Extra Special Thursday Beautiful Colored Dress Goods Just One-Half Price

Thursday to be one of the great days of our Clearing sale. Here and there all through the colored dress goods department we have taken out all broken lines, three and four colors left, but this does not lessen their value to you. And to these we have added some special purchases from makers and importers. No matter how nice or what they cost, all these lines must go. Note carefully the kind of goods and special reductions for Thursday. No cheap, trashy goods, but each piece of very superior quality. You are asked to cut this out, bring it with you. We will match every quality and price here quoted. We will give you the greatest value Thursday you ever bought in your life.

and plenty. He called Representative Shoemaker from the caucus which was being held by the Douglas delegation.

"Well, what do you fellows intend to do?" he asked.

"Well, I don't see that we can do anything," answered Shoemaker. "You see we have only one employer each and—"

"I don't want a job from you fellows," broke in Mundy, with his fur bristling. "I wanted the Douglas delegation to sign an endorsement for me to Governor Shallenberger. Don't sign it if you don't want to. If you think you can refuse to sign it all right. Give me that paper. I don't want you to sign it."

Not much; Judge Shoemaker grabbed the excited Mundy and gave a sign on the door, which brought out two or three of the busy boys and Mr. Mundy was immediately ushered into the sacred presence of Grand Chief Ransom, and Flynn, and Fanning, and Howell, and Tanner, and the scared house delegation. He came out shortly without a ruffle on his face. Mundy is employed at one of the packing houses.

The fact that the members of the senate will have about three appointees each evidently reached Douglas county before it was known, and last night there was a bunch of workers hand ready to get annexed to the pay roll.

"We can't do anything yet," said Howell, "because we don't know the qualifications of the candidates. We can't appoint clerks who cannot attend to the work. Names are presented to us and then we have to look the people up and see what kind of a job they are qualified for."

Shoemaker has decided to be chairman of the judiciary committee of the house and Stoecker and Thomas both want to be chairman of the committee on cities and towns. Their case will be left to the speaker and, as Thomas failed to vote for Pool, he is seriously handicapped.

Shoemaker is almost sure to land at the head of the judiciary committee, for, strange as it may seem, there are so far discovered only two practicing lawyers among the majority in the house, Shoemaker and Thomas. This will make these two the guardians of the constitution and they will be compelled to pass upon the legality of all bills. That is one reason Shoemaker desires the job at the head of the judiciary committee; he is anxious to save the constitution.

The Douglas county senators slipped a cog yesterday and, though it was a one, it demonstrated that they had overlooked no bet in winding up the organization of the upper house. Wiltsie of Cedar caused it when he made the motion for the appointment of a committee of three on credentials. Wiltsie, Howell and Henry of Coiffax were appointed on the committee.

This did not suit Howell.

"You didn't treat us right on this," he said to Wiltsie. "We had a committee selected for this job, selected in the caucus. I could not find the list and you got ahead of me with your motion."

"What right have you fellows to name a credentials committee in a caucus," reported Wiltsie. "That doesn't look to me exactly right."

"Well, I simply misplaced the list of names," replied Howell, and he felt so badly about it that he and the other democratic member of the committee were sulky during the entire meeting of the committee.

Mr. Griscom today notified Count Tavera, president of the Italian Red Cross, that having received $100,000 from the American Red Cross, he had shipped this sum to the strait of Messina, where the wounded who left for Palermo last night was a young man whose eyes and right cheek had been horribly mutilated by dogs. After the earthquake he was buried in debris up to his neck and while thus unable to move was attacked by three of the animals and seriously hurt before his cries attracted help. Many people are shooting all vagrant dogs at sight and stray bullets are another danger in the city.

Gratitude for American Help.

Ambassador Griscom has presented formally to the Italian government the report of sympathetic aid given by the house of representatives at Washington. Foreign Minister Tittoni expressed his high appreciation of this act and said it would be given fitting acknowledgement.

Loan Talk

No. 5.

The true financial institution is the one whose members or depositors are its friends—friends in the real and not in the money making sense. Our growth is attributable to the fact that our members are our friends and have always worked for us. We have always stood ready not only to assist in saving money safely and profitably, but to advise relative to the purchase of homes. Many have availed themselves of this privilege and have profited by so doing.

If you contemplate securing a home we ask that you consult us and become one of us. We can not doubt be of assistance to you. We have assisted many thousands of people the past seventeen years. When it comes to borrowing money, ours is the cheapest place in Omaha from which to secure it, and we always have available funds.

NEW PERIL IN MESSINA

Rabid Dogs Attack Dead and Injured in Earthquake Stricken Italy.

MESSINA, Jan. 6.—Dogs now constitute one of the dangers to the earthquake refugees. These animals, starving and often rabid through lack of water, gnaw the corpses like hyenas and frequently attack the refugees themselves. Among the wounded who left for Palermo last night was a young man whose eyes and right cheek had been horribly mutilated by dogs.

After the earthquake he was buried in debris up to his neck and while thus unable to move was attacked by three of the animals and seriously hurt before his cries attracted help. Many people are shooting all vagrant dogs at sight and stray bullets are another danger in the city.
