Hugh Jackson, allas Jack Curtain, the outlaw who killed Officer Smith, died at the General hospital at 5:39 o'clock Saturflay morning.

Gene Jackson, sister of the outlaw, was Gordon. at his bedside when he died, as was also the woman supposed to be Mrs. Berry of Bloux City. The doctor and nurses and Hannibal, Mo? Patrolmen Heil, Murphy and O'Connor were also present.

The breaking open of one of the gun shot wounds in the abdomen by his increasing restlessness during the last day, hastened Jackson's death, which probably would have resulted from pacumonia anyway. Bince Friday morning Jackson had been drate lime in paper. winking, and after midnight Friday, it was announced that he had only a few hours to live. For hours he knew no one, but just before dying he began to rest easier, and a priest administered the last rites.

EMPLOYE TOO FASCINATING

Such is Cited by Erastus Howell in Answer to Wife's Petition pires. for Divorce.

Erastus Howell did not make his wife milk the cows in the Howell dairy. Far from it. Howell, in fact, says he often urged his wife to go back to the house and sweep the parlor, or something of that sort. But Mrs. Howell would insist that she just loved to milk old Bossie and could not be kept away from the barn. According to Howell there was a reason, the reason being one H. C. Fyock, an all too fascinating employe, according to Howell again.

These statements are made in an answer to the petition for divorce filed by Mrs. Howell, although the phraseology is less flippant perchance. The defendant also entera a denial of the charge that he used fire and saved herself and the house from liquor to excess or at all, except once when a physician prescribed brandy. stove was easily put out.

Fyock, according to Howell, is a roome at Mrs. Howell's whenever he is in Omaha. Mr. and Mrs. Howell have been separated some time.

Stomach Guide

A Barometer Which Never Fails, Though Seldom Believed.

"Taste is the direct guide to the stomach; and the taste buds are connected by the nerves with the stomach itself, so that they represent its health or disorder. If the stomach or its juices are out of tone. the blood is fermented by a change in the alkaline or acid condition, and these reach the mouth both directly and indi-

"The taste buds are in the tongue, and are mounted by hairlike projections called papillae; they cover the surface of the tongue.

"When you taste these buds rise up and absorb the liquid; inform the nerves; the nerves tell the stomach, and the food is acceptable or not, just as the stomach feels.

The above remarks on taste come from an eminent authority and simply explain why when one smells cooking or sees food one thinks he can eat, but when he tastes he learns the stomach is out of business. To the person who cannot taste aright, who relishes no food and simply forces himself to eat, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets tion may or may not occur next week, hold the secret of shjoyable eating, perfect digestion and renewed general health Most men wait until their stomachs are completely sickened before they think seriously of assisting nature.
