BEATRICE MAN UP FOR ASSAULT

Another Arrested on Charge of Spiriting Away a Witness.

BEATRICE, Neb., March 30.—(Special Telegram.)—At his preliminary hearing today Friday was bound over to the district court on the charge of criminally assaulting Mabel Myers, 14 years old. In default of $500 bail he was remanded to the county jail. When the case was called for trial it developed that Miss Myers was missing and Jess Smylie was arrested on the charge of spiriting her away. On the witness stand Smylie testified that she was taken away from home at the request of her parents, but Mr. Myers denied this statement when he was called. A complaint will be filed against Smylie tomorrow by County Attorney McGirr, charging him with spiriting away one of the state's witnesses.

Mystery in Normal Fire.

KEARNEY, Neb., March 30.—(Special.)—Mystery surrounds the origin of the fire at the Normal last Saturday morning. There was no fire within six hundred feet of the building, the heating plant being operated on an adjoining lot, and as the wiring was all intact after the fire, it could not have been a defective wire. Nothing combustible was around the boiler and it had just been thoroughly cleaned of waste paper. The clock had been stopped by the heat at 11 p. m., and when the firemen entered the building at 7 in the morning the floor was in a charred condition as it fell through. There is a general belief that the fire was of an incendiary origin.

Kills Parents of Wife and Hacks Bodies to Pieces

Brutal Crime Committed by Dick Barton at Provost, S. D.—Latter is Arrested at Edgemont.

ALLIANCE, Neb., March 30.—(Special Telegram.)—Word was received here this morning from Provost, S. D., just over the Nebraska state line of the murder last night of Mr. and Mrs. Tucker, ranchers near that place, by their son-in-law, Dick Barton. It is asserted, killed the old couple with an axe, after which he cut up the bodies in a fiendish manner. Barton formerly ran out of here as flagman on the through passenger trains. After the murder Barton unmercifully beat his wife and exacted a promise that she would not report him until he had a chance to get away. Upon his departure, however, she notified a neighbor and pursuit was begun and he was located in Edgemont, where he endeavored to dispose of his team and tried to get his baggage checked to Crawford, Neb., where he probably intended to decamp for Wyoming. While there is no positively known reason for the ghastly deed, his domestic affairs have been such as to warrant those who are acquainted with the particulars to believe that these furnished the motive for his act.

Before his arrest at Edgemont a neighboring rancher had him in the custody of the sheriff and made every effort to murder him on the spot, but, after being overpowered, he desisted, and to avoid any further outbreak he, too, was placed in jail. The feeling in Edgemont is rather high and it would not be surprising that summary justice be dealt out to Barton by his enraged neighbors before night.

HUSBAND AND WIFE INSANE

Peculiar and Sad Case Developed in Pawnee County.

WOMAN MORE VIOLENT OF TWO

Become Imbued with Idea They Owned Farm They Rented and Gave Officers a Lively Time Arresting Them.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

PAWNEE CITY, Neb., March 30.—(Special Telegram.)—William Havel and wife were both adjudged insane by the insanity board of Pawnee county today.

These people have been tenants on a farm near Table Rock belonging to the estate of D. N. Miller, but claiming to be owners of the land a short time ago, forced Mrs. Miller and her son off the property, threatening to shoot them should they return. A writ of ejectment was procured in district court and Sheriff Fuller served the writ this morning, accompanied by a posse. Mr. and Mrs. Havel showed fight, having two large butcher knives, a shotgun and a hammer ready on a table, but were overpowered before they could reach the weapons, but not until Charles McCourtney was severely bitten in the hand by the infuriated woman and Abe Forney and others of the posse badly scratched about the hands and face. It was necessary to handcuff the woman and tie the man, they fought so desperately. They have been a menace to the community for some time and were feared by the neighbors. They have considerable personal property.

This evening, while being guarded in the court house, becoming excited because her son was out of her sight, the woman dashed her head against a window and cut herself about the wrists and arms badly.

INTERURBAN FOR VALENTINE

Proposal to Utilize Water Power for Irrigation.

VALENTINE, Neb., March 30.—(Special.)—C. H. Cornell, who owns the franchise of a water power on the Nebraska river near here, returned from Chicago accompanied by Mr. Collins, an engineer, who on viewing the power site started across country with Mr. Cornell looking for a feasible route over paying territory for an interurban railroad, with Valentine as initial point. They visited Sparks, Norden, Springfield, Burton, Mills, Jimmison, Naper and Butte, near which place it is proposed forming a junction with the Northwestern railroad. Mr. Cornell returned home last night via Norfolk. Mr. Collins proceeded on to Chicago.

Various poses out rounding up had Indians were reached as far as possible and ordered to a position in the line around the chief and his aides. Gun fighters from the ranches took their places in the circle. Farmers, in order that the protection of their homes might be made doubly sure, came armed with guns of various patterns and made the line stronger by their presence. It was an uprising of the whites against the reds and lawless blacks. This motley but grim and efficient body presented a determined front and insisted on having a finality of the thing then and there. Chief Snake was cornered at last. But while the most difficult task was accomplished, one fraught with infinitely more danger loomed up just ahead—the fight which seemed imminent.

Whites Flee from Homes.

While this was in progress scores of frightened white families had fled from their homes, fearing outrages by the lawless elements. Throughout the night they went to Henryetta, Pierce, and some even to Cheyenne. Their apprehension was not without cause, for to the south and east of Pierce scattered Snake bands were hidden in the hills, while still others had gone to the northeast retreats, making Pierce the center of the district buffeted by the uprising. With these desperate ones near, and with the attention of the authorities very naturally diverted for the moment to the Snake and the chances for his capture, the farms would have been an easy prey for raiders. For hours many a farmer fearfully waited for the coming of raiders who might burn his buildings and perhaps kill him, but so far as the military could learn up to 7 o'clock this morning no such outrages had been committed, although there were instances of people having been frightened by the threats of roving war parties.
