Lawyer Delves Into Medieval Court Records

Missouri Attorney Goes Back to King Edward III for Decisions in Common Law

A professor of medieval history would have been in his element in Judge Sears' court, Friday morning. Argument over a motion to quash an indictment reached clear back to fourteenth century decisions in England and there was talk of King Edward III and the decisions of judges ever since that worthy's time.

lova old books, old friends and old wine, and the law that has been sustained for century on century is the kind of law I like."

On the question of jurisdiction Judge Sears intimated that he would rule against counsel for Faltys. On the other hand he seemed to think the indictment faulty in the respect indicated and Attorney Ellick asked time to confer on this matter with the member of the county attorney's staff who had drawn it. This was granted.

HILL ASKS MEN TO AID ROAD

Burlington Appeals to Employees to Strike Anti-Legislation.

WILLARD SAYS MUST BE CHANGE

Sends Letter to 38,000 Men Urging Co-Operation with Railroad Against Action in State and National Legislatures.

The Burlington is sending out a circular containing a recent address of Vice President Daniel Willard, the key note of which is a plea that the railroads be given a rest in a plea that the railroads be given a rest circular will be sent to each of the 38,000 employees of the Burlington system.

Mr. Willard insists in his address that the railroads must be given time to adjust themselves to the numerous new laws enacted during the last two or three years. He says that there are now pending in congress and in the eleven states traversed by the Burlington, 273 proposed laws regulating railroads, and the employees are asked to co-operate with the management by using their influence to oppose such legislation.

Mr. Willard points out that during the legislative season of 1907-7 over 800 bills concerning railroads were introduced in the eleven legislatures and in congress, all of which, he says, were regarded by railroad men as hostile, and many of which, such as the 2-cent passenger bill, reduced revenues. At the same time, he says, wages were generally raised, and this item alone amounted to $2,000,000 for the Burlington system.

In his address Mr. Willard says that for 1907 the Burlington set aside $15,000,000 for extraordinary expenditures, such as double tracking, new stations and new extensions. In 1908, immediately after the panic, the Burlington cut this in half and set aside but $8,000,000. For 1909 but $4,000,000 has been set aside for new work and the pay roll has been reduced.

Pleds for a Change.

That this state of affairs may be changed Mr. Willard pleads that the railroads be given a rest from further regulation for a time.

"In my opinion," he says, "the railroad business, which really means all business, will recover its former proportions when the influences and forces at work during the last two or three years refrain from doing the things which have contributed so largely to bring about the depression which we all deplore. I do not mean that laws already made must necessarily be unmade, that wages raised must be reduced, but that we must have."

"We must be given time and opportunity to work out the new problems that have been forced upon us. We must be given an opportunity to find out what is going to cost to meet the new requirements, and also to see how our revenues are going to be affected by reduction of rates.

"Perhaps it will be found that by new methods growing out of the exigencies of the case, we will still be able to earn a surplus sufficient to justify the resumption of extraordinary expenditures as formerly.

"If not, then either rates must be advanced or wages reduced, or improvements must wait or be carried on with borrowed money."

THUGS BEAT UP AN OLD MAN

John McElhatton Roughly Used and Robbed by Two Colored Men.

John McElhatton, an aged man who lives alone in a little home near Sixth and Burt streets, was brutally beaten and robbed by two young negro thugs about 7 o'clock last night.

McElhatton, who is 75 years old and a well known character about the city, makes a living by raising chickens and selling eggs. When he returned home last night he found two negroes waiting for him. They made the excuse of wanting to buy eggs and when McElhatton had turned his back they set upon him, beat him badly and took about $5. all the money on his person, away from him.

His injuries are not serious except for his advanced age. A fair description of the men has been furnished the police by McElhatton and neighbors who noticed the two hanging around the house for some time before their victim returned home.

DOCTOR MODERN WIZARD

Many People of Omaha and Vicinity Tell of Wonders Worked by the Astro-American Doctor Under Direction of Dr. Milen, the Great Diagnostician.

LOCATED HERE PERMANENTLY.

"I can't believe it myself. I scarcely cough any more. Your medicine is certainly all right and I am recommending it to all my friends," says Mrs. W. H. Withrow, wife of Mayor Withrow of Missouri Valley, Ia. She has been suffering with lung trouble for years, but has shown great improvement since commencing the Astro-American treatment.

Mrs. Maggie Earlywine, Woodbine, Ia., says: "I wish I knew what to say to convince all who have chronic troubles that the Astro-American Doctors can help them. I suffered terribly for 23 years with a complication of chronic disorders which Dr. Milen says were caused primarily by disordered kidneys and nerves. Numerous doctors had treated me, but I received no benefit until I started treating with the Astro-American Doctors. I now feel like a new woman."

G. W. Phelps, 192 N. 26th St., Omaha, who has suffered for years with partial paralysis, says: "When I started treatment with the Astro-American Doctors I was unable to button my coat without assistance. I am now working every day at my trade as carpenter. I sincerely recommend their treatment to anyone suffering from similar trouble."

U. E. Ryan of South Omaha, R. F. D. No. 1, says: "My sister, Anna, had been suffering with epilepsy for ten years, never passing a week without a spell. During the three months which the Astro-American Doctors have been treating her she has not had a spell, and is in better health in every way."

Mrs. E. Ryan, 260 South 18th St., Omaha, Neb., writes: "Gentlemen—On November 14th I commenced taking treatment from you for gall stones. For the last two and one-half years I have suffered untold agony, but since I commenced taking treatment with the Astro-American Doctors I have been feeling better. For the first time I am still improving. My friends all remark how well I am looking and are surprised to see me looking so well. I haven't felt any symptoms whatever for the last six weeks and I cheerfully recommend the Astro-American treatment to anyone who may be suffering from gall stones as I was. I will be glad to answer any inquiries."

Those who are suffering from Epilepsy, Rheumatism, Gall Stones, Catarrh, Discharges of the Heart, Liver, Kidneys, Stomach, Bowels or any nervous or chronic disease should call on the Astro-American Doctors. They will give you the best and most complete Orpheum theater. They ask no fee until the patient is cured. Comfortable waiting rooms are furnished for out-of-town patients, and they are invited to make this their headquarters while in Omaha. The Astro-American form of treatment is entirely new and is based on the theory that many claims to give a similar treatment, but only place you can get this treatment is Suite 428, Runge Building.

shot by Night Watchman John Dussler. One of the robbers died on the way to the hospital and the other is not expected to survive. The identity of the man killed is not known. The wounded man gave the name of John Peyn and his home in this city. Dussler came upon the men unawares and shot them before they could draw weapons or escape.

STRENUOUSNESS.

Energetic, persevering action is generally necessary to overcome the obstacles and attain great and noble ends in life. The system which is afflicted with a dread disease which has fastened itself upon some of the organs of the body and becomes firmly seated as a lingering or chronic malady, active and persistent treatment is generally necessary to dislodge the enemy.

Since any medical treatment, however good it may be, must be long continued in order to be effective in old established and therefore obstinate cases, how important that the remedial agencies employed be of a harmless character. To be safe and harmless, when their use is thus protracted, they should be of such nature as to be easily eliminated or carried out of the system when they have performed their work. Just as the refuse of food is carried out of the system. Most mineral medicines are not thus easily gotten rid of. Take Arsenic, for instance, if introduced into the system in any considerable quantity it will lodge in the brain, liver, kidneys and other parts of the body for which they have an affinity, and like the refuse of our food, are carried out of the system through the natural excretories—the lungs, skin, kidneys and bowels. Thus no injury is done to the system in cases where the use of such medicines is continued for a long period of time. Especially is this true if the medicine is free from alcohol, and is well known, however, that even small portions of alcohol taken for a considerable period of time will do serious injury to the bodily organs and functions and especially to the brain. How important, then, in choosing a medicine for treating a malady of long standing and when medicines are used, to see that the medicine is free from alcohol, and that those only should be used which are known to be free of alcohol and of vegetable composition.

"With most medicines put up for family use and sold through druggists, their composition is kept a profound secret, known only to those who compound and put them out for sale. Any afflicted person who buys and uses them, does so, as it were, in the dark, if not indeed at his or her peril. They may, and generally do, contain a very large percentage of alcohol or cheap whiskey which thoroughly infiltrates them for protracted use. This is not the worst fault of many of them, objectionable though it is. Narcotics and mineral poisons, which we have shown to be so harmful, especially when used protractedly, are contained in many of these secret compounds.

To overcome the well-grounded and reasonable objections of the more intelligent to the use of secret, medicinal compounds, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago, decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use, and so has adopted broadcast and openly to the whole world, a full and complete list of all the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicines. Thus he has taken his numerous patrons and patients into his full confidence. Thus, too, he has removed his medicines from among secret compounds of doubtful merits, and made them Remedies of Known Composition. By this bold step he has shown that his formulas are of such excellence that he is not afraid to subject them to the fullest scrutiny. He has come to believe, and is willing to concede, that his patients and all who take his put-up medicines have perfect right to know what they are taking into their stomachs.

Not only does the wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the famous medicine for weak stomach, torpid liver or biliousness and all catarrhal diseases wherever located, have printed upon it, in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients composing it, but a small book has been compiled from numerous standard medical works, of all the different schools of practice, containing very numerous extracts from the writings of leading practitioners of medicine, endorsing in the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient contained in Dr. Pierce's medicines. One of these little books will be mailed free to any one sending address on postal card, or by letter, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and requesting the same. From this little book it will be learned that Dr. Pierce's medicines contain no alcohol, narcotics, mineral agents or other poisonous or injurious agents; that they are made from indigenous or native, medicinal roots of great value, the properties of which are extracted and perfectly preserved by the use of chemically pure glycerine of proper strength. It will also be found that the glycerine employed greatly enhances the curative principles of the several roots employed, as it is the best possible solvent of their medicinal principles, besides possessing intrinsic medicinal value of its own, being a fine demulcent, nutritive, alterative and anti-ferment.

Man Who Was Shot in the Heart is Hale and Strong

Charles Grant, an old time Nebraska trooper who enjoys the unique distinction of having been shot through the heart at Guide Rock, Nebraska, about fifteen years ago and still survives his wound, is in Omaha.

Unlooked for that no immediate effort was made to apprehend the would-be murderer. I was carried into the hotel and a surgeon hastily summoned. He pronounced my wound fatal and said my death was but a question of a few moments. It was ascertained that the bullet had gone completely through me, partly lacerating a lung and had passed through the lower part of my heart. I was unconscious for several days, but being young and in vigorous health, began to show signs of recovery.

Grant was very popular, and the murderous assault upon him created the utmost indignation, and a diligent search was made for the desperado. He was captured some weeks later and lynched.
