FULL STATEMENT FROM AN OMAHA MINER

Prominent Mine Prospector Says That There is No "Hocus-Pocus" About These People.

"You bet the Austro-American doctors are all right," said Mr. P. L. Parks of No. 319 Harney street, Omaha, in discussing the results he has obtained with the new doctors. "It is a scientific treatment, and not 'hocus-pocus,' as some of the new treatments we hear about. The results in my case shows what it will do for troubles like mine.

"While out in Colorado doing prospecting, I got thoroughly soaked, caught cold and that brought on rheumatism. I know now from what I have learned from the Austro-American doctors that I had a very bad case of liver and stomach troubles, which made me susceptible to rheumatism. Anyhow I got it and got it bad. I was in such pain I could not sleep. When I would sit down in a chair, I would have to take a hold of something before I could get up. You see where it got me worst was in the back. As soon as I got home from Colorado I started to doctor, but nothing reached the spot and I kept on suffering day after day. My food wouldn't digest and I suffered great pain after eating. Finally I concluded to let medicine alone and try something else, so I took twenty manage treatments with but very little good. Then I heard of the Austro-American treatment, and I am sure proud of the results. Why, see how I can get around now," and he got out of the chair without any apparent effort and walked across the room.

"I have taken all kinds of medicine for the last ten years and this is the first I have ever found that was worth 2 cents. I have suffered more or less for the last ten years and have paid out one-fourth of what I have made. I have no trouble with my stomach now and my rheumatism is gone. The doctors told me that few people realized how splendid their health would be if only their stomachs were not languid and enfeebled by years of abuse."

"I have been around Omaha the last twenty-five years and if my acquaintance here has anything to do with it, I am going to establish the Austro-American doctors by establishing a good word for them every time I can.

"The good treatment has done my liver and stomach is the most gratifying of all to me and the strangest thing of all is that just as soon as my stomach and liver got all right my rheumatism began to get better, until finally the pain all disappeared."

Mr. Parks, in discussing the treatment, showed his belief in every word spoken. He was in poor health, got well and he wants everybody to know about it, and consequently he doesn't hesitate to tell his friends about the Austro-American doctors. He is a prominent mine prospector, having lived around Omaha for twenty-five years, and his word bears weight with all who know him.

The Austro-American doctors are located here permanently at 48 Ramage building, opposite the Orpheum theater, on the corner of Fifteenth and Harney. Consultation and examination free.

TRADE RUSTLERS TO TRAVEL

More Excursions and Many Dinners Planned by Club.

HOME INDUSTRIES AN OBJECTIVE

Visits Planned by Entertainment Committee of Commercial Club to Deere Building, Iron Cracker Factory and Others.

More home-trade excursions, a banquet a month for some class of business men or workers, big dinners for the traveling men and army officers, with a little "feed" for themselves now and then which will enable them to get together on new things, are a part of the plans of the new entertainment committee of the Commercial club of Omaha, which last year was successful in starting the "home trade excursion" movement.

The committee is headed by J. E. Hendrichs of the Omaha Crockery company, who was chairman last year. One of the first home trade excursions will take a party of several hundred business men to the new building of the John Deere Flow company between Harney and Howard on Ninth street. Then they will go along the wholesale district and congratulate themselves and the wholesalers on the development of a district which is rapidly becoming a rival of the retail district in beauty, cleanliness and its metropolitan appearance. Ninth street has been cleaned up from Douglas street to the switch tracks along the Union station—and the new buildings make the district one to which visitors can be taken to get an impression of Omaha which must be favorable.

Then the visitors will go through the new cracker factory of the Iron Biscuit company and through the Fairmount Creamery company, both institutions being among the large producers of the city which give Omaha its manufacturing figures.

Eating Question Yet in Air. The plan of the committee for dinners for the traveling men will not be to have them simply for a "feast," but to bring the travelers into closer touch with the business life of Omaha and the men who are boosting for the 300,000 people by 1910. Whether one big dinner will be attempted or a series of small ones has not been decided, but the traveling men are to be guests of the Omaha business men at the earliest opportunity and "talk things over."

"Of course the first business of our traveling salesmen is to sell goods," said a wholesaler, "but we feel that the next most important thing is to have the men boost for Omaha. Don't know but what they ought to boost for Omaha first and make selling goods easier. We believe the boys are good boosters now, but perhaps they can get some material to use in their boosters by meeting with the business houses handling many and varied lines, and we are going to have some dinners with the traveling men who go out all over the west for Omaha houses, that they will also go out more for Omaha."

An Ugly Gash should be covered with clean bandages saturated with Bucklen's Astringent Balm. Measles, burns, wounds, sores, piles, etc. For sale by Weston Drug Co.

CHANCE TO GET A HAT FREE

San Huff Has Storm Trophy at His Office in the Court House.

Here is a chance to get a hat free. Samuel Huff, custodian of the Douglas county court house, has a storm trophy in his possession, a woman's hat.

The said chapeau is black of color and has three plumes sticking in the crown—it is women's hats have a crown. At imminent risk of a stumble or being blown away by the gale, Huff climbed upon the one-story annex of the court house and rescued the hat therefrom. Three hatpins were still sticking in it, which Huff argues is proof positive that it blew off some girl's head. "There was a rat in it, too," said Huff, "but this was agile and escaped."

Judge Troup and other men who have offices in the southern part of the court house glanced out of the window from time to time and measured in their mind's eye the distance to the bottom of the deep excavation for the new building. Then they reckoned up their chances of escape if the north wind blew the old building into the yawning cavern. The big steel chimney at the west end of the building contributed to the general disturbance, for the upper end of it rotated around a circle, with a six-foot radius and the guy wires swung about like gigantic shipping ropes.

MISS MAGEE WANTS CLOTHES

City Mission Needs Wearing Apparel to Protect its Protoges and Coal to Heat the Rooms.

More clothing is needed at the City Mission. Food and clothing are always most acceptable, but just now during this cold snap an extra overcoat or so and some pairs of shoes would be greatly appreciated by Miss Magee and others connected with the work. The regular subscription fund is not large enough to meet the many emergency demands made on the mission.

Coal is another item which seems to bother the mission workers not a little. The present home of the City Mission is a bare of a building and this severe spell of weather makes it hard to heat. Still women and children must be temporarily sheltered there, though there is no proper room for them.

People have been generous in supplying reading matter, Miss Magee says. They are overrun with magazines, but it is clothing they need the most.

GIASCITUSES STILL STAND

Sandstone Dogs on City Hall Are There, and Think of the Night.

The city hall tower and the decrepit sandstone dogs on the municipal building still stand, despite the authoritative statement made a couple of weeks ago that they would be the first to go in the event of a high wind.

And Lucillus Brutus Johnson, president of the city council, is consequently happy. Mr. Johnson voted against taking the dogs down and said that they had stood fourteen years and therefore could stand another fourteen. The resolution to bury the dogs was carried over his head and the president now delights in saying "I told you so" to his fellow councilmen.

The breaking of a window in the office of the assistant city engineer on the fourth floor was the only damage at the city hall as a result of the storm.
