

OFFICER IS LAID AT REST

Edward Lowery, Killed by Greek, is Buried in South Omaha.

PRIEST DENOUNCES ALL VIOLENCE

Rev. D. W. Moriarty, Who Preaches Sermon Over Bier, Pronounces Disapprobation of Rioting Sunday.

The funeral of the late Officer Edward Lowery, Maudsland's victim, was held with due ceremony at St. Bridget's church South Omaha, Tuesday morning according to arrangement.

The solemn requiem high mass was celebrated by five priests of the Catholic church of Omaha and South Omaha.

During the funeral which lasted from 9:30 a. m. to 10:30 a. m., nearly every business house closed in accord with the request of the mayor.

Crime Most Atrocious

The crime by which our deceased brother came to his end was a most atrocious one. It was one that deserved and will doubtless receive all the punishment demanded by justice.

Be ye also ready, for in such an hour as ye think not, the Son of man cometh, was Father Moriarty's text. "I do not come," he continued, "to deliver a sermon, but to speak a few words at the bier of an old friend and draw, as I hope, a lesson from a faithful life to honor his memory."

"Here was a man whom I knew better than the most of you. In all the years I know him he was never unfaithful to his duties. He was especially punctual in his religious duty. He never failed to assist in the Sunday morning mass. He was faithful and provident in his family. He brought his children up in the fear of God. They are here to speak for themselves."

Lowery's Sacrifice the Greatest

"His service to the city was as his other service and his sacrifice the greatest a man can offer. I am persuaded that he was ready for his transformation and I am confident that although his passing was so sudden as to permit no immediate preparation he has passed to his reward which I confidently believe to be, in the word of the Master, 'Well done, thou good and faithful servant, enter into the joy of the Lord.'"

"Let this assurance be a comfort to the bereaved. Let them consider the short, short span which separates them and the time when their faithfulness shall bring them to his arms. With the angel of death comes two brighter angels always. One is the angel of memory, one the angel, hope. How bright is the one to those who know this husband and father's kindness. How bright is the other which points to the coming meeting and the triumph."

After the sermon the choir sang "Some Sweet Day," and then "Lead Kindly Light" as a recessional.

Father O'Callahan of St. Bridget's church was the celebrant of the mass. Rev. C. Muggan was deacon and Rev. James Ahern sub-deacon. Father Corcoran was master of ceremonies. The solemn high mass required a full hour.

It was after 9 before the procession arrived from the residence, at Twenty-fourth and G streets, with the police officers marching ahead of the bier. The pallbearers were John Briggs, J. C. Trouton, J. C. Walker, P. H. McMahon, Lew Parsley, William Monroe. Six honorary pallbearers were H. C. Murphy, C. A. Melcher, T. H. Proudfoot, G. Behnke, James Parks and Frank Moran. After the ceremony the line of march was taken north on Twenty-fourth street, with about 100 men in uniform preceding the carriages. The cortege continued to A street, where carriages were taken by all and the commitment service celebrated at the Holy Sepulcher cemetery.

The Stomach of the Child

Is The Organ All Parents Should Protect and Keep Normal.

The stomach of a child is the organ above all others upon which the future of a child depends. Bodily development is fast in children, and the nourishment necessary to meet such development is the one essential demanded from a parent.

Most mothers and fathers, jealously guard a child from the formation of bad habits, yet in this age our children early become the victims of wrong food, over eating and irregular meals.

It is most appalling to know the effect of stomach trouble among our children. Most children who are nervous, irritable and cross, who dream, sleep restlessly, who tire easily and have no desire for food, are, generally, suffering from stomach trouble, indigestion and dyspepsia.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are intended to thoroughly digest food and to place the system in shape to obtain all the nourishment it needs from such food.

These tablets mix with the juices of the system, emptying them and giving to the body the ingredients necessary to build up the rapidly forming brain and body of the young.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets should be given to children after each meal and at bed time. They are made from pure vegetable and fruit essences and contain no harmful chemicals whatever. The use of these tablets will give greater vim to a child in his school work or at his play. They will produce appetite and soothe nerves, destroy abnormal cravings and will allay the bad effects of sweets and improper foods as most children enjoy and will eat no matter what is done to prevent it.

It is due the child that his stomach be protected by the parent, and if Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are given after meals, the habits of the child will not tear down the stomach and destroy the digestive juices nearly so rapidly. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are given to each and every degree of life. Any condition of the stomach welcomes them, from the strongest to the weakest. For sale by all druggists, price 15 cents. BIG AUTO SHOW ALL READY Auditorium Full of Exhibits of New Motor Cars Displayed for First Time Wednesday.

Eleven cars of automobiles, containing thirty-three machines for the Calt Automobile company, arrived Tuesday morning for the annual automobile show, which opens at the Auditorium today. Like other dealers, this company has made a special effort to have a large supply of cars on hand that immediate delivery might be made of machines sold at the show.

Dick Stewart, vice president of the Calt Automobile company, was at hand to superintend the unloading of the Mitchell, which made a most imposing array. At the Auditorium all is in readiness. The dealers are installing their cars and the decorators have about finished their work. The building will be decorated much more elaborately than last year, although the same general plan will be followed and the white pillar scheme of dividing the booths is being pursued.

Because of the limited space, the Auditorium will not contain all of the automobile show, but all the dealers will decorate their garages and extend a general invitation to the public to call there as well as at the Auditorium. Each dealer will have room for six or seven cars at the show, and any others they wish to exhibit must be displayed at the garages.

The stage will be utilized this year, as was not necessary in years past, and just so much more space is available and there will be just so much more for the visitors to see.

SMALLPOX HEARING BEGUN

Physicians Arranged for Failing to Report Cases and Patient Had Disease in Question.

Hearing of the case against Dr. Collins, one of the Hot Springs specialists, on the charge of failing to report a case of smallpox began in police court Tuesday morning. Collins gave his testimony and declared that the patient in question, John Lund, did not have smallpox, but a complaint somewhat similar. The rest of the case will be heard Wednesday morning. Health Commissioner Connell investigated the arrest and complaint against Collins and says he will prosecute every case where a physician fails to report cases of contagious disease.

BILL TO PENSION TEACHERS

Measure Before Legislature Explained by John L. McCague.

OBJECT IS TO CARE FOR OLD AGE

Based on Theory Assurance of Livelihood After Active Days Are Over Will Enable Teachers to Do Best Work.

John L. McCague, Carl E. Herring, E. A. Baird and Superintendent W. M. Davidson, of the Omaha schools, are the fathers of the bill introduced in the state senate by Howell, Tuesday, providing for a pension or allowance to school teachers in school districts of the metropolitan cities.

Mr. McCague says he has given the subject a large amount of study. As a member of the Board of Education and as a citizen he is thoroughly believes in the provision which the bill proposes to make and has figured not only on how to spend the money, but how to raise it. Both provisions are made in the bill.

"We would have the law provide for the teachers that they may stay in the profession and not have to get into something else during the best years of their life in order to save enough on which to live after they become old," said Mr. McCague. "It would also be an inducement for young people to enter the profession and devote their time and thought all their lives to instructing the young."

"Our thought is that when teachers have been in the school-room thirty to forty years, they have been serving the public and no one but the public all that time. It is the duty of the public to do something in return."

Three Different Classes. The bill proposes to grant allowances to three different classes: First, teachers who have taught thirty-five years, twenty of which have been in Omaha; the Board of Education may grant an allowance of $500 per annum; second, teachers who have taught forty years, shall be retired on the $500 allowance; third, any teacher who becomes permanently disabled, either physically or mentally, to remain in the school, may be given an allowance by the Board of Education if the term of service in the profession has been over twenty-five years, the amount to be determined to the number of years, on the ratio of $50 for thirty-five years' service.

Mr. McCague and other instrumental in having the bill introduced, propose that from 1 to 1 1/2 per cent of the teachers' salaries be assessed each month to assist in accumulating the fund and that one and one-half times the amount secured by such assessments be set aside from the general fund of the school district.

"If the law was effective now, we could have during the next year $2,500 for the pension fund," said Mr. McCague. "I believe the teachers would be both glad to contribute to the fund by the assessment and glad to share in it or know that other teachers would."

"Half the worry that breaks teachers down is because their material affairs do not go well and they are thinking of the future when they will be less able to care for themselves."

WOOL STRONG, TRADE LIGHT

Western Growers Asking 23 to 24 Cents for the Numbered Stock.

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 23.—The local wool market continues strong, although the volume of business is light, particularly in domestic wools. Questions are almost unobtainable in some grades. Ohio fine delaine is held at 40 cents, but traders doubt if any quantity could be sold at better than 30 cents. A line of fine staple territory sold last week at 23 cents in the green.

It is reported that western growers are asking 23 to 24 cents for their new stock, still unshorn.

BANE OF A RICH BROTHER

Albert Pultizer Tells of Disadvantage World Editor's Wealth and Fame Are to Him.

Albert Pultizer, journalist, traveler-pluralist passed through Omaha Tuesday in his private car. Over, with California as his destination and made things merry at Union station for a brief twenty minutes.

Mr. Pultizer carried a few things done while his car stopped in Omaha. He wanted the electric light bulbs exchanged for bulbs of higher candle power. He wanted the upholstered furniture taken out and hard bottom, wooden chairs put in their place. He wanted to go uptown and take a hasty glance at the business district. He wanted a taxicab, but compromised on a carriage. He wanted the train to wait until he got back and made a deal with the crew to pay $1 a minute for fifteen minutes for overtime, but he returned before his time began to accrue.

"I am just going to California for my health," said Mr. Pultizer, as he inspected a telegram, assuring him of a hotel reservation. "They don't say how much they are going to charge me," he interjected.

"This having a millionaire brother is very expensive. At least I have found it so when traveling in Europe. A hotel charges me $10 a day and when I return, my brother has been there in the interval and they charge me $30 a day."

"I wish the people would be careful not to confuse me with my brother, Joseph Pultizer, who is editor and proprietor of the New York World. The newspaper I founded is the Morning Journal, which is now much more ably and brilliantly conducted by William R. Hearst. Mr. Hearst is a great journalist, say that for me, and I am proud of the magnificent success he has made of the paper I started."
