

THE OMAHA DAILY BEE

FOUNDED BY EDWARD ROEWATER

VICTOR ROEWATER, EDITOR

Entered at Omaha postoffice as second-class matter.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION. Daily Bee (without Sunday), one year... $4.00

OFFICES. Omaha—The Bee Building, South Omaha—Twenty-fourth and N.

REMITTANCES. Remit by draft, express or postal order, payable to The Bee Publishing Company.

STATEMENT OF CIRCULATION. State of Nebraska, Douglas County, as: George B. Tschuck, treasurer of the Bee Publishing Company, being duly sworn, says that the actual number of full and complete copies of the Daily, Morning, Evening and Sunday Bee printed during the month of March, 1909, was as follows:

Table with 3 columns: Date, Circulation, Total. Rows for each day of the month from 1st to 31st.

Net total... 1,197,402. Daily average... 38,617. GEORGE B. TSCHUCK, Treasurer.

WHEN OUT OF TOWN. Subscribers leaving the city temporarily should have The Bee mailed to them.

The speed law places no limits on congress.

While the senate is about it a prohibitive tariff might be placed on Canadian spring weather.

Grim, grizzled winter again persists in lingering in the lap of gentle Spring. Twenty-three for you.

A fashion note says there will be fewer buttons on men's clothes this year. Bachelors may be in style.

At Baltimore a Salome dancer was convicted of disturbing the peace. The performance must have been loud.

Under the new pay-in-advance fee bill system the office of the clerk of the district court is expected to work like a cash register.

Nebraska's senators have been appealed to see to it that public stone is properly protected in the new tariff bill. There's the rub.

Richmond P. Hobson warns us again that the Chautauque season is approaching and something had to be done to attract attention to the lecture stars.

When the 8 o'clock closing law goes into effect will the railroads please bring their trains into Omaha so that stop-over privileges will be good in the daytime?

Oh, yes! We're all for municipal ownership. But what's that to do with paying the water company $6,262,295.49 just because it wants the money?

The government is undertaking to determine what is whisky. The trouble is the more persistently the tester pursued his calling the more confused he becomes.

An 8-year-old Chicago boy has been lost seventy-six times. That boy should be equipped with a self-acting fog horn when he starts out on a cruise from home.

According to W. D. Howells' deliberate opinion, Poe was drunk when he wrote his poetry. Mr. Howells is respectfully referred to Lincoln's famous remark about Grant.

According to the dispatches, Rev. "Billie" Sunday cleaned up $10,734.84 by conducting a six weeks' revival service in Springfield, Ill. That's almost equal to Chautauque lecturing at Bryan prices.

Just to maintain its reputation for being a little better Lincoln proposes to shoo up the lid-closing hour thirty minutes. The Lincoln plan must be modeled after Mr. Bryan's gradual reduction tariff scheme.

Waking up to the fact that San Francisco is losing money by not catering more to the tourist, a local paper declares there is more money in the tourist than in trade. Possibly, when he first arrives.

Hill and Harriman are supposed to have reached an agreement on the division of Portland, but the people of that city will still be permitted to "squat" on the land and pay the freight on the railroads.

Of the $1,600,000 fine assessed against the Waters-Pierce Oil company in Texas the lawyers receive only two-thirds. Nothing but the modesty of Texas lawyers prevents them from taking everything in sight.

Departmental Efficiency.

The announcement from Washington that President Taft has decided to undertake the task of making the work of the departments more efficient will be welcome news to every one who has occasion to transact business with the general government.

Red tape and duplication so grows upon the government service from time to time that the business man who comes in contact with it is driven to despair. He is kept chasing from one department to another, with exasperating delays at each stage, until he is weary.

A start has already been made along the lines indicated, which is indicative of the policy to be pursued. The attorney general and the secretary of commerce and labor have been directed to reorganize and combine certain bureaus of their departments so that their work will not duplicate itself.

The task which the administration has set for itself is so large and involved that much time will be required to bring about appreciable results and much cavilling will doubtless be indulged in in the meantime.

Recklessness with Figures.

Statistics are forceful arguments when rightly used, but figures, when recklessly quoted, too often carry an erroneous impression. In his effort to make a point against existing industrial conditions Samuel Gompers has on numerous occasions indulged in some statements which will not bear analysis.

Any accurate statement as to the number out of employment at this or any other time would be impossible, but the population of the country is so large that a million or two million appears to be the most convenient number to handle.

When the 8 o'clock closing law goes into effect will the railroads please bring their trains into Omaha so that stop-over privileges will be good in the daytime?

Oh, yes! We're all for municipal ownership. But what's that to do with paying the water company $6,262,295.49 just because it wants the money?

The government is undertaking to determine what is whisky. The trouble is the more persistently the tester pursued his calling the more confused he becomes.

An 8-year-old Chicago boy has been lost seventy-six times. That boy should be equipped with a self-acting fog horn when he starts out on a cruise from home.

According to W. D. Howells' deliberate opinion, Poe was drunk when he wrote his poetry. Mr. Howells is respectfully referred to Lincoln's famous remark about Grant.

According to the dispatches, Rev. "Billie" Sunday cleaned up $10,734.84 by conducting a six weeks' revival service in Springfield, Ill. That's almost equal to Chautauque lecturing at Bryan prices.

Just to maintain its reputation for being a little better Lincoln proposes to shoo up the lid-closing hour thirty minutes. The Lincoln plan must be modeled after Mr. Bryan's gradual reduction tariff scheme.

Waking up to the fact that San Francisco is losing money by not catering more to the tourist, a local paper declares there is more money in the tourist than in trade. Possibly, when he first arrives.

Hill and Harriman are supposed to have reached an agreement on the division of Portland, but the people of that city will still be permitted to "squat" on the land and pay the freight on the railroads.

Of the $1,600,000 fine assessed against the Waters-Pierce Oil company in Texas the lawyers receive only two-thirds. Nothing but the modesty of Texas lawyers prevents them from taking everything in sight.

Of the $1,600,000 fine assessed against the Waters-Pierce Oil company in Texas the lawyers receive only two-thirds. Nothing but the modesty of Texas lawyers prevents them from taking everything in sight.

Of the $1,600,000 fine assessed against the Waters-Pierce Oil company in Texas the lawyers receive only two-thirds. Nothing but the modesty of Texas lawyers prevents them from taking everything in sight.

Of the $1,600,000 fine assessed against the Waters-Pierce Oil company in Texas the lawyers receive only two-thirds. Nothing but the modesty of Texas lawyers prevents them from taking everything in sight.

Of the $1,600,000 fine assessed against the Waters-Pierce Oil company in Texas the lawyers receive only two-thirds. Nothing but the modesty of Texas lawyers prevents them from taking everything in sight.

Nothing Personal in It.

Two or three country papers are attempting to break the force of The Bee's protest against the appointment of State Senator Majors to a position on the new Normal board by trying to make out that its editor is inspired by motives of personal enmity.

The constitution of Nebraska says in so many words that no member of the legislature during the term for which he shall have been elected shall be appointed by the governor and senate to any civil office and endeavors to clinch it by adding that any such appointment and any vote in confirmation shall be absolutely void.

So far as State Senator Majors is concerned his selection for this place is simply incidental so far as The Bee's position is concerned. The editor of The Bee was offered an appointment to the State Board of Education by Governor Mickey at a time when the governor was anxious to have someone on the board to hold Mr. Majors down, but the tender was declined because there was no disposition to have any personal quarrel with Mr. Majors.

The democratic city council is submitting the proposition to vote bonds for some new fire engine houses. With the object lesson before them of the last fire engine house built standing empty, it will behoove the voters to see to it that the next ones are erected by a republican council and located where they can be useful as well as ornamental.

IS TAFT GREATER THAN TEDDY?

Characteristic Outburst from the "Uncle Joe."

Speaker Cannon in Leslie's Weekly. I believe the man in the White House is the greatest president we have had since Lincoln's day. He is a man of judicial temperament, a man who will not cut across lots.

The entire available supply of contract wheat is said to be in the hands of one man, who in addition holds millions of bushels of "paper" wheat for which the unfortunate sellers must settle.

Andrew Carnegie has offered to contribute $1,000 to buy a pipe organ for an Omaha church, conditioned only on the raising of an additional $1,200.

ARMY RANKS FULL.

With 77,000 Men No More Applicants Will Be Recruited.

For the first time since the Spanish war the United States army is recruited up to its full strength in all of its branches, and in every recruiting station in New York, Brooklyn and Jersey City there is prominently displayed on the bulletin boards a notice signed by the adjutant general of the army ordering the recruiting officers to confine themselves, under further orders, to the re-enlisting of honorably discharged soldiers.

Principles and Practice.

Indiana News. Fifty-five republicans voted for free lumber and thirty-eight democrats against it, thus showing the facility with which party principles can be adapted to an emergency.

Value of the Best Cure.

Brooklyn Eagle. Prof. Brander Matthews and his simple spellers have concluded to pause all the world catches up with their procession. If the Esperantists would only rest a while, too, there might still be some hope for the survival of the English language.

Small Favors Appreciated.

Boston Herald. Secretary of War Dickinson appears to have the proper official conviction that efforts for world peace are not to be unduly hastened. But he is convinced that we may rest easy in hope for the future. Reassuring as far as it goes.

Uplift Surmounts Obstacles.

Chicago Record-Herald. "Uncle Joe" Cannon recently declared that in his opinion the world was better than it had ever been in the past. We agree with "Uncle Joe," but it is almost necessary to say in this connection that "Uncle Joe" has done very little to bring about the splendid condition to which he refers.

PULLMAN CAR RATES.

Removed Reduction Provokes a Few Pertinent Remarks.

Washington Star. The news has gone out that the Pullman Car company is preparing to make a general reduction in rates, putting into effect the differential between upper and lower berths long desired by the traveling public.

Efforts have frequently been made to secure federal legislation on this point. If such legislation were enacted, the Interstate Commerce commission would probably be willing to compel the sleeping car companies to bring their tariff down to a reasonable basis, the public complaint against them being not merely of a lack of discrimination between first and second-class accommodations, but of general exorbitance.

While they are about the matter of re-adjusting the sleeping car tariff the Pullman officials might properly consider the matter of porters' wages.

WASHINGTON LIFE

Short Sketches of Incidents and Episodes that Mark the Progress of Events at the Nation's Capital.

Spring puts on varied and most attractive garb in Washington, in early April. Usually the season for bursting leaf and blooming flower is two weeks ahead of the Omaha seasons. It advances rapidly during the month and by May day the city is full-blown in emerald, decked with flowers. In late April and early May the city is a delight to the eye—more attractive as a spectacle than any other time of the year.

While the forsythia and the jasmine blossoms dominate, as gold always has a way of dominating, their fortunes will be scattered in a few days and the silver blossoms of the Japanese magnolia, a cousin of our own grandiflora, will take the place of the gold that ruled for a day.

Nearly 30,000 tourists have looked the capital of the nation over during the last three weeks, and the favorite season for visiting Washington is only opening.

WASTING GOOD MONEY.

Boston Herald. Fresh publications by the government in Washington continue to amuse, as well as excite wonder. In the course of 33 printed pages on the subject of juvenile crime and reformation Arthur Macdonald, "honorary president of the third international Congress of Criminal Anthropology of Europe," is allowed to prove that there is more pleasure than pain in the world by tabulating a government clerk's mental states for one day.

FEMINE SACRIFICE.

Chicago Tribune. Carolyn Wells in Harper's Weekly. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: And I would that my tongue could we come. The things that taste good to me. Oh, well for the alderman's wife. That she bravely strives to get slim; And well for the tailor maid Who runs and jumps in the gym. And the stately hips go off. (This surely a wondrous feat!) But oh, for a touch of mayonnaise! And the taste of a thing that is sweet. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: Will never come back to me!

WASHINGTON LIFE

Short Sketches of Incidents and Episodes that Mark the Progress of Events at the Nation's Capital.

Spring puts on varied and most attractive garb in Washington, in early April. Usually the season for bursting leaf and blooming flower is two weeks ahead of the Omaha seasons. It advances rapidly during the month and by May day the city is full-blown in emerald, decked with flowers. In late April and early May the city is a delight to the eye—more attractive as a spectacle than any other time of the year.

While the forsythia and the jasmine blossoms dominate, as gold always has a way of dominating, their fortunes will be scattered in a few days and the silver blossoms of the Japanese magnolia, a cousin of our own grandiflora, will take the place of the gold that ruled for a day.

Nearly 30,000 tourists have looked the capital of the nation over during the last three weeks, and the favorite season for visiting Washington is only opening.

WASTING GOOD MONEY.

Boston Herald. Fresh publications by the government in Washington continue to amuse, as well as excite wonder. In the course of 33 printed pages on the subject of juvenile crime and reformation Arthur Macdonald, "honorary president of the third international Congress of Criminal Anthropology of Europe," is allowed to prove that there is more pleasure than pain in the world by tabulating a government clerk's mental states for one day.

FEMINE SACRIFICE.

Chicago Tribune. Carolyn Wells in Harper's Weekly. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: And I would that my tongue could we come. The things that taste good to me. Oh, well for the alderman's wife. That she bravely strives to get slim; And well for the tailor maid Who runs and jumps in the gym. And the stately hips go off. (This surely a wondrous feat!) But oh, for a touch of mayonnaise! And the taste of a thing that is sweet. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: Will never come back to me!

ROYAL BAKING POWDER. Makes delicious hot biscuit, griddle cakes, rolls and muffins. The only Baking Powder Made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar.

PERSONAL NOTES.

A lot of stenographers in Trenton kissed the office boy and he gave all of them the measles. Shocking ingratitude.

The Oyster Bay Pilot notes a "falling off in realty transactions" in that locality of late, and that "things are quite dull."

A Methodist minister of austere principles has been appointed chief of police at Mason City, Ia. Now sinners will have to listen to him.

Congressman Carl Carey Anderson of Ohio, at the age of 10 was a newsway and bootblack, and at 16 had saved enough money to buy a home for his mother.

Found guilty of double murder, a Kentucky night rider has been sent to prison for a year. Evidently the wholesale assassin is allowed a reduction from the regular rate.

According to the London Times the Persian revolutionaries have been reinforced by an Irishman and an American. While one of these lasts the policy of being "agin the government" will never be abandoned.

Chicago property owners have not yet secured much relief from paying burdens by the imposition of a wheel tax. Owners of vehicles think the pleasure of seeing them pass by is ample reward for those who foot the paving bills.

It has just been discovered that the new criminal code of the state of Washington makes it a misdemeanor for a restaurant waiter or an employe of a public service corporation to take a tip, or for anyone to give a tip to such a person.

Caruso, it is said, owes the injury that has come to his $2,000—or is it $2,000?—per night voice to the strain incident to singing for the music canning factories. He received much money for the raw material, as much as $9,000 during a single season. It is estimated, and now all he has to show for it, aside from the vulgar gold, is a sore throat and some sprained vocal chords.

Wasting Good Money. Boston Herald. Fresh publications by the government in Washington continue to amuse, as well as excite wonder. In the course of 33 printed pages on the subject of juvenile crime and reformation Arthur Macdonald, "honorary president of the third international Congress of Criminal Anthropology of Europe," is allowed to prove that there is more pleasure than pain in the world by tabulating a government clerk's mental states for one day.

Femine Sacrifice. Chicago Tribune. Carolyn Wells in Harper's Weekly. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: And I would that my tongue could we come. The things that taste good to me. Oh, well for the alderman's wife. That she bravely strives to get slim; And well for the tailor maid Who runs and jumps in the gym. And the stately hips go off. (This surely a wondrous feat!) But oh, for a touch of mayonnaise! And the taste of a thing that is sweet. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: Will never come back to me!

Wasting Good Money. Boston Herald. Fresh publications by the government in Washington continue to amuse, as well as excite wonder. In the course of 33 printed pages on the subject of juvenile crime and reformation Arthur Macdonald, "honorary president of the third international Congress of Criminal Anthropology of Europe," is allowed to prove that there is more pleasure than pain in the world by tabulating a government clerk's mental states for one day.

Femine Sacrifice. Chicago Tribune. Carolyn Wells in Harper's Weekly. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: And I would that my tongue could we come. The things that taste good to me. Oh, well for the alderman's wife. That she bravely strives to get slim; And well for the tailor maid Who runs and jumps in the gym. And the stately hips go off. (This surely a wondrous feat!) But oh, for a touch of mayonnaise! And the taste of a thing that is sweet. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: Will never come back to me!

Wasting Good Money. Boston Herald. Fresh publications by the government in Washington continue to amuse, as well as excite wonder. In the course of 33 printed pages on the subject of juvenile crime and reformation Arthur Macdonald, "honorary president of the third international Congress of Criminal Anthropology of Europe," is allowed to prove that there is more pleasure than pain in the world by tabulating a government clerk's mental states for one day.

Femine Sacrifice. Chicago Tribune. Carolyn Wells in Harper's Weekly. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: And I would that my tongue could we come. The things that taste good to me. Oh, well for the alderman's wife. That she bravely strives to get slim; And well for the tailor maid Who runs and jumps in the gym. And the stately hips go off. (This surely a wondrous feat!) But oh, for a touch of mayonnaise! And the taste of a thing that is sweet. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: Will never come back to me!

Wasting Good Money. Boston Herald. Fresh publications by the government in Washington continue to amuse, as well as excite wonder. In the course of 33 printed pages on the subject of juvenile crime and reformation Arthur Macdonald, "honorary president of the third international Congress of Criminal Anthropology of Europe," is allowed to prove that there is more pleasure than pain in the world by tabulating a government clerk's mental states for one day.

Femine Sacrifice. Chicago Tribune. Carolyn Wells in Harper's Weekly. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: And I would that my tongue could we come. The things that taste good to me. Oh, well for the alderman's wife. That she bravely strives to get slim; And well for the tailor maid Who runs and jumps in the gym. And the stately hips go off. (This surely a wondrous feat!) But oh, for a touch of mayonnaise! And the taste of a thing that is sweet. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: Will never come back to me!

Wasting Good Money. Boston Herald. Fresh publications by the government in Washington continue to amuse, as well as excite wonder. In the course of 33 printed pages on the subject of juvenile crime and reformation Arthur Macdonald, "honorary president of the third international Congress of Criminal Anthropology of Europe," is allowed to prove that there is more pleasure than pain in the world by tabulating a government clerk's mental states for one day.

Femine Sacrifice. Chicago Tribune. Carolyn Wells in Harper's Weekly. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: And I would that my tongue could we come. The things that taste good to me. Oh, well for the alderman's wife. That she bravely strives to get slim; And well for the tailor maid Who runs and jumps in the gym. And the stately hips go off. (This surely a wondrous feat!) But oh, for a touch of mayonnaise! And the taste of a thing that is sweet. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: Will never come back to me!

Wasting Good Money. Boston Herald. Fresh publications by the government in Washington continue to amuse, as well as excite wonder. In the course of 33 printed pages on the subject of juvenile crime and reformation Arthur Macdonald, "honorary president of the third international Congress of Criminal Anthropology of Europe," is allowed to prove that there is more pleasure than pain in the world by tabulating a government clerk's mental states for one day.

Femine Sacrifice. Chicago Tribune. Carolyn Wells in Harper's Weekly. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: And I would that my tongue could we come. The things that taste good to me. Oh, well for the alderman's wife. That she bravely strives to get slim; And well for the tailor maid Who runs and jumps in the gym. And the stately hips go off. (This surely a wondrous feat!) But oh, for a touch of mayonnaise! And the taste of a thing that is sweet. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: Will never come back to me!

Wasting Good Money. Boston Herald. Fresh publications by the government in Washington continue to amuse, as well as excite wonder. In the course of 33 printed pages on the subject of juvenile crime and reformation Arthur Macdonald, "honorary president of the third international Congress of Criminal Anthropology of Europe," is allowed to prove that there is more pleasure than pain in the world by tabulating a government clerk's mental states for one day.

Femine Sacrifice. Chicago Tribune. Carolyn Wells in Harper's Weekly. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: And I would that my tongue could we come. The things that taste good to me. Oh, well for the alderman's wife. That she bravely strives to get slim; And well for the tailor maid Who runs and jumps in the gym. And the stately hips go off. (This surely a wondrous feat!) But oh, for a touch of mayonnaise! And the taste of a thing that is sweet. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: Will never come back to me!

Wasting Good Money. Boston Herald. Fresh publications by the government in Washington continue to amuse, as well as excite wonder. In the course of 33 printed pages on the subject of juvenile crime and reformation Arthur Macdonald, "honorary president of the third international Congress of Criminal Anthropology of Europe," is allowed to prove that there is more pleasure than pain in the world by tabulating a government clerk's mental states for one day.

Femine Sacrifice. Chicago Tribune. Carolyn Wells in Harper's Weekly. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: And I would that my tongue could we come. The things that taste good to me. Oh, well for the alderman's wife. That she bravely strives to get slim; And well for the tailor maid Who runs and jumps in the gym. And the stately hips go off. (This surely a wondrous feat!) But oh, for a touch of mayonnaise! And the taste of a thing that is sweet. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: Will never come back to me!

Wasting Good Money. Boston Herald. Fresh publications by the government in Washington continue to amuse, as well as excite wonder. In the course of 33 printed pages on the subject of juvenile crime and reformation Arthur Macdonald, "honorary president of the third international Congress of Criminal Anthropology of Europe," is allowed to prove that there is more pleasure than pain in the world by tabulating a government clerk's mental states for one day.

Femine Sacrifice. Chicago Tribune. Carolyn Wells in Harper's Weekly. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: And I would that my tongue could we come. The things that taste good to me. Oh, well for the alderman's wife. That she bravely strives to get slim; And well for the tailor maid Who runs and jumps in the gym. And the stately hips go off. (This surely a wondrous feat!) But oh, for a touch of mayonnaise! And the taste of a thing that is sweet. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: Will never come back to me!

Wasting Good Money. Boston Herald. Fresh publications by the government in Washington continue to amuse, as well as excite wonder. In the course of 33 printed pages on the subject of juvenile crime and reformation Arthur Macdonald, "honorary president of the third international Congress of Criminal Anthropology of Europe," is allowed to prove that there is more pleasure than pain in the world by tabulating a government clerk's mental states for one day.

Femine Sacrifice. Chicago Tribune. Carolyn Wells in Harper's Weekly. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: And I would that my tongue could we come. The things that taste good to me. Oh, well for the alderman's wife. That she bravely strives to get slim; And well for the tailor maid Who runs and jumps in the gym. And the stately hips go off. (This surely a wondrous feat!) But oh, for a touch of mayonnaise! And the taste of a thing that is sweet. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: Will never come back to me!

Wasting Good Money. Boston Herald. Fresh publications by the government in Washington continue to amuse, as well as excite wonder. In the course of 33 printed pages on the subject of juvenile crime and reformation Arthur Macdonald, "honorary president of the third international Congress of Criminal Anthropology of Europe," is allowed to prove that there is more pleasure than pain in the world by tabulating a government clerk's mental states for one day.

Femine Sacrifice. Chicago Tribune. Carolyn Wells in Harper's Weekly. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: And I would that my tongue could we come. The things that taste good to me. Oh, well for the alderman's wife. That she bravely strives to get slim; And well for the tailor maid Who runs and jumps in the gym. And the stately hips go off. (This surely a wondrous feat!) But oh, for a touch of mayonnaise! And the taste of a thing that is sweet. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: Will never come back to me!

Wasting Good Money. Boston Herald. Fresh publications by the government in Washington continue to amuse, as well as excite wonder. In the course of 33 printed pages on the subject of juvenile crime and reformation Arthur Macdonald, "honorary president of the third international Congress of Criminal Anthropology of Europe," is allowed to prove that there is more pleasure than pain in the world by tabulating a government clerk's mental states for one day.

Femine Sacrifice. Chicago Tribune. Carolyn Wells in Harper's Weekly. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: And I would that my tongue could we come. The things that taste good to me. Oh, well for the alderman's wife. That she bravely strives to get slim; And well for the tailor maid Who runs and jumps in the gym. And the stately hips go off. (This surely a wondrous feat!) But oh, for a touch of mayonnaise! And the taste of a thing that is sweet. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: Will never come back to me!

Wasting Good Money. Boston Herald. Fresh publications by the government in Washington continue to amuse, as well as excite wonder. In the course of 33 printed pages on the subject of juvenile crime and reformation Arthur Macdonald, "honorary president of the third international Congress of Criminal Anthropology of Europe," is allowed to prove that there is more pleasure than pain in the world by tabulating a government clerk's mental states for one day.

Femine Sacrifice. Chicago Tribune. Carolyn Wells in Harper's Weekly. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: And I would that my tongue could we come. The things that taste good to me. Oh, well for the alderman's wife. That she bravely strives to get slim; And well for the tailor maid Who runs and jumps in the gym. And the stately hips go off. (This surely a wondrous feat!) But oh, for a touch of mayonnaise! And the taste of a thing that is sweet. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: Will never come back to me!

Wasting Good Money. Boston Herald. Fresh publications by the government in Washington continue to amuse, as well as excite wonder. In the course of 33 printed pages on the subject of juvenile crime and reformation Arthur Macdonald, "honorary president of the third international Congress of Criminal Anthropology of Europe," is allowed to prove that there is more pleasure than pain in the world by tabulating a government clerk's mental states for one day.

Femine Sacrifice. Chicago Tribune. Carolyn Wells in Harper's Weekly. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: And I would that my tongue could we come. The things that taste good to me. Oh, well for the alderman's wife. That she bravely strives to get slim; And well for the tailor maid Who runs and jumps in the gym. And the stately hips go off. (This surely a wondrous feat!) But oh, for a touch of mayonnaise! And the taste of a thing that is sweet. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: Will never come back to me!

Wasting Good Money. Boston Herald. Fresh publications by the government in Washington continue to amuse, as well as excite wonder. In the course of 33 printed pages on the subject of juvenile crime and reformation Arthur Macdonald, "honorary president of the third international Congress of Criminal Anthropology of Europe," is allowed to prove that there is more pleasure than pain in the world by tabulating a government clerk's mental states for one day.

Femine Sacrifice. Chicago Tribune. Carolyn Wells in Harper's Weekly. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: And I would that my tongue could we come. The things that taste good to me. Oh, well for the alderman's wife. That she bravely strives to get slim; And well for the tailor maid Who runs and jumps in the gym. And the stately hips go off. (This surely a wondrous feat!) But oh, for a touch of mayonnaise! And the taste of a thing that is sweet. Bant, bant, bant! Oh, fashion, at thy decree: Will never come back to me!

ROYAL BAKING POWDER. Makes delicious hot biscuit, griddle cakes, rolls and muffins. The only Baking Powder Made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar.

PERSONAL NOTES.

A lot of stenographers in Trenton kissed the office boy and he gave all of them the measles. Shocking ingratitude.

The Oyster Bay Pilot notes a "falling off in realty transactions" in that locality of late, and that "things are quite dull."

A Methodist minister of austere principles has been appointed chief of police at Mason City, Ia. Now sinners will have to listen to him.