ermaster. All-25-24-26M10-19 OFFICE OF THE CONSTRUCTING Quartermaster, Fort Omina, Neb. April 22, 1909.–Sealed proposals in triplicate, sub-ject to the usual conditions, will be re-ceived here until 11 o'clock a. m., central standard time, May & 1908, for making ex-tension of water system at Fort Omaha, Nebraska, consisting of approximately 900 feet of 6-inch main. Full information fur-nished on application. U. S. reserves the containing proposals to be marked "Pro-posals for extension of water system" and addressed to Capt. C. deF. Chandler, Con-structing Quartermaster, Fort Omaha, Neb. A24-26 27-M6-7 PROPOSALS FOR SHOEING ANIMALS Office Depot Q M. Omaha Neb. April 20, 1909. Scaled proposals for shoeing animals at Q. M. Depot, Omaha, Nebraska, during fiscal year beginning July 1, 1909, will be re-ceived here until 10 a.m. May 20, 1909, and then opened. Information furnished on ap-plication. Envelopes containing proposals should be indorsed "Proposals for Shoeing Animals," and addressed to Captain J. L. HINES, Quartermaster U. S. Army. A22-24-25-M17-18-19 a match to a little pitch pine bundle and soundly than he was wont to, so that the

a match to a little pitch pine bundle and then he was ready for the fray. But he reckoned without his host, for the moment he landed on his feet on the ground he found he had gotten into worse than a hornet's nest. His visitors were only now and then was he able to deliver a telling blow upon any of his antagonists. Finally, in a desperate attempt to shake one of the animals off his hand he dropped the bundle of lighted splints, and he feared that he would be overcome by the animals Then a lucky thought flashed through his mind. If he were to silence the chap in the trap perhaps the other would desist. One stroke of the club put that "porkie" out, and sure enough, as though their commander had been taken, the whole colony of porcupines took to flight. Gathering up his sputtering pine fagots, Johnson began taking account of stock. He was surprised to find that in addition to the entrapped animal he had killed five others.

But his own condition was such that after applying such remedies as he had at hand, he was compelled to walk home that night and have the bites and scratches attended to. His condition was such for a few days that very serious consequences were feared. Johnson says he thinks he would about as soon have a regiment of wildcats come at him as a drove of porcupines .-- Philadelphia Record.

PAPER FROM COTTONSTALKS

Utilization of By-Product Promises to Revolutionize Paper Making Industry.

The cotton plant is to help save the forests. A company has been organized in Georgia to manufacture paper from cotton stalks. A new process, comparatively inexpensive, has been revised, and a byproduct is to be used as fertilizer for the fields on which the cotton is grown. The company which thus proposes to revolutionize paper making in America deserves the best wishes for success. It is likely to reduce the price of paper, to save the wholesale destruction of frees, and to bring new prosperity to the south by utilizing a product that has hitherto been considered the mere waste of a great industry.

For years it has been known that a large percentage of the cotton stalk is pure cellulose, but patient experimenting has been required to devise a method of treatment sufficiently simple and inexpensive to allow of its use on a commercial scale Of course it still remains to be demonstrated that the Georgia men can do all they hope to do.

Each year will supply an immense amount of raw material for the cotton paper mills, once they are established. Now the stalks are left standing all winter. and the fields are usually burned over before the next crop can be started. Reaping and baling the stalks, or sending them to mill in bulk, would require small labor and outlay.
