STORY OF THE FIRST BATTLE

Or How Shallenberger's Staff Stuck the Commissary

CHARGE, SAYS COLONEL FANNING

Reconnoitering Capital City Marred by Loss of Charley Fanning's Uniform, Which Put Him on Warpath.

"Forward, march!" shouted Colonel C. Eldredges Fanning, and several of the ten Omaha colonels on the staff of the new governor fell into line.

"Present arms!" was the next command, and the colonels lined up at the counter.

"Order!" commanded Colonel Fanning, and the others signified that they would take something.

"Charge!" then commanded Fanning, and the colonels filed out. And the "order" was left to charge the account on his books.

This is the account of the first engagement of the colonels, as given by Vince McDonough, otherwise known as the Norman Mack of local democracy, who returned Friday from Lincoln, where he went to witness the inauguration of Governor Shallenberger and to attend the inaugural ball Thursday evening. McDonough followed the colonels for a time in the reconnoitering of the city and says that they presented a handsome appearance and that Colonel Fanning was "on the job" in giving commands.

Fanning Loses His Garb. Mayor Dahlgren left Lincoln before the inaugural ball, only staying long enough to see the new governor vested with the mantle of authority. When he left at four o'clock in the afternoon Colonel Fanning, to use the words of the mayor, "was tearing his shirt" because his uniform was lost. The expensive garb was packed in a trunk and billed for Lincoln, but it was lost somewhere enroute and the combined efforts of the colonel and his spies could not locate it. The express office were ransacked and the wires between the capital city and Omaha were kept hot in an effort to find the uniform, but up to the hour of the mayor's departure it was still a missing quantity.

"George Parks of South Omaha luckily had a Robert Emmet suit with him and he offered it to Colonel Fanning," said the mayor, "but whether the brave soldier wore it at the ball or whether he found his uniform, I can not tell."

Gas Decision Causes Failure. NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Failure of customers to protect the holdings of Commodities Gas at the time of the severe decline in that stock following the decision upholding the 80-cent law is alleged to have been the cause of the failure of the firm of Hacklock, Baxter & Seed, which was announced on the Consolidated Stock exchange. The firm, which was a trader, also was announced today on the same exchange.

TO COUNT NATION'S GAME BAG Sportsmen Aid Audubon Workers to Check Market Hunters—State Laws May Help.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—To measure the contents of Uncle Sam's game bag during the new year is the object of a concerted effort in which sportsmen from every section of the country are joining the National Association of Audubon Societies in this city today. Detailed records of each day's shoot are to be secured from every true sportsman, and required by law of everyone else, it is proposed, in all states where the Audubon and sporting interests will urge the crying need of legislation to this effect.

Unless the annual intruders upon the rapidly decreasing game of America are thus determined, the leaders of the new movement declared today, shooting, as a healthy recreation, will soon be killed in almost every region of the continent.

"That the health, crops and woods, as well as the sport, of many extensive localities are today seriously menaced by the extinction of game birds is demonstrated by the latest results of the scientific investigations of government authorities at Washington. Water fowl and shore birds will be shown in their natural capacity of destroying the anopheles mosquito as well as many other recognized distributors of deadly germs. Gulls, terns, and water birds of sea and inland water birds will be proven by ornithological experts to be wholesale destroyers of grasshoppers and a multitude of the insects which cause an annual crop and forest loss of nearly a billion dollars, or more than the entire national debt, as recently announced, according to the most recent calculations of the government bureau of entomology. The case of Salt Lake City, whose people have erected a monument to the gulls that saved all their crops from destruction by an insect plague will also be cited.

In every one of the state legislatures which are beginning to convene for the new year special efforts to obtain legal provision for this game census are being planned among organized sportsmen and Audubon workers. Where a hunter's license law is already in force the addition of a law to enforce the recording of all game birds and animals shot will be urged. It is proposed, in order to protect the true sportsman and to detect market hunters, to punish failures to report the season's shoot by a forfeiture of license, and false returns by proceeding as against perjury. Special blanks for the purpose are being prepared as an attachment to all hunters' license cards.

When the purpose and necessity of this widespread checking up of the nation's game bag recalls to the people at large the labor of compiling the records of the individual prowess of millions of hunters will be begun. In this gigantic task the officers of the National Association of Audubon Societies have been promised the hearty assistance of the directors of the National Conservation commission, a coordinate branch of which their organization has become by the special invitation of the authorities at Washington. This conservation movement they will forward as one of their principal activities for the new year, together with their regular work of education, bird care on reservations and legislative campaigning for general bird protection.

"The conservation of the dying races of the game birds and animals of this continent is an object for which we are finding every true sportsman ready and eager to co-operate with us," said William Dutcher, president of the National Association of Audubon Societies, at its headquarters, 141 Broadway. "The proposed census is the only sure way to determine the extent of the existing commercial bird butchery and the means to check it. Though we shall, of course, have to fight the organized and financially powerful market hunters at every step toward this end, I feel sure that the support of the sportsmen will help us greatly and that we may rely upon the support of every patriotic American as well. The whole public duty of this nation has just been reported as $97,949,781. With a known annual loss of many millions more than this, due to the growing inroads of the insects which our game birds destroy, I do not think Americans can ignore this subject much longer."

TO THE JEWS OF AMERICA. Appeal for Assistance for the Earthquake Sufferers. The American Jewish committee, in executive session assembled in New York City, expresses its deep sympathy with the Italian people in their distress. On behalf of American Jewry it sends the Italian people messages of encouragement and brotherhood, with the prayer that they may be strong and hopeful of the future. We call upon the Jews of America to open wide their purses and to contribute what they can to the funds now being gathered by the American Red Cross society. Let every Jew do his duty by his stricken Italian brother.

Contributions should be sent to the nearest local Red Cross treasurer or to the national Red Cross treasurer at Washington, D. C. HERBERT FRIEDENWALD, Secretary.
