W. C. Lambert said last evening: "I called on Dr. F. W. Faulk, the newly appointed member, previous to the last meeting of our board and asked him to take the reins if he cared to do so. He said he had not received his commission. I shall be glad to turn over the position at the earliest moment. I am satisfied with the appointment and consider him a worthy successor." A. H. Murdock said, previous to his departure from the city, that the parties under the jurisdiction of the board should hear from the board as long as he and his associates were in office. He said this just after the board had revoked two licenses for breaches of the Stocumb law. The legislature saw fit to discredit the effectiveness of the board, but we will stick it out to the last." W. P. Adkins had thought of tendering his resignation until certain interested parties asked him to resign to make room for them, so he, not feeling flattered, flatly refused and will stand out for the balance of the life of the board. The new board comes into effect in July. Few assert of the present board that it ever receded from the position first taken, to deal strictly with the management of all licensed industry. Sidewalk Ordinances. H. G. Boesche has a serious complaint against the present city council in the matter of sidewalk ordinances, which class of city legislation is the common diversion of the members. Every session of the council has had from one to five such ordinances. H. G. Boesche is the city claim agent, and it becomes his duty to send out proper notices when such ordinances are passed. He has found permanent walks ordered in on streets not yet on grade, and has found temporary walks ordered on streets which are brought to grade. In several cases three or four ordinances have been discovered covering the same territory which have been passed at different times and forgotten. In a few cases technical errors have been discovered in the ordinances. Burglars in Hardware Store. Burglars broke into a back door of J. F. Beaver's hardware store, 624 North Twenty-fourth street last night and stole 100 pocket knives, eight revolvers and twelve razors, valued in the aggregate at about $125. The police have as yet secured no trace of them. Maple City Gossip. C. E. Campbell has sold one of his houses to Lydia A. Bevington. Jetter's Gold Top Beer delivered to any part of the city, Telephone No. 8 The funeral of Mrs. Malinda Duckworth was conducted yesterday afternoon. Judge A. L. Sutton was initiated at Beehive lodge of the Masons last evening. Bernard Skarr, who has been sick for four weeks with typhoid fever, is slowly improving. Chapter M of the P. E. O. society will be entertained by Mrs. C. F. Oliver Saturday afternoon. Fish-McGill Stationery company has doubled its capital stock. The shares now amount to $10,000. The Enique club gave a party in the apartment of the Millman in the Seago block Wednesday evening for the benefit of St. Agnes' church. Magic City lodge No. 846, Modern Brotherhood of America, held an open meeting last evening and gave special entertainment to the friends of the order. The Frances Willard union of the Women's Christian Temperance union will give a rummage sale Friday and Saturday at 421 North Twenty-fourth street. J. F. Starr slipped out of town quietly and was married in Kansas City Wednesday evening. The bride is a young woman of Omaha. They will return the first of next week. The death of Grant Griggs, aged 42, occurred Thursday morning at the home of his brother, 226 North Twenty-fifth street. The funeral will be from the residence at 2 p. m. today. The following births have recently been reported: Gus Wardman, a daughter; A. S. Westover, 1317 North Twenty-ninth, a boy; Dennis Clarey, 142 North Twenty-eighth, a girl; Oscar D. Mook, 153 Z, a girl. The Monday Night Whist club met at the home of W. C. Lambert for the last regular party of the season. John G. Kelly, Mrs. Charles Van Alstine and Mrs. W. C. Lambert won prizes for the season. L. C. Gibson won the prize for the evening. The Tuesday Night Whist club held its last party of the season with Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Wright, Mrs. Lewis Eiter and Mrs. E. S. Westover as hosts. The grand prize for the season was won by Mr. and Mrs. Lew Eiter. Mr. Eiter and Mrs. Eiter were the winners of the season's consolation. The last basket ball game of the Inter-class series of the South Omaha High school will be played off this evening at the Young Men's Christian association. The game will decide the championship between the freshmen and the Juniors. The winners will be awarded the season's trophy. We now show an elegant line of new Spring Suits for $10.00, $12.50, $15.00 and $18.00 on which we can save you from $5.00 to $7.50 per suit. We also have a special sale on suits just now at $7.75, and a pair of suspenders free. You may buy stores up town from $10.00 to $12.50 for suits no better. Of those imported here from the great Wilson Bros. purchase we kept a lot of the best numbers on reserve which will be put on sale Saturday. Purchasers sell them from 50 cents to 75 cents. The great reduction at which we bought these suits enables us to sell them at the extraordinary low price of 35 cents a pair. They come in lace stripe, luster linen, gauze, Hais, fine Mack yarns, etc. in every imaginable shade and pattern. Such a large and varied assortment has never been shown before. Nebraska Shoes and Clothing House, corner Twenty-fifth and N streets, South Omaha.

WHEAT WILL GO HIGHER And that Too, Without Manipulation, Says W. C. Sunderland. RESULT OF NATURAL CAUSES Says One Big Factor is Increased Consumption of White Bread—Another is Low Acreage and Short Crops. "Without manipulation of any kind a slight adverse report on the growing wheat crop will send the price on the Omaha market to $1.50 or more." This is the opinion of W. C. Sunderland, one of the best posted members of the Omaha Grain exchange, backed by that of almost every grain dealer who could be interviewed on the wheat situation, which is the talk of the business world in Omaha as elsewhere. "Talk of manipulation on this market is absurd," said Mr. Sunderland. "With May wheat—practically cash wheat—selling on the Omaha market for $1.30 1/2 and bringing $1.30 1/2 in Chicago, there can certainly be no manipulation when the freight from Omaha to Chicago is 7 1/2 cents. That would make the wheat selling at $1.36 1/2 in Omaha worth $1.33 1/2 in Chicago. No manipulation possible. It is simply a matter of supply and demand. "Every year the population of this country is increasing, and besides we are teaching the foreigners who come to this country to eat white bread. That is a big increase in the consumption of itself. The foreigners come here accustomed to bread made of cereals other than wheat. They are not here over two years until they are heavy consumers of white bread. They consume it in such quantities that it has its effect on the world's supply. "Cutting down the acreage of wheat in the corn belt because we are teaching farmers to grow more and better corn at a greater profit to themselves is another factor, while the truth about the crops is that we have not had a real good wheat crop for the last four years." In the opinion of Mr. Sunderland and other grain dealers there is a much smaller amount of wheat in the country than reports indicate. Secretary E. J. McVan of the Grain exchange says: "This talk about $1.50 to $2.00 wheat is no myth. We are not sure but what the price will go far above $1.50 on the Omaha market." J. N. Barnard, chief deputy grain inspector of the state of Minnesota, was a visitor on the floor of the Omaha Grain exchange Friday. "If there is wheat in the country, we are not getting it," said Mr. Barnard. "Reports by whoever collected, on the amount of grain in the country are seldom reliable. We have had reports of short crops in sections of Minnesota or counties when we would handle through the Minneapolis market alone more grain than the report would give as grown in the section. "As to the possible price wheat will reach, I would not care to make a prediction. The receipts at Minneapolis would indicate the supply in the country is short." YOUNG DESERTER IS CAUGHT Picked Up by Probation Officer, Identified and Sent to Naval Yard. William H. Gilchrist, a deserter from the United States cruiser Brooklyn, was arrested by Probation Officer Carver Taurada and locked in jail over night. He was taken before the officer in charge of the naval recruiting station, identified as a deserter and remanded to jail. He deserted from the navy in June, 1907, and has been working at various employments in Omaha for about a year. He will be sent to the Norfolk navy yard by the naval authorities Friday or Saturday in answer to the charge of desertion. Any Chicago policeman who gets drunk while on duty in the future will be a candidate for immediate discharge from the force, according to an official announcement made by Chief Shippy. In an order issued in the department bulletin the chief said: "You will please notify your subordinates that hereafter I will recommend that all members of this department brought before the trial board on charges of intoxication be discharged from the department." The chief has found that intoxication is involved in the majority of the charges on which policemen are brought before the trial board.

PERIL IN TRIMMING TREES An Editorial Expert Ventures a Few Remarks with Becoming Dimidence. It knows that men who are able to discuss Christian Science, vivisection, woman suffrage and the tariff on suede gloves without obscuration of judgment or increase of pressure in the carotid arteries find when the trimming of trees is mentioned, that against the neck of prejudice surges a whirlpool of emotions. Neighbors have been known to go on in peace and amily for years, though members of different churches, political parties and tennis clubs, and their come to the parting of the ways when the catalpa trees become large enough to bear the weight of a man with a saw, and whole streets have been embittered over the question whether a particular box elder should be cut Merry Widow or in the style of the First Empire. In such a case it is always safe to confine comment to a simple recital of fact, with necessary explanations, and we therefore rise merely to remark that the Italians know a trick or two in the trimming of trees worth noting, and that it is just possible that the race that invented the wheelbarrow and the triple-screw warship and produced Columbus and Signer Marconi is worth a little casual attention. Free trimming American feels the arboreal instinct inherited from his simian ancestors stirring within him, he is seized with a wild yearning to cut off main branches and then outside of matters concerning hair, it is done a little at a time, and not erected into an annual festival. The Italian, except for the occasional removal of a branch too near the ground, cuts the extreme ends of the boughs of his trees. And he never allows a tree to exceed the height and girth he originally determined upon for it. You may ride for scores of miles through the plains of Lombardy between rows of mulberry trees which are kept perennially large enough to afford a certain supply of leaves for silk worms and small enough not to shade too strongly the wheat or hemp which grows between their rows, or the two grape vines for which each tree serves as trellis. You may walk under live oaks in Rome whose lower surfaces are level planes of dense foliage. You may climb the hills of Genoa and never see a tree which looks too large or too small for its place. Might not it be worth while for our American cities to put a few Italians into the departments of forestry to see whether a sweet reasonableness in the care of trees might not displace the major surgery of the present day?—St. Louis Republic.
