GIRLS GRAB FOR POULTRY MAN

Swamp John Aye of Blair with Proposals When He Advertises that He Has Eggs for Sale.

Egg dealers as well as consumers are mere calculators of chance and will be during the present week, when there may be a change in prices of from 5 to 10 cents.

When John Aye of Blair, a bachelor of no mean standing, advertised in an Omaha newspaper that he had eggs for sale, it is said he received seventy-eight proposals of marriage in the next day's mail.

CAUSE IS A RIDDLE

Just what caused the advances on the Omaha market is a matter of conjecture to the dealers, but it is already known that anyone with a string of egg shells has a sure way of showing prosperity and opulence than one with a string of pearls.

From 30 cents per dozen eggs jumped up to 35 cents, then to 40 and finally to 45 cents, the price paid by commission dealers for the fresh candied varieties.

It was then the poor people quit buying eggs and substituted the less costly articles of food which contain no eggs, such as eggplants, oysters, salmon, and pommes de terre a la Julienne.

"Caught short when the wind began to blow," explained a commission merchant when asked the reason for the advances.

"There are no storage eggs in Omaha and anyone who thinks there are knows nothing of the troubles of the dealer. The eggs have to come in from the country and they have not been coming in. The price Tuesday eased off a little and it was safe to quote the farmers 35 cents for their eggs, but it is a mighty uncertain proposition.

Judge Day and The Bee's Special Prognosticator Show by Science that Tradition is a Dead One.

"Papa, what are the squirrels doing?" "Laughing at the groundhog, my son."

This was at 5 o'clock this morning, when two fat and furry little red-trees were having a circus and pantomime frolic at the foot of a big tree on the northwest corner of a large lot.

At 7 o'clock a fussy fox terrier had approached the habitation of the groundhog and had whiskered down his hole, "If you show up today, I'll lick blazes out of you."

AUTO FOR THE POLICE FORCE

One Machine is Ordered by the Board and Others May Be Bought.

Omaha will soon have an automobile police patrol. After an extensive investigation the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners authorized the purchase of a machine Monday night at its regular meeting.

For some time Chief Donahue has been considering the matter, it having been decided last summer by the commissioners that auto patrol was necessary for the city's police force.

It will cost between $4,200 and $4,500 and is of the same type made by the White company. Several members of the police force are said to be expert machinists, two of them being the emergency officers who run the motorcycles.

IMPORTANT RULING BY DAY Decision in Carpenter Case Touches Fraternal Societies' Bylaws.

MAY START FLOOD OF LAW SUITS Question involved is the Definition of Representative Form of Government in These Insurance Orders.

Judge Day possibly started something in his court Tuesday morning.

The case will now undoubtedly go to the supreme court of the state and on the final ruling of that court will depend whether or not a great many of the fraternal insurance companies operating in Nebraska will have to change their by-laws.

Judge Day held that certain amendments adopted in recent years were the result of the action of a representative body, as contemplated by the laws of Nebraska, and therefore legal and binding, whereas certain earlier by-laws or rules were not, because of failure to file with the auditor of state properly certified copies of such laws and for other reasons.

Should Judge Day's decision in the Carpenter case be overruled by the state supreme court, good lawyers are of opinion that Nebraska courts would then become the scene of many legal battles over fraternal insurance policies, and that litigants and their lawyers would flock here to fight out their contests, on the point that certain prohibitions in by-laws or rules were not legally adopted and therefore of no force or effect.

MAN KILLS HIMSELF WITH GAS Bert Wendt is Found in Room at Prague Hotel with Doors and Windows Closed.

Bert Wendt of Rocky Ridge, O., was found dead in a bed at the Prague hotel, Thirteenth and William streets Tuesday morning. He had evidently killed himself by inhaling gas.

Wendt had spent three nights at the hotel. Joseph Vaske, jr., proprietor, had put him to bed at 11:30 Monday night. He had been on a spree on Ninth street, he said to have let go of about $30 in the last few days and had nothing of any value on him at death except a watch chain.

There was a theory of accidental death, but the fact of the door and transom being closed and locked gave rise to the belief that he deliberately took his life when dependent.

Wendt was six feet tall, weighed 170 pounds, had a bald head and was near middle age, apparently.

KEROSENE MIDST OF FIRE Open Can, Soaked Paper and Red-Hot Stove Found in Burning Building.

"We found an open can of kerosene in the middle of the room, a red hot stove and paper saturated with kerosene scattered about the room. I am inclined to think the fire was not accidental."

This is the report of Assistant Chief Densen on the fire at 348 Cuming street, which burned some of the contents of Arthur Swayback's tailor, repair and cleaning shop Tuesday shortly after noon.

Swayback was not at the shop, nor was anyone else when the fire broke out, or

FT. CROOK-P.LATTSMOUTH LINE

Interurban Bill by Cass Capitalists Strikes Wattle's Gold Proposition.

"Our company would not look with disfavor on a line from Fort Crook to Plattsmouth if the capitalists of Plattsmouth wish to build the line," said G. W. Wattle, president of the Omaha & Council Bluffs Street Railway company, and also of the Omaha & Southern Interurban company.

A committee of the leading citizens of Plattsmouth was appointed a week ago to call on Mr. Wattle to see if something could be done toward building the line.

Mr. Wattle says this committee has not been to see him, but that while the interurban company is not in a position to extend its line this year, he will gladly hear any proposition the committee has to make.

TWO MORE OUT FOR MAYOR P. C. Heafey and M. F. Funkhouser Admit They Are Willing to Make Race.

P. C. Heafey confirms The Bee's Lincoln correspondent in saying he is willing to accept the democratic nomination for mayor. Millard Filmore Funkhouser, councilman from the Eleventh ward, also admits that he may decide to run. Both men express confidence in their ability to get votes.

"I did not decide to run until in Lincoln and was approached by strong interests," says Mr. Heafey, who does not indicate who or what the "strong interests" are.

With Loback, Dave O'Brien, Funkhouser, Heafey and Dahman in the race none but the mayor has filed his name thus far.

Cured of Bronchitis BY CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY

W. E. WHEELER

Bronchitis is a much more serious disease than an ordinary cold, and much more likely to result in pneumonia. It is commonly spoken of as a cold on the lungs. There is little if any danger, however, when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is judiciously used.

Only Few Doses Required

"Before I learned of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy I suffered with an attack of bronchitis two or three times a year, and each attack seemed to be worse," says W. E. Wheeler, 423 W. Ninth St., Los Angeles, Cal. "The medicine the doctor prescribed seemed to give me relief, but did not afford a cure. My daughter used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in her family, and one day when I was visiting her she advised me to try it. I felt so wretched that I was willing to try almost anything, and so took part of a bottle she had on hand, and then bought a large bottle and one more, and that cured me. Whenever I feel an attack coming on

I take a few doses, and I have not been bothered any more. I have much cause to be grateful to the manufacturers of this remedy."

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

This remedy is especially suited to the treatment of bronchitis, as it causes the expulsion of mucus from the bronchial tubes, making breathing easier, and minimizing the danger of contracting pneumonia. This remedy has a world wide reputation for its cures and can always be depended upon. It contains no opium or other narcotic, and may be given as confidently to a child as to an adult. Price per bottle twenty-five cents, large size fifty cents.
