Wheat Sees Slight Changes During the Early Session.

SENTIMENT FAVORS THE BEARS

Has Awakened to the Fact of Reing Unable to Do Any Good on the Short Side of the Market.

OMAHA, March 19, 1909. CMAHA, March 19, 10ce. The wheat market saw very slight changes during the early session and the general sentiment which has been favoring the hear side of late has awakened to the fact of being unable to accomplish any good on the short side of the present market and are now waiting for a further advance before putting out short who at again. It was strongly noticeable the failure to scare the country dealers and the public generally into selling corn on the recent sharp break. This cereal is stronger than ever now.

sharp break. This cereal is stronger than ever now.

Wheat ruled steady, with values a shade under yesterday. The tone of the market was dult and while the feeling is less bearlab and crop news more inclined to be favoring the bulls, little action could be started and the market closed dult and festureless. May wheat opened at $1.094 and closed at $1.09.

Corn is still holding steady, with practically no change in prices, either cash or optional. The trend of the market runs dull, however, but there is no appearance of a desire to let loose of any large quintities of actual corn by the country holders. May corn opened at $25c and closed at $25c.

May corn opened at 62%c and closed at 62%c.

Primary wheat receipts were 562,000 bushels and shipments were 287,000 bushels and shipments of 502,000 bushels and shipments of 280,000 bushels.

Corn receipts were 512,000 bushels and shipments were 280,000 bushels, against receipts last year of 544,000 bushels and shipments of 489,000 bushels, against receipts last year of 544,000 bushels and shipments of 489,000 bushels.

Clearances were 120,000 bushels of corn, 4,000 bushels of outs and wheat and flour equal to 114,000 bushels.

Liverpool closed 44d lower on wheat and ad higher on corn.

Features of the Trading and Closing Prices on Board of Trade. CHICAGO. March 19.—The wheat market was depressed today by weak cables and by bearish crop news, and closed easy at net declines for the day of 140% to 160% Corn and cats closed steady and provisions corn and cats closed steady and provisions casy.

Trade in the wheat pit was dull and prices moved over a narrow range, trading being confined within %c to %c. News of the day was overwhelmingly bearish, but pit traders were not disposed to venture far from shore on the selling side, and consequently moderate buying by shorts and leading bulls held the market comparatively steady after an opening decline of %c to %c. The weakness at the start was due to lower cables and to increased receipts in the northwest. During the day many reports were received telling of the excellent condition of the fall-sown crop of wheat in Ohlo, southern Indiana and Illinois, and these messages tended to augment bearish sentiment. Liberal shipments from Australia and Argentina also had a weakening influence. During the day May sold between $1.15% and $1.16%. The close was easy, with May at $1.16. July closed at $1.07%, $1.40.

The market for corn was inclined to be weak all day. At the close prices were a shade to %c lower, compared with the previous close, May being at $91%c and July al $1.57%, $1.50.

OMAHA. March 19, 1909.

A trough of low pressure extends from the lake region over the middle Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys and southwest, with the greatest depression over the last section. Areas of high pressure overfle the extreme upper Missouri valley and the south Atlantic coast. Generally cloudy weather prevails in all portions of the country; rains are falling on the north Pacific coast. It is snowing in southern Wyoming. Colorado and northern Arizons, and rains and snows are general in the lake region and upper Ohio valley. Temperatures are much nigher in the lake region, Ohio valley and throughout the eastern and southern states. They are generally lower in the Missouri valley and west into the mountains, but no marked change has occurred west of the Mississippi river since the last report. Conditions are favorable for unsettled weather, with rain or snow in this vicinity tonight and Saturday, with not much change in temperature. CATTLE-Receipts of catter today were very light, only nineteen fresh cars being reported in, which was not enough to treate very much interest among buyers. freate very much interest among buyers, for the week the receipts have been quite beral. Although showing a falling off as empared with last week of almost 1,000 nead, they have been decidedly larger than the average of late and fully up to last enr's record. What few beef steers there were in sight his morning sold possibly a little stronger han resterday and it did not take buyers ery long to clean up what few were offered.

The sames thing was true of cows and neifers. They too sold a little bit stronger than yesterday, and the lew odds and ends offered changed hands in good season in There was a little sprinkling of stockers and feeders, but as usual at the end of the week the demand was pretty quiet and the market dull and weak.

a weak and lower market and at that point packers began putting out a few bids, but they were in all cases as much as 10c-and in a good many cases more than that lower as compared with yesterday. Owing to the reluctance of salesmen to make any such concession the morning dragged by and it was well along toward midday before any business of consequence had been transacted.

In spite of all that salesmen could do buyers remained firm in their determination to break the market and salesmen began cutting loose pretty freely whenever they could get within 10c of yesterday's prices. On a good many hogs, however, the packers were bidding fully 15c lower and the trade continued duil, but still about everything was sold before the close.

Wool Market.

BOSTON. March 12.—WOOL—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow of the wool market? Business is of smaller volume than last week, but with fair activity in imported stock and moderate transactions in domestic. It is a very firm and gradually strengthening market. By the time the new domestic clip arrives on the market the supply of foreign competing stock will be reduced so materially that the new domestic wools are expected to find ready market. The shipments of wool from Boston to March 18, inclusive, were 55,344,878 pounds, against 29,132,724 pounds for the same time last year. The receipts to March 18, inclusive, were 70,072,458 pounds, against 28,777,404 pounds the same period last year.
