AGONY OF ECZEMA BEYOND WORDS

Whole Body a Mass of Raw, Torturing Humor—Hair All Fell Out and Ears Seemed Ready to Drop Off—Clothing Would Stick to Bleeding Flesh—Hoped Death Would End Fearful Suffering.

"Words cannot describe the terrible eczema I suffered with. It broke out on my head and kept spreading until it covered my whole body. I was almost a solid mass of sores from head to foot. I looked more like a piece of raw beef than a human being. The pain and agony I endured seemed more than I could bear. Blood and pus oozed from the great sores on my scalp. From under my fingernails, and nearly all over my body, my ears were so crusted and swollen I was afraid they would break off. Every hair in my head fell out. I could not sit down, for my clothes would stick to the raw and bleeding flesh, making me cry out from the pain. My family doctor did all he could, but I got worse and worse. My condition was awful. I could not sleep, I could not eat, and I wanted death to come and end my frightful sufferings.

"In this condition my mother-in-law begged me to try the Cuticura Remedies. I said I would, but had no hope of recovery. But oh, what blessed relief I experienced after applying Cuticura Ointment. It cooled the bleeding and itching flesh and brought me the relief I had been seeking. The pain and agony I endured seemed more than I could bear. CONOR SWORE AT BISHOP

Then He Wondered if Prelate Visited Sickness Upon Him.

FACTS DEVELOPED IN WILL CASE

Sister of Testator Tells How Her Brother Talked When in the Sickness that Carried Him Off.

"Say, Ellen Jane, do you think the bishop could do anything to me?"

"Why, what do you mean?"

"Well, you know I swore at him and I thought he might have put this sickness on me."

Mrs. Ellen O'Connor testified in the county court Tuesday morning that when her brother, the late Joseph A. Connor, fell ill the last time he expressed a fear that his illness had been brought about by the Rt. Rev. Richard Scannell, bishop of the Roman Catholic diocese of Omaha. Mrs. O'Connor scouted the idea at the time saying, "Oh, don't be so superstitious!"

The examination of Mrs. O'Connor by C. Smyth for the proponents in the will case developed many interesting things Tuesday, one fact being that the estate is worth more than was supposed, being estimated at $500,000 instead of $400,000. The testimony of Mrs. O'Connor also had to do with the occasion when O'Connor became angry at the prelate.

"Gee, he made me hot," Mrs. O'Connor declared her brother said with reference to the bishop in telling her of the affair. "I swore at him and came away."

"What do you want to have anything to do with the man for, if you don't like him?" Mrs. O'Connor then asked her brother.

The testimony next turned again on the illness of O'Connor and his sister reiterated her statements about O'Connor's belief that Bishop Scannell brought this about.

"He always insinuated the bishop made him sick for swearing at him."

Cause of His Anger.

The cause of Connor's anger, it developed a little later, was elucidated through Rev. P. A. McGovern, pastor of St. Peter's church, and was due to the fact that the bishop had not attended the funeral of Mrs. Connor, wife of Joseph A. Connor, some years before.

"The bishop would have been glad to attend if he had been invited," said Father McGovern to Mrs. O'Connor.

When Bishop Scannell and Connor had met, it appears, the bishop spoke to Connor about a subscription to the new Catholic and Attorney Smyth, desiring to establish the time of this, asked the witness if she remembered.

"Why, you know, Mr. Smyth," was the answer, "they spoke to you, too."

"Yes," said Smyth, with a smile which was not unlike a sigh, "they did, but I want you to tell the court when it was."

"Oh! Judge Leslie knows," said Mrs. O'Connor. "They spoke to him, too, I guess."

Mrs. O'Connor's testimony covered in other respects ground which had been covered by previous witnesses, notably Miss Grace Connor, who was on the stand five hours Monday. Attorney Smyth asked Mrs. O'Connor in detail the agreement between the sisters of Joseph A. Connor, who are the natural heirs, with Miss Connor and Mrs. Lamb, Mrs. O'Connor's daughter.

"When the agreement was signed," was asked the witness, "did you realize that about $300,000 would be given Mrs. Lamb in Omaha that she might use as she pleased?"

"One hundred thousand is a pretty large sum to dispose of lightly," suggested Smyth. "It didn't bother me," answered the witness.

Mrs. Lamb Gives Testimony.

Mrs. D. J. Lamb was the principal witness of the afternoon and the examination of her as conducted by Attorney E. P. Smith developed the first atmosphere of acute feeling which has marked the trial. Mrs. Lamb pleaded vigorously with questions asked by the proponents as to whether she had any knowledge of the missing will in the days following the death of Connor, when Mr. and Mrs. Lamb were at the Connor house. The witness answered with snap and vigor and through the two hours which she occupied the stand she and the attorney seemed to be thoroughly antagonistic in spirit. Her testimony developed that it was she who proposed that Grace Connor should be made a one-fourth share in the estate with the others. Question after question was shot at her regarding the desk in which the will is held by the proponents to have been kept. Her examination was not concluded when the court ordered adjournment taken at 5 p. m.

Captain P. Mostyn, an intimate friend of Connor, preceded Mrs. Lamb, who is the daughter of Mrs. Ellison O'Connor and accordingly Connor's niece. Mostyn testified that Connor once proposed to establish a theological seminary to be known as the Joseph A. Connor institute and that Bishop Scannell sent him to his secretary, Father Colaneri, who rejected the proposal. A cemetery scheme was also rejected by the bishop.

DAVIDSON NOT FOR BOXING

Cannot Endorse New York Method of Exercise in the Public Schools.

Dr. W. M. Davidson, superintendent of the Omaha public schools, says he cannot endorse the New York proposition of including boxing among the exercises for the boys in the schools so as to develop bodily strength and attain lung development. The superintendent says that basic exercises for the children are more needed than the scientific boxing lessons as proposed by Coroner Harburger of New York in a bill which he will present to the state legislature of that state.

"Comparisons cannot very well be drawn between the crowded eastern centers of the cities of the United States," Dr. Davidson, "and therefore it does not follow that because indoor boxing in New York schools would be beneficial the same would be true in the west. Here we have other modes of exercise for the children."

"We are now bringing everything to bear on the proposition of organized play for the children and are trying to inculcate the spirit of play organized in the minds of the children. The old adage that 'all work and no play make Jack a dull boy' holds good today, but we want organized play which will be correlated to organized study."

Dr. Davidson endorses the installing of a gymnasium in the basement of the new Immanuel Baptist church and says he is strongly in favor of the departure, holding that it is not satisfactory as it would have been viewed a few years ago. He says this is a step toward the institutional church.

FURAY HAS PLAN FOR FUND

Council Considers Bond Redemption Fund Proposed for City.

City Treasurer Furay's recommendation that a bond redemption fund be created was yesterday afternoon referred by the council committee of the whole to the finance committee for consideration.

Councilman Funkhouser reported that State Senator Frank Ransom has introduced a bill providing for a levy of one-half mill in order to provide a redemption fund, but the committee to which the matter has been referred will undertake to figure out some way whereby a larger sum can be raised. A one-half mill levy will raise about $200,000 a year, but as the bonded debt is nearly $4,000,000 it would take a number of years to pay it off at the rate of $50,000 a year.

The city treasurer informed the council that buyers of bonds will not bid high for the city's paper in the face of the fact that the city has no provision for taking up the bonds when due other than the issuance of renewal bonds.

Though the council set aside $2,000 to remove the stone cats and dogs from the city hall, George Wood offered to take them down for $10, and his bid was accepted. Each animal and the base upon which it stands are hewn out of the same block of stone and for this reason it will be impossible to remove the "ornaments" without breaking them. It was the intention to put those of the basins not decomposed in the public parks, but the contractor may be forced to break them all.

PROPERTY FOR MRS. BICKNELL

By Settlement with Dr. Gifford She Becomes Owner of Valuable Real Estate.

Mrs. Adelaide L. Bicknell, wife of the late Dr. Bicknell, who was associated with Dr. Harold Gifford, was given a deed Monday by Dr. Gifford, whereby she becomes the owner of the property at Sixteenth and California streets recently bought by Dr. Gifford. The brick store building and lots formerly belonged to General Manderson and W. J. Burgess, and are valued at $40,000. They became Mrs. Bicknell's property, together with frame houses at Twenty-fourth and Dodge streets, in the settlement of the business affairs of the physicians.

SHELDON MOVE SLOW HERE

Live as Jesus Would Live Interests, but Has Not Stamped Out Omaha Preachers.

Omaha preachers are not a little interested in this latest religious movement, which some young people of Cleveland organized, and which was inspired by Rev. Charles H. Sheldon, book "In His Steps."

Mr. Sheldon of Topeka, Kan., was not the founder of the organization. He extended his hearty approval, however, and well wishes for its success.

Rev. F. T. Rouse of the First Congregational church gave a talk on the novel last Sunday evening at his church. He admits this little stir in Cleveland gave him the idea. There were stereotyped views and the talk was enjoyed by many.

Rev. R. Scott Hyde of Hancock Park Methodist church gives his approval to any movement that will, in his own words, bring any good to anyone.

"The sect is, however, so young in its growth, it yet remains to be seen what will be the outcome," he says.

Rev. J. W. Conley of the First Baptist church says:

"It is a pity they specified a time limit, which was set for two weeks. There was a report at the end of that time, which stated that some were inspired to go on trying to live up to what they thought was the way Christ lived. There has been little public parade, for which they are to be admired."

"Why, after all, try to form a movement," says Rev. W. S. Fulton of the Westminster Presbyterian church, "that causes sensation and notoriety and call it following in Christ's footsteps. When Christ himself was the most humble and modest of men."

ARMY GETS THE FINEST BEEF

Figures on the New Six Months Contract Interests the Retailers.

The government has just closed a six months' contract with Omaha packing houses for issue beef for the United States army for the several posts of the Department of the Missouri. The price for home delivered at Fort Crook is $5.70 per hundred pounds and for meat delivered at Fort Omaha $5.75 per hundred pounds. The specifications require that this beef must be prime steer stuff, trimmed squarely from the neck, fore limbs trimmed close to the brisket, and the quarters trimmed to the knee, and shall also be minus the kidneys and all kidney fat, and must be first-class beef in every particular. Cow meat will not be received under any consideration. For the same period of 1907 the prices were $5.12 per hundred for Fort Crook and $5.45 for Fort Omaha.

"The matter of the comparative prices of wholesale and retail beef in Omaha, as based on the government contracts, is interesting to some of the retail meat buyers who are paying fancy prices for neck meat and soup bones, to say nothing of round steaks, loins and tenderloins. The prices of the best cuts are now practically prohibitive to the person of moderate means, and particularly when the average run of meat sold to the Omaha retail trade is cow meat. The cost of supplying meat to Fort Omaha cannot, it is held, be any greater than to the retailer for the same period, whose average clientele is nearly as large as the Fort Omaha garrison."

A Religious Author's Statement.

For several years I was afflicted with kidney trouble. My back was suddenly stricken with a severe pain in my kidneys and was confined to bed eight days unable to get up without assistance. My urine contained a thick white sediment and I passed some frequently day and night. I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the pain gradually abated and finally ceased and my urine became normal. I cheerfully recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy. For sale by all druggists.

GALLAGHER'S GAME SPOILED

Enterprising Private of the Sixteenth Infantry Now Faces Grand Jury Charge.

Thomas Gallagher's thrift as a tobacco merchant has received a severe check through the cold, clammy interference of the government, and Gallagher now languishes in the Douglas county jail in consequence thereof. Mr. Gallagher is a private soldier of the Sixteenth Infantry at Fort Crook, who has been buying tobacco from the commissary department at a reduced rate and on tick and then selling it for cash to South Omaha parties. Had not Private Gallagher got drunk from the proceeds of his last investment, amounting to about $150, he might still be serving his Uncle Samuel in the khaki garb and doing his regular tricks of guard duty two hours on and four off. The South Omaha tobacco dealer do not propose to have the commissary department of Fort Crook break in on their trade without at least obtaining a license as retail dealers, and so they interposed an objection to Private Gallagher's method of trade. Gallagher will have to answer to the federal grand jury for his enterprise unless he can square the matter with the revenue officials.

SOUTH OMAHA MAN ENTHUSIASTIC

Talks Interestingly Regarding Wonderful Change in His Sister Who Has Been Subject to Epilepsy for Ten Years.

"Those Austro-American Doctors certainly know their business," said U. Pivonka, who lives on R. F. D. No. 1, South Omaha, a newspaper man Saturday. "My sister, Anna," he continued "has been suffering with epilepsy since she was twelve years old; she is now twenty-two. The spells were of such frequent recurrence that they seemed to sap all vitality from both her body and mind. As the years went by her bright, happy disposition changed and she became melancholy and listless, caring neither for her work nor her music, of which she was formerly fond. She didn't care any more to read or talk with the family; simply wanted to eat and sleep, and took no interest in anything. Sometimes for days she would sleep constantly, getting up only for a half hour or so for her meals, and I gave up my trade as barber and moved out of the outskirts of the city with her, as I didn't feel it safe to have her down town, as her spells were liable to attack her at any time, and I was afraid some accident might happen to her. I tried numerous doctors and different treatments, but all with no success, until I was just about discouraged. A little over two months ago I heard of the Austro-American treatment and decided to try it. My sister has not had a spell since Dr. Milen of the Austro-American Doctors commenced treating her, and before that time she never passed by a week without them. She is wonderfully changed, as she is now strong and able to do her work and has taken up her music again. Instead of being listless as before, she now takes a lively interest in everything; she reads, talks and laughs with us and seems an entirely different person from the sister I have known for the past ten years. She eats and sleeps regularly now and enjoys perfect health in every way. I cannot express my gratitude for the good these doctors have done her, and I will be glad to have anyone suffering from similar trouble write to me or ask me about them. If my sister could have had this treatment earlier she would have been saved years of trouble and suffering. I know people are skeptical nowadays, I was becoming so myself, and I wish I knew just what I could say to convince others, as a great deal of suffering would be prevented if they would take this treatment and be cured."

The Austro-American Doctors are located at 428 Range Bldg., just opposite the Orpheum theatre. Under the scientific direction of Dr. Milen, the great diagnostician, they are making many remarkable cures of Epilepsy, Rheumatism, Kidney, Bowel and Stomach trouble, and in fact all nervous and chronic diseases of men and women. No charge is made for consultation and examination, and those who cannot be cured are frankly told so and not treated. It has been demonstrated in numerous cases, however, that the Austro-American treatment is successful where many others have failed. Out-of-town people who need this treatment should write them, giving full details of their case.
