Here are the frocks that fashion favors

Clever New Silk Dresses and Demi-Costumes

Among the beautiful new garments of this class which are shown for the first time this spring are very clever ideas in embroidered Messalines, Duchesse Silks, Shantung, Foulards, etc.

These dresses and demi-costumes follow the exact decree of Fashion in the new hipless and demi-empire effects. The little style features that are embodied and the delicate colorings employed make them very fetching. They are distinctly different from any spring apparel that has been shown in years and they are fashionably correct.

The price range which includes the popular priced as well as the higher valued garments. $35. $39 up to $95

We mention a special value we are showing in a beautiful embroidered messaline gown—all the spring colorings are included in this charming group, at.....$25

Discriminating women realize that everything they buy at Brandeis is absolutely correct in style and is of a dependable quality. In our women's ready-to-wear section we are always first to show the novelties of each season.

We specially mention some new arrivals in the new 3-piece suits—which comprise one-piece jumper dress (fancy waist) and separate coat to match.

Here is one model of the silk dresses that will have such a vogue this spring.

Colleges Invited to Omaha to Study Fields of Fossils

Archaeologist Says They Abound Here and Commercial Club Acts on His Suggestion.

"Come to Omaha to study fossils."

This is the invitation the Commercial club is to send to all the colleges, universities and museums of the United States and, if there are any left they will send a few abroad.

The suggestion came to the club from a well known archaeologist and anthropologist who claims that Omaha has, right at the door of the city, the best field for research in the world. Thousands of burial mounds are said to exist near Omaha and almost every county in the eastern part of the state has a row of hills which are the "Loess Mountain" for some people who existed at a time which ante-dates all dates.

"Two years ago the eyes of the entire civilized world were directed to Omaha and Nebraska through a discovery of what are acknowledged to be the oldest human remains ever found in north or south America, and which are now the greatest prize exhibits in the new museum at the University of Nebraska," writes the archaeologist.

When the facts concerning the prizes were made known to the executive committee of the club, it was voted to send out the invitations, as there are 1,000 mounds undug between Bellevue and Calhoun, and work enough for a band of students from almost every university in the country.
