Ice cutting has been proceeding steadily at Seymour lake by the Cudahy Packing company. Yesterday practically finished the cutting of the first crop. It usually requires two crops off the greater portion of the lake's surface to fill the large houses. The ice is still good, the warm weather of the last few days not having damaged the quality. This is explained, irst, from the fact that the ice was evered with snow. Secondly the sun has not shone on the ice since the warm weather was so pronounced. For this reason the product his not honey-combed as it usually does under a warm sun. The packing company has been running a good force of men and making the best of the issue concerning the case will not be ready cutting for over a week. Twentieth in the following letter:

SOUTH OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 20.—To the Editor of The Bee: I have noticed several articles in our daily papers lately regarding the grading of O street, and while they are trying to be fair in furnishing their readers with news, they are writing altogether from one side. Kindly let your papers have the truth and facta regarding the grading and opening of other streets in our city. When they read such facts and figures it will not be such a bug-aboo or look so bad to them. First, great stress is put upon the expense, which is quoted at $1.00. This is quoted, as strange as it, may appear, $10.00 too high. Twentieth in the following letter: as to look so had to tham. First, great stress is put upon the expense, which is quoted at $1,000. This is quoted as strange as it may appear, $10,000 too high, as the present bids will indicate when they are opened. Only $0,000 yards of dirt is required to make the fill at thirteen cents a yard it amounts to $11,700. Deduct the crossings and intersections which the city at large pays and it will leave between $8,000 and $8,000 instead of $21,000. As regarded and $10,000 instead of $10,000. these trips through snew mud and sleet it means a great deal more to them. Again, between 200 and 300 school children are daily attending the Jungman school on Twentieth and O streats. A large number of these children are living on the west side and are compelled to go all the way from one to six blocks out of their way each day. To them this means a great deal in unseasonable weather. All this hardship forced upon our fellow-citizens for the sake of filling and grading two blocks. Why should these tax-payers and home builders be considered less worthy of the benefits of city improvements? While it is stated their taxes do not amount to much, yet, when you consider they are building homes, paying taxes and supporting families out of their small earnings, they are contributing much to the city and are worthy as much consideration as the citigens that are living on the following streets, which have been payed and graded by the city at large: Twenty-fourth street, being paved twice: L. street, Missouri avenue, Q street, Thirlieth street, and Twenty-fifth street.

Of course, as above stated, it is said their taxes do not amount to much. Well, the laboring class of any city, as a rule, are not big taxpayers as individuals, but as a whole they amount to a great deal and they pay very liberally for the municipal advantages furnished them, especially in this part of the town east of Twentieth street, when you consider the fact that they have neither sewers, lighto, streets, or the proper fire and police protection. It should not be a question with progressive citizens about paving two blocks on O street, but every cross street from A street to the county line and from Twenty-fourth to Thirteenth, and the grading of all five of those streets would not amount to the expense of one grading of Twenty-fourth street.
