If the weather becomes favorable for outdoor practice this week the candidates will be taken to Antelope park, where they will train this season. Arrangements have been made with Manager Green for the use of the park for practice and for playing the intercollegiate contests on the Nebraska home schedule. The Cornhusker home dates have been placed so that they will not conflict with any of the league bookings.

"I can see nothing to it but that Johnson will be champlon for as many years as Jeffries held the title at any rate. You may take it from me that Johnson is not afraid to meet Jeffries. The colored man says that he will meet any man and literally that includes Jeffries and he means it that way. In their fight at Sydney, Burns was never in it for a moment. He had no chance at all I believe fully that Johnson is the greatest fighter now in sight, black or white, He has great courage and is as quick, agile and hard as any big fighter."

Johnson unreservedly declared his willingness to meet Jeffries or any other man. In an interview just before leaving for Vancouver, Johnson said to an Assoclated Press representative: "I am willing to meet Jeffries. I am

It is doubtful, according to the arrangements made by Johnson, whether any fight could be brought on with Jeffries, Ketchel or any other man within six months. While his plans are not absolute, he hinted at willingness to change them if anything big was hung up for a match with Ketchel. Johnson intends to devote several months to a theatrical engagement, having signed with a syndicate in England for the London halls, and after an English tour to tour France and Germany. Johnson will leave the Makura at Vancouver and proceed tomorrow to Chicago, arriving there Saturday. He will continue his journey to Galveston on Monday, arriving at his Texas home on Wednesday. The homely philosophy of Mrs. Wiggs, the kindliness that went with her wherever she journeyed and the patience with which "I am willing to meet Jeffries. I am she bore the "slings and arrows of out-willing to meet any man in the world, and rageous fortune," and her never-falling gospel of good cheer ought to amply resimple, the play deserves the success it down on classic lines, Miss Chapman is making a great success of the role that was made to live by Madge Carr Cook. It is not an imitation, although it follows closely the lines of the original. Mrs. Wiggs is sufficiently broad and catholic to permit of much variation in her presentation without doing any vioence to the part as a whole. Miss Chapman has a firm grasp of the essentials and endows the character with an element of sympathy that seems to very nearly real ize the ideal. Miss Alter is well cast for Lovey Mary. the part inserted in the play from another story because it adds "heart interest." She is sweet and natural, and not too simple. and wins her way easily. Miss Lowell is a weepy, forlorn Miss Hasy and the average man would be willing to ride a long way in a box car to get away from the sight of her face, regardless of her ability as a cook. No one blamed Stubbins a great deal for the remonstrance he set up against Mrs. Wiggs' efforts as a matchmaker after the fact had been accomplished and the fraud had become apparent. Mrs. Eichorn in the hands of Miss Raymond, is as an gular and as attenuated as Mrs. Shultz (played by Miss Belknap) is rotund. Miss Raymond's voice is another excellent adunct to her idea of the part. The little Wiggses, with their geographical names, are there in force, and are as active as hey are numerous. Mr. Webber's Stubbins is a clever creation. While the part is low comedy all the way, it is achieved without any resort to sheer buffeonery and is finished as well as it is begun. The other men in the company are of rather negative quality. The piece is well staged. The audience at the Boyd last night was not the largest that ever gathered at the theater, but it was one of the best enterained. If hearty laughter and singere applause are to count, then the performance His Sweetheart s to be listed as a success. A matines this afternoon and a performance this
