Selections from the Story Teller's Pack

Prepared for the Worst. "IKOLA TELIA was talking about inventors. "The successful inventor," said Mr. Teles, smiling, "has an odd, quaint mind, a mind full of surprises. Thus, Smet-hurst, I am convinced, was an inventor at heart, though circumstances had made a grocer of him. "Smethurst, during his seaside holiday, was seen upon the board walk with a large bottle under his arm. "Smethurst," said an acquaintance, "what have you got in that bottle that I see you carrying about with you day and night?" "Chloroform," said Smethurst. "What the deuce are you doing with chloroform here on the board walk?" "That big dub of a Jones," said Smet-hurst, "has threatened to give me a sound thrashing the first time he meets me, and as soon as I see him coming I'm going to take a good dose. I don't propose to suffer if I can help it."—New York Tribune. Marking the Trail. The earl of Warwick at a banquet in Washington was quizzed about the hunting years he had sweated with the greatest white-tailed ibis in the White House. "Oh, yes," Lord Warwick said playfully

Bobby was indiscriminating. It cannot be said that his Biblical lore was in any wise profound. It sounded right enough to him. He rose in his place. "Every tub must stand on its own bottom," he said. "And thereafter, it is recorded, Bobby stood up longer than had been his wont—and it cannot be said that he did it joyfully.—The Circle Magazine. He Won His Case. The lawyer told Mike Dolan, his client, that he had a good fighting case. Mike mused a minute and then said, tentatively: "Do you think it would do any good to send his honor a couple of ducks?" "No, no!" replied the lawyer; "I know him too well. If you did that he would decide the case against you, sure as fate." Two days afterward the case was heard, and Mike won it out and out. So he called on his lawyer, and in the course of setting up affairs remarked: "Well, you see, sir, it was just as well I sent his honor those ducks." "What!" exclaimed the astonished counsel; "you sent the ducks after what I said?" "Yes, I did," replied Mike; "only, after what you told me, I thought it just as well to send them from the man on the other side."—Dundee Advertiser. Pays for Offending Pride. Dr. Bedloe, former consul at Amoy, was introduced to Edward Levy, a merchant of Raleigh, N. C., the other night. Frequently Dr. Bedloe was addressed by some of his story-telling acquaintances as "Doc." "Some years ago," related the North Carolinian, "I was advised to consult Dr. Oster, the famous John Hopkins pathologicist. He looked me over and then prescribed a new mode of living, rather than a lot of medicine. He wasn't with me twenty minutes. "Now, down at home, where we know the physicians, we hail them good naturedly as 'Doc.' Forgetting that I was a stranger, I said to Oster: 'Well, how do we stand, Doc?' "Fifty dollars," he replied, and his tone of voice had no sweetness in it. "What's that, Doc?" I asked. "Fifty?" "I said $50," he answered. "Don't you know better?" he came near me when I've got them cartridges in me!"—San Francisco Star. The Tramp Card. Two neighbors in a Missouri village were arrested for fighting and brought to court. The judge asked the assailant to tell his story. "Judge," he said, "we war a-playin' of seven-up, seven pints 't' th' game, two bits on the corner. I had bin losin' all day, Judge, an' I had up my last two bits. "I dole the kyards. He was two an' I war six. He begged an' I gin him one. He flung his queen an' I played my troy for low. He flung his king an' I played my ten. He flung his ace an' I played my jack, an' then, Judge, then he flung his deuce, an' I hit him."—Saturday-Evening Post. Franks of Politicians. Albany is infected with practical jokers who make the telephone the chief instrument of torture. At 4 o'clock one morning Assemblyman Colne, chairman of the assembly committee on canals, was called out of bed. The conversation was in this order: "This you, Colne? Were you asleep?" "No, no; I was playing bridge what out on the lawn tennis court." "Well, we dislike to disturb you, but we have an argument down town. One man says you are the best authority in these parts on canals. Is that right?" "Well, I consider myself pretty good in of the daytime, but I don't care to be pulled out of bed and asked to discuss canals at 4 o'clock in the morning." "You're a little sensitive, is that it?" "Sensitive nothing; don't you think a man has a right to be a little sensitive over such a trick as this?" "But you're not angry?" "No, I'm delighted." "Well, what we wanted to know is this: Is there any statute prohibiting a member of the legislature from taking a bath in any portion of the Erie canal which is not used for drinking purposes?" "What Mr. Colne said then will never be printed.—New York World. Judge Makes Odd Ruling. Mrs. Sophie Pirek of Cleveland, O., will be sent to the workhouse to work out a fine of $3 and costs for stealing 25 cents worth of railroad scrap iron, but only in the event that some member of the Chamber of Commerce or other wealthy person agrees to care for her three small children while she is imprisoned. This was Police Judge Levine's answer to several rich Cleveland men who have appeared before a Chamber of Commerce committee to demand less lenient treatment in police court of women arrested for thefts of coal or iron from railroad tracks. Judge Levine said his conditional offer to imprison Mrs. Pirek would be open for one month. Meanwhile her sentence is suspended. Incidentally, it may be mentioned that the youngest of the three babies is nursing.
