Curious Capers of Cupid

Hen Chews Tobacco.

THE SALTIEST old salt that sails the sea does not love a chew of tobacco better than does a hen owned by Burt Miller, a lawyer of Youngstown, O. For more than a year the hen, which was always industrious and remunerative, has refused to lay her customary egg each day unless her system is toned by tobacco. So each day Mr. Miller sets before her a can of chewing tobacco and she takes a chew.

The word "chew" is figurative, for, of course, nothing is rarer than hens' teeth. This hen pecks at the tobacco in the can, plainly with great enjoyment, and, after holding it in her mouth a while ejects it.

The love of tobacco must be an acquired taste for a hen, just as are caviar and olives for a man. Mr. Miller thinks his hen acquired the taste by eating tobacco quids which she found on his grounds after his man of all work had no further use for them. The hen will chew only the best fine cut of one particular brand. She has refused to taste samples of other brands sent to her by their manufacturers, who may have had in mind the value of an advertisement reading: "Even hens are not happy unless they get our 'bacey."

Mr. Miller tried to cure the hen of the habit by giving her a "tobacco cure." It had no effect on her, however efficacious it may be on humans.

This hen's eggs have not the slightest taste or odor of nicotine, but are "strictly fresh."

Lobster Salad and Soul Mates.

The story of a lobster salad and a tall stately blonde who "demonstrated" the salad and became an "affinity" became public in Los Angeles when a divorce suit was filed by Mrs. Agnes Fleming, who formerly taught elocution in Cleveland.

Her husband is Alfred F. Fleming. In contemplating some lobster salad at a pure food exhibition, according to his wife's charges, he looked first into the eyes of the "affinity," a young woman now employed in a local department store. The Flemings were married in Cleveland and went to Los Angeles two years ago. The wife says they were happy until the day after their arrival, when Fleming sampled the lobster salad and got the fateful thrill.

"For two years I have been trying to win him back," says Mrs. Fleming, but the "affinity" has too strong a charm for him. Now he can have her."

Sentenced to Be Whaled.

Nicholas Halloran and George Feitzmeyer, each 9 years old, were arraigned before Recorder Carroll, Paterson, N. J., charged with stealing money from gas meters. When they admitted the thefts the recorder said to their fathers:

"Take the boys into my private office and give them a good spanking. If you do that I will permit them to go home."

A few minutes later the cries of one of the boys were heard. Feitkmeyer had removed his leather belt and placed George across his knee. Halloran then later borrowed the belt for a like use.

In Terror of Wildcat.

The district about Roundhill and Stanwick, Conn., where reside E. C. Converse, the steel magnate; Charles A. Moore, Benjamin Fairchild, and other prominent New Yorkers, is being terrorized by a wildcat whose screeches carry a great distance on still nights. Farmers have loaded shotguns and muskets that haven't been used in a generation.

Herbert Mead, a butcher, while driving from Long Ridge the other night with a load of fresh meat, was followed by the cat, which came so very close and scared him so badly that he whipped his horses into a gallop. A hunting party will probably be organized to kill the animal. It is suggested that Charles A. Moore, jr., be asked to take charge of the party, for he has killed big game in all parts of the world.

Amazing Surgical Feat.

Doctors at the Georgetown, D. C. University hospital witnessed a remarkable operation performed there several days ago by Dr. George Tully Vaughan of Washington on George A. Kelly, aged 29. The bones of Kelley's knee were so badly diseased that Dr. Vaughan decided on amputation.

In the hospital was a man about to die. Dr. Vaughan obtained permission from the dying patient's family to remove the left leg is the event of death, and it was decided that the knee of the dead man should be grafted to the leg of the living sufferer. The transfer was duly made. The bones were rivited together by slender, strong wire and the most delicate phase of the operation, that of joining the ligaments caused the surgeons to work as they probably never labored before. Every tissue, tendon and muscle were joined and the bones fastened together. Kelly is said to be improving rapidly.

Phonograph Wins Divorce.

With the aid of a phonograph, in the tones of which she recognized her husband's voice, Mrs. Grace E. Rover, a former Brooklyn school teacher and singer, has gained a final decree of divorce from Fred G. Rover. It was granted by Justice Aspinall in the Brooklyn supreme court. The papers in the action were served on Rover about a year ago, after his wife had learned of his whereabouts through a phonograph company.

In her petition the plaintiff said she was deserted by Rover in 1905 and that at the same time he gave up his position as soloist in a Brooklyn church choir to enter vaudeville. For two years the wife heard or saw nothing of him. Then one night, at the Wall street ferry slip, she heard a strangely familiar voice singing "Meet Me in the Harvest Moonlight." It came from a phonograph record. It was Rover's voice, and through the company that made the record she learned where Rover was and had papers served on him.

Honestly Rewarded.

If you lost a pocketbook containing $3,000, how much would you give to the man who returned it to you? David Kinney, a street car conductor of Kansas City, says he received 15 cents for returning one.

When his car was about to leave the Union depot he noticed a pocketbook lying under a seat. He remembered the appearance of a man who had been sitting there and ran after him.

"Thank you. There's $3,000 in there," was all the man said.

"When I got to the barn at Tenth street and Minnesota avenue," said Kinney, "I learned that a man was looking for me. I recognized the owner of the pocketbook and began to see visions of $50 bills floating my way. But all he said was, 'Go buy yourself a good cigar, kid,' and put something in my hand. When I looked I found it was a dime and a nickel."

Boy Saved by Dog.

Right in the path of the Pittsfield express at South Norwalk, Conn., little "Buster" Plunkett, the 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Plunkett, abandoned by his little friends, sat crying and within a few inches of death, when Irish, a large and intelligent St. Bernard dog, pulled the child to safety just as the express whizzed past.

"Buster" is a favorite in his neighborhood and the children strive for the opportunity of drawing him around on his sled. In crossing the railroad tracks the sled lodged on the bare ground and the children, unequal to the task and frightened at the approaching train, dropped the rope and ran for home.

With wonderful intelligence Irish took the rope in his teeth and pulled the sled and lad from the track just as the express went by. The train was stopped and a purse made up for the boy and dog.

Anything to Oblige Him.

"Herbert," said the stern father, "I suppose you are going to marry that doll faced, wasp waisted, pink cheeked, simpering giggling, gum chewing, poverty stricken little Miss Wredlip."

"No, father," answered the dutiful son; "if you prefer it I will marry that long, lean, freckle faced, sharp chinned, goggle eyed, solemn, austere, raucous voiced, vinegary, suspicious, blue nosed, lantern jawed, prim, rich old Miss Allkoyne."

"You shan't!" roared the indignant old gentleman. "You're not half good enough for her!"

Thus a soft answer may turn away a hard fate.—Chicago Tribune.
