WHEAT FALLS TWO CENTS

It is Expected to Descend Further Because of Rain.

NO DEALER ADMITS BEING STUNG

Burlington Crop Reports Show that Wheat Has Wintered Well—Some Spring Seed is Being Sown.

Wheat, real wheat which to make bread was about 2 cents cheaper on the Omaha market Wednesday and the bid, which is general, is good for the growing crop—the prevailing influence on Western markets, at least.
No local grain dealer will admit being stung. Almost every one buying on the floor of the Omaha exchange is bullish in all his tendencies. Lower wheat cannot be talked successfully on the Omaha market.
Wheat had been sold within the last few days to millers out in the state of Nebraska for above $1.25 and the millers had to pay the local freight rate to get it to their mills. Several millers were on the market Thursday. Omaha grain dealers as a rule do not believe wheat will go to a very low level nor that Patien will be caught by any unforeseen condition.
Wheat has wintered in better condition than was at first supposed; very little spring wheat is being sown; oats are in fair condition, but backward plowing for

Grand Jury Looks Into Homesteaders' Modus Operandi

It Will Have to Be Shown by Those Who Evade Any Part of the Law.

Homesteaders and Kinkaiders who expect to acquire title to land in western and northern Nebraska, without complying with all the requirements of the homestead laws and recent rulings relating to homesteading on public lands have some trouble ahead.
The federal grand jury now in session in Omaha is looking into a number of these cases where parties have recently undertaken to make final proof on their land with less than the minimum of cultivation, residence and improvements.
The presence of a number of postoffice inspectors before the grand jury indicates that the postoffice department is looking after a number of delinquents for violating the postal laws.
One of the most important cases now being investigated by the grand jury is a white slave case from the northern part of the state where a young woman is alleged to have been imported into the country for immoral purposes.
Another case that may come before the grand jury deals with the finding of a small quantity of counterfeit gold coins in Omaha several weeks ago.

Several Indians are present from the Omaha and Winnebago reservations to tell what they know about the revival of the bootlegging industry on those reservations. The jury will not make a report before the end of the week.
Aycrigg is Now City Engineer
Democrat Appointed by Mayor Says He Will Make No Changes in Office.
William Anderson Aycrigg is now the city engineer of Omaha. His bond with the American Surety company, in the sum of $10,000, was approved by the council in adjourned session Wednesday morning and the new official entered upon his duties immediately.
Mr. Aycrigg announced he would make no changes in the office, at least not for the present. John P. Crick holds over as assistant city engineer.
Aside from approving the bond of Mr. Aycrigg and raising the ordinance in structing the city clerk to place the names of all petition candidates before the election on printed ballots instead of the voting machines, the council did but little in the adjourned session.

Coal Freightage Will Rise

Rates on Southern Illinois Product Are to Be Advanced.

"FOR CONSUMERS' SENTIMENT"
This is What a Railroad Official Says in the Course of His Defense of the Proposed Increase.
If freight rates on coal from southern Illinois fields to Omaha advance 3 cents per ton how much advance in the price of coal will be made to consumers when they fill their coal bins during the summer?
This is the difficult problem with which consumers must work, as the railroads have promised to advance the rates just 1 1/2 mills per hundred pounds, and the coal dealers are going to put up a big fight to prevent the advance which may make it necessary to tack on five or six "bits" to the retail price per ton.
At a meeting held Wednesday between coal dealers and coal traffic managers of the railroads the dealers made it known that they would take up the proposed advance at once and fight it to the last ditch. They told the railroads that the advance was really an advance of from $1.90 per ton to $2 per ton on southern Illinois coal to Omaha, while Kansas City would be allowed to retain the $1.50 rate.
Railroads deny this 20-cent advance and say the rates will actually be moved up just 3 cents per ton in the readjustment which will be made April 25.

By a railroad man attending the meeting the explanation was offered:
"The readjustment does not in any way eliminate Omaha from the coal trade in the territory west of here. The dealers will ship their coal to Omaha and reconsign it to stations west the same as before, and it will cost them no more than it costs Kansas City. In other words, the advance in the through rate of 3 cents per ton leaves Kansas City and Omaha in identical the same position as at present."
"The fight in the interest of the consumers seems largely a matter of sentiment. It is absurd to talk of a 20-cent advance in the rates from the Mississippi river to the Missouri river, as such is not the intention of the railroads."
PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS
The condition of Mrs. Teresa Burkle, mother of Frank J. and Harry V. Burkle, is such that the physicians say her death is only a matter of a short time. She is 75 years old and makes her home with Frank J. Burkle, 138 North Thirty-eighth avenue.

Voters Who Moved Must Register

They Can Do So Saturday, and Failing They Lose Vote on Fourth of May.

Saturday is the one day of registration before the city election. Voters who have moved to another precinct and first voters must register Saturday in order to be able to vote at the election. Voters who have moved must go to their former voting place on that day and secure a removal blank and take it to the registration booth in the precinct where they at present live and register.
