EYE ON PENNANT FOR FIVE

Nebraska Will Bend Effort to Land Missouri Valley Championship.

BASE BALL TRYOUT THIS WEEK

Coach Fox Will Start Spring Practice with Seven Veterans-Hitch in Arrangements for Ames Foot Ball Game.

LINCOLN, Feb. 30-(Special)-Is the University of Nebraska basket ball five strong enough to defeat the title holders in the southern section of the conference league and thereby win the cleampionship of the Missouri valley for the season of 1005-001

That is a question which is visibly agitating the minds of the basket ball fams at the state school and which many of the students are inclined to believe can be These anywared with a positive "yes." sarguine supporters are predicting that the southern title holder, whether it proves to be Kansas or Washington, will fall an easy prey to the improved work of the Corphuskers in the series of three games, to decide who shall annox the premier honors for this season.

This spirit of confidence does not, however, pervade the entire student body at Nebraska. There are, indeed, a vast numbr of fane among whom nothing of the optimistic bue obtains, and they are trank in admitting that they see no hope for the varnity banket ball shooters in the final contests with the southern winners. They are loyal to their alma mater and its athletic teams, but they are not willing to hids their hopes behind any false prodictions, and insist on asserting their views of the situation without an attempt to make things appear roseate. They are fully justified, ton, in assuming such a position, for the work of the Cornhusker five this winter has not given them any grounds for looking at the matter in any other light. The Scarlet and Cream players are undoubtedly weak this winter in comparison to any of the fives of the last six years.

Team Shows Weakness.

Since the opening of the intercollegiate scason in January, the play of the Cornhuskers has been hampered by disappointing weaknesses which, in the early winter, it was hoped would be removed before midseason. In the first games of the scheduled series in the northern section, played curing the latter part of January, the Cornhuskers showed considerable improvement and managed to annex two games from each. Ames and Drake. (These victories gave Nebraska a lead in the northern section of the league which allowed it to win the division title). The showing in these contests encouraged the Nebraska supporters to look for some fast playing by the basket shooters during the remainder of the season. But the Cornhuskers had reached their menith in the game with Dinke, and from that time their playing began to slump. Kansas and Missouri visited Lincoln and defcated the scarlet and cream men on their home floor. After those games the pupils of Dr. Clapp took a trip away from home that was almost as great a disaster as could have befallen a basket ball five. Out of six games played only one was annexed as a victory, that being taken from Ames. Drake at Des Moines easily whalloped the Nebraska men in two contests.
