AGED MAN BURNED TO DEATH

Body of Well Known Character

Fremont Found on Hot Stove,

FREMONT, Neb., March 14 - (Special Telogram.)-Fred Weise, a well-known charreter about town for the last thirty-five Joseph years, was found dead about 11 o'clock this rning at his room on East First street. He had fallen onto a stove. His face was frightfully burned, his chin and nose being ourned to a crisp. He evidently lighted his fire, sat down by the stove and fell over onto it. On the back of the stove was a bottle partially filled with whisky and a in can containing water. He was partially dressed and had on his shoes. His ands were clasped above his head. Weise was about 75 years old and so far as known had never been married. He owned an old ramshackle building on East First street and occupied the front part of the ower floor with a few groceries and miscellaneous junk. The back part and upper floor were rented to roomers. The room where he was found is at the back end of the store. A man who roomed there first noticed the smell of burning flesh and

The leaders will, however, exert themselves to prevent even this legislation at the present session. Their theory is that the quickest action on the tariff can be obtained by holding congress exclusively to that sublect, and they contend that the business nterests of the country which are affected by the uncertainty regarding duties are paramount to all other considerations.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY

AND MERIT.

It Not Only Cures Colds and Grip, But Prevents Them From Resulting in Pneumonia.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is intended especially for scate throat and long diseases, of which colds, croup and whooping cough are the most common. Those who have used it for years and are in a position to know its real value, assert that it is with-out an equal for the tr atment of these diseases. It not only our a colds and grip, but counteracts any tender y toward pneumonis.
It has come into almost universal use as a preventive and cure for croup, and has never been known to fail.

In cases of whooping cough it seeps the cough loose, expectoration easy and renders the paroxystes of coughing less frequent and less severe, depriving that disease of all dangerous consequences.

This vast amount of coffee, estimated to exceed 10,000,000 bags, is said to equal the entire exportation of Brazilian coffee into the United States for a whole year. Thus, it is stated, instead of being a revenue producer, the income for the first year's importation of coffee is likely to be a very insignificant sum. As an average of one billion pounds of coffee is imported annually, the tariff framers figured that a duty of 4 cents per pound would bring a revenue to the government of nearly $38,000,000 annually. The importations that would be free of duty from Porto Rico and Hawali, which now amount to 40,000,000 pounds, probably would cally export no coffee, it is contended, would send considerable coffee to this country if the suggested tax was placed on
