when in a perfect state do away with all foul odors, fermentation and decay, reduce the food to a disintegrated mass and the stomach then presses it into the intestines where another form of digestion takes place. Then the intestines take from this mass of food all that is nourishing and give it to the blood. The waste matter it throws from the system.

If instead of nourishment the intestines receive impure deposits combined with a poisonous and imperfect gastric juice, it can be readily seen that they must turn such imperfect nourishment into a poison. The blood thereby being unable to give each part of the body that which it requires, becomes impoverished and disease is spread broadcast.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets corrects such a condition at once. If the gastric juices are lacking or imperfect the tablets do their work just the same. They build up the elements in the juice which are lacking and remove those elements which cause disturbance.

Meat, grains, fluids, vegetables and delicacies, in fact each portion of a large meal have been placed in a glass vial and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have digested them to a perfect fluid just as a healthy stomach would do.

A large complex, hearty meal holds no terrors for a dyspeptic if Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are used. Abnormal eating, late dinners, rich foods cause ill effects to the stomach, but when Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are used one may eat when and what one will without danger of dyspepsia or discomfort.

Forty thousand physicians endorse and prescribe Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and every druggist carries them in stock, price 50c. Send us your name and address and we will send you at once by mail a sample package free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

COURT ORDER BARS BOARD

Temporary Injunction Secured by Water Company.

KEEPS MEMBERS OUT OF OFFICE

Representatives of Water Board Go to City Hall and Advise Public Against Paying the Old Water Rates.

Officials of the Omaha Water board were barred out of the office of the Omaha Water company Tuesday morning by a restraining order issued late Monday afternoon by Judge W. H. Munger in the United States circuit court and the coup planned by the board against the company thereby was defeated.

The board Saturday evening decided to place a representative in the office of the water company in the city building and another in the office of the board in the city hall for the purpose of explaining to consumers the basis of the new schedule of rates adopted a couple of months ago and ordered to go into effect January 1, 1909. The consent of the company was asked or secured when the action of the board became known the company officials, together with their attorneys, held a conference which resulted in the petition in federal court for a restraining order against the board or the officials of the company.

Order Secured Quietly

The restraining order was secured late in the afternoon and members of the board knew nothing of it until Secretary Koenig of that body presented himself at the office of the company in conformity with the board's orders to advise people not to pay the old rate. No time was lost in explaining to the secretary that he was enjoined from interfering, and that official then gathered up his books and adjourned to the city hall where he, G. E. Bertrand, the city hall clerk, and a stenographer held forth during the day, attending to a long line of callers after information.

The restraining order has nothing to do with the actions of members or employees of the Water board from doing what they please in their office in conformity with the board's orders to advise people not to pay the old rate.

Callers at the office of the board were told not to pay the present rate, but the refusal of the company to accept the lower rate on pain of having the water turned off resulted in all paying the present schedule. On the bills of those who paid under protest, however, the clerks in the office stamped across the face of the receipts this statement: "Upon presentation hereof, we will refund the amount paid hereon in excess of rates specified in order of the Omaha Water board of October 24, 1908, provided such order be finally held valid by the courts. The Omaha Water company."

Two years ago when the board ordered a lowering of the rate, the company accepted the lower rate under protest, but later, when the courts upheld the company the difference in rates was collected from the consumer.

Difference in Rates

Under the present schedule $6 a year is charged for water for a five-room dwelling house and 75 cents for each additional room. The new rates contemplate the paying of $4.00 for a five-room house and 90 cents for each additional room. Private baths under the present schedule cost $5.00, under the new rates they would cost $2.75. Under the present schedule 35 cents is charged for 100 to 500 gallons of water used with meter measurement and 30 cents for 500 to 1,000 gallons. The new rate for water with meter measurement is 35 cents flat for any quantity under 2,000 gallons.

Officials of the Omaha Water company maintain that the rates adopted by the Water board, if binding, will not go into effect until January 1, 1909, and that therefore all who pay now must pay under the old rate, even though the money paid is for water to be used after the first of the year. By paying before January 1, the consumer gets a rebate of 5 per cent from his bill and when he has shown this together with the fact that the company will refund any excessive amount provided the courts hold that the board is in the right he generally pays.

The hearing on the restraining order was set for Tuesday morning, but as neither of the parties was ready no date has been set for it. In the meanwhile the restraining order will continue in force and effect until the application for an injunction can be heard and determined.

WHEAT GOES TO LABORATORY

Entries in Corn Exposition Contest Will Be Subjected to Test Before Awards Are Made.

Wheat competing for first and second prizes at the National Corn exposition, as well as the probable winning samples of oats, has been sent to the laboratories of the best mills of Minneapolis, and when the reports of experts is in, the prizes will be awarded.

Most of the wheat did not leave Omaha until Tuesday, and the result of the tests will not be known for ten days at least. Those interested in the wheat awards will have the consolation of knowing that the subject of their fairness will not be open to discussion. The samples have not only been judged by the best grain inspectors of the country, but a part of each sample has been milled, and another part of each will be given the laboratory test.

This is the first wheat competition ever held when the grains were so thoroughly tested, but the National Corn exposition early decided to give the wheat the most careful consideration, as grain inspectors have for years been grading some varieties of wheat so that it brought a lower price than others, when the expert growers have been of the opinion that the wheat was fairly tested it would be shown to be as good as any variety on the market. This is true with what is known as durum wheat.

The offices of the exposition were moved to 906 Bee building Tuesday, and the entry clerks are still at work sending orders for premiums.

J. Wilkes Jones, general manager of the exposition, will leave in a few days for the west, where he has some property to look after. He will return soon after the first of the year to be with the executive committee and directors when the work is gone over.

DOGS AT THE POULTRY SHOW

Three Hundred High Class Females Will Be on Exhibition at Auditorium.

The entire stage of the Auditorium will be utilized next week by the Nebraska Kennel club at the Transmississippi Poultry show and over 300 high-class dogs will be exhibited with no extra charge for admission. W. T. Hood, secretary of the Nebraska Kennel club, residing at 1415 Jefferson street South Omaha, is devoting his entire time this week to preparing for the show and is being assisted by Charles Benson and M. J. Greivy, president and vice president of the club. The officers of the club will exhibit their dogs, but will not enter them for the premiums. Mr. Benson owns the Carnation Kennels.

The Transmississippi Poultry association has given $300 in premiums for the kennel exhibition and to this amount will be added purses by the club and special prizes by the merchants, making the purses quite attractive.

Entries already have been received from Denver, St. Louis and other cities besides a large number from towns near Omaha. E. R. Day, who has kennels of nearly forty St. Bernards, will enter a large number of this class. Every effort is being made to make the kennel show one of the features of the big show next week.

R. A. Newlyn of Landstown, Pa., has been secured to judge the kennels, and as he has a national reputation all may expect fair treatment. The first and second prizes in each class will be cash and the third prize will consist of a ribbon. In addition to those a large number of special prizes will be given. Mr. Hood, secretary of the Nebraska Kennel club, will act as superintendent of the dog department of the show. No arrangements have been made or prices offered for cats.

PAPE FREE, MAURER REPAID

Man Who Took Money from Employer Is Released With Penalties Are Covered.

F. A. Pape, the young man who confessed to embezzling $2,000 of the money of his former employer, Ed Maurer, has been released from custody and Mr. Maurer has been partially reimbursed and accounted for the balance.

Mr. Maurer's promise was that if the money was repaid he would not prosecute. He has fulfilled that promise, and further than that, he has kept his mouth shut as to the details of the settlement.

But as a matter of fact, the greater portion of this $2,000 has already been returned and the balance is secured by notes.

Certain religious influence, it is authoritatively stated, was exercised in behalf of an adjustment of this matter. A clergyman participated in a conference with Mr. Maurer, Captain Savage, Detectives Dunn and Ferris and relatives and friends of Pape at the police station Tuesday morning, following which Pape was released.

Pape says he will leave Omaha. Mrs. E. S. Johnson, the Chicago woman to whom Pape sent about $2,000 by telegraph during the years 1907-08, and who has been under surveillance, but not under arrest, for almost a week, was allowed to leave the matron's department.

C. & S. DEAL PART OF BIG PLAN

Gives Hill and Harriman All North and South Lines.

FEEDERS FOR THE GREAT TRUNKS

One by One These Roads Are Annexed as Outlets to the Gulf for the Transcontinental Railroads.

The announcement of the acquisition of the Colorado & Southern by the Burlington brings up the fact that all the north and south lines, which for years were thorns in the sides of the owners of the great transcontinental lines, are being grabbed up and absorbed by these giant east and west roads.

One by one these north and south lines which were looked upon as the great benefactors of the middle west country in that they would give an outlet for the products of the valley states to the Gulf, have been made parts of one or the other of the cross-country roads. The Port Arthur & Gulf was first absorbed by Harriman and the practically dismantled as far as the Omaha end was concerned; then the Frisco was absorbed by the Rock Island, the Illinois Central was secured by Harriman and now Hill takes over the Colorado & Southern.

With the completion of Hill's second line across Wyoming, which is to be one of the first large undertakings of the spring, Hill will have a direct connection between the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific and the southern states and the Gulf. When Hill first built the Great Northern the route was great from the west than to the west and to increase this westbound tonnage and also to provide cargoes for his boats. Hill had agents working through the south to induce the cotton producers to ship their cotton to the Pacific northwest for the China trade and thus the Great Northern got the long end of the tonnage. This new through line from the southern states to the Great Northern will, it is claimed give Mr. Hill this oriental trade on cotton all the way from the south to Seattle.

Pacific Coast Lines Fall

Since the legislative enactment that prevents Hill or Harriman absorbing land freight rates it has been seriously asserted that oriental commerce on the Pacific will not become lucrative to American lines, not until conditions are radically changed. Hill today is operating just steamship and Harriman three, and all at a loss. The reason given is that they cannot compete with the Suez lines. The latter load their cargoes on the Atlantic seaboard and start for the orient with only a water charge to their shippers, while the patrons of the Pacific coast lines must pay for land transportation from the point of shipment to the coast and on to the Pacific coast and then pay water transportation. Only by absorbing this land rate, it is argued, can the Pacific magnates hope for success, and until congress takes some different view of the matter, they cannot absorb the rate.

The Colorado & Southern also will give Mr. Hill an almost exclusive hold on certain cattle business which amounts to thousands of cars annually. Every spring Texas ships to the ranges of Wyoming and Montana a good many thousand cars of cattle, which are fattened on the ranges and then shipped to the Missouri river markets or Chicago. On this business Mr. Hill will see the business going on coming, the Colorado & Southern handling the cattle from the south to the north and the Burlington bringing the fattened cattle to market.

What Stillwell Did

When in the early '90s Stillwell started to build the Kansas City, Pittsburg & Gulf railroad from Omaha to Fort Arthur, the people of Omaha and Kansas City thought they saw in that line a proposition which would force a reduction to the east and west rates by competition because the gulf is much nearer to Omaha than either the Atlantic or Pacific seaboard. Things did not run smooth for Mr. Stillwell and he soon found that the business was not what he had gobbled up sufficient of the stock. Mr. Stillwell was able practically to dismantle the line between Omaha and Kansas City. The Quincy, Omaha & Kansas City, which was part of that scheme, is now under the control of the Burlington and is operated as an independent line. The Omaha & St. Louis, which was another part of the scheme, is now a part of the Wabash between Omaha and St. Louis. The Port Arthur line is now owned by the Dutch syndicate and is quite a lumber and oil line, passing through the Beaumont oil fields and running between Kansas City and Port Arthur.

There was another line which was making inroads on the business of the transcontinentals and it was bought up by the Rock Island system.

Rumors are always flying around that this road or the other has absorbed the Katy line, but these all turned out wrong and the Katy is still independent, although it is believed to be on the market. Large sums are spent annually in improving it, the territory through which it passes is constantly developing and the capitalists who now want to buy will have to pay a much larger price than several years ago.

The Katy's Package Contracts

The Katy has valuable package contracts with the Burlington and enjoys unlimited privileges between St. Louis and the country north as far as Alton, with trackage across the Mississippi at Alton. It connects with the Burlington at Hannibal and at Kansas City with all the roads. It then runs through the states of Iowa, Oklahoma and Texas and its 3,072 miles has an outlet at the gulf at Galveston. It is now thought that Rockefeller has a controlling interest in the road. Persistent rumors have floated around during the last twenty years as to the ownership of the Katy, but these have all been denied and now that Mr. Hill has bought the Colorado & Southern these rumors probably will be set at rest.

The Mobile & Ohio, a north and south line running between St. Louis and Mobile, a distance of 945 miles with branches making a total of 1,000 miles, was absorbed by the Southern railway in 1900. The Southern is dominated by J. Pierpont Morgan. The Southern runs from Norfolk and Washington to St. Louis, Little Rock, Memphis, Greenville and Mobile so that the Mobile & Ohio was connecting link between the western terminals of this big system which spreads its lines all over the south.

The Wisconsin Central is another north and south line which has recently been absorbed, having been bought by the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, which is controlled by the B. & O. The Wisconsin Central, Cedar Rapids & Northern, the another north and south line of some prominence which was taken over by the Rock Island system.

Always on the Market

One road which constantly stays on the market is the Minneapolis & St. Louis and also the Iowa Central of which Edwin Hawley is president. These lines connect Minneapolis with central Iowa and then connect with St. Louis and Kansas City by means of the Wabash. Omaha, Chicago and Sioux City are reached by the Illinois Central. It has often been thought that Mr. Harriman would buy these lines. For years the Illinois Central remained a big independent line from Chicago and the middle west to the gulf. Harriman tried to absorb the line and then precipitated the long war between Harriman and Hill from control and Harriman securing this double-track outlet to the gulf.

The Illinois Central still continues to be operated as a separate system in spite of the Harriman control and, although it connects at Omaha with the Union Pacific, no change has been made in the traffic arrangements which have existed for years between the Union Pacific and the other Omaha-Chicago lines.

Whether the Colorado & Southern will be operated as a separate line or whether it will be united with the Burlington under one management remains to be seen. It has been the history of the Hill regime that when the Burlington secures a line it is immediately made part of that great system which is one of the best advertised in the country.

MEN HURT AT AUDITORIUM

Three Workmen Seriously Injured in Wrecking Booths of Corn Exposition.

A temporary platform on the south wing of the Auditorium stage used for storing lumber during the Corn show, gave way suddenly Tuesday morning about 10:30 o'clock and three workmen engaged in demolishing the booths were partially buried in the timber and debris that was precipitated to the floor of the stage from a height of about fifteen feet.

Roy Fluckey, 208 South Twentieth street, and F. R. Calkin, 238 Pierce street, were taken to the Omaha General hospital and attended by Drs. E. R. Porter and E. Holm. J. E. Rentfrow, 1723 North Twenty-seventh street, was hurt by having his left arm and back strained and bruised, but he was not taken to the hospital. A foreman for Lee McGrier, who was in general charge of the wrecking of the booths and other structures that had been put up for the Corn show, had been directing the work of taking down the booths, signs and other parts of the exhibits. Fluckey, Calkin and Rentfrow were working immediately under the temporary platform, which suddenly fell and hurt the three men before the foreman could warn them.

It is not known just what caused the platform to fall, but the work of demolishing the booths probably weakened the supports and the great weight of the lumber piled on the platform is thought to have resulted in the fall and accident. Calkins was the more seriously injured of the two men taken to the hospital. He had his right arm broken and suffered internal injuries. Fluckey has his head cut and bruised.

Woman's True Friend

Experimenting with new and untried medicines is foolish, and often dangerous. It would take a medicine more than forty years, to prove itself so universally good as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. During all that time it has been woman's favorite medicine—a restorative tonic, uplifting and invigorating the nervous and discouraged and giving them the final touch of perfect health.

Women use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in preference to all other advocated medicines for it contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs—is not anything like advertised, secret, or patent medicines—does not claim to be able to do impossible things.

THE ONE REMEDY for women devised by a regularly graduated physician of vast experience in the woman's ailments, and adapted to her delicate organism.

THE ONE REMEDY good enough that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper.

You can't afford to allow yourself to be over-persuaded into accepting any secret nostrum as a substitute for this honest square-deal non-secret medicine. Don't do it. No honest druggist will attempt to cheat you in this way. He who does should be rebuked and avoided. Doctors prescribe Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for their worst cases because they know what it contains and know its ingredients to be of the very best.

It's well now and then to gently cleanse out bowel germs that breed weakness, cause foul breath, loss of appetite, dizziness and headache. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets keep bowels sweet and clean. Recommended by druggists because of their purity, goodness, and active ingredients.
