STORY OF ADANA MASSACRE

American Eye Witness Gives Graphic Account of Bloody Riot. THOUSANDS DEAD IN STREET. Pedestrians Have to Pick Their Way Among Bodies of the Victims, Including Women and Mere Babies.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 27.—There was a fresh outbreak of fanaticism and murder last night at Adana, accompanied by looting and incendiarism. The situation there is critical.

ADANA, Asiatic Turkey, April 27, via Constantinople, April 27.—Rev. Herbert Adams Gibbons of Hartford, Conn., a missionary of the American Board of Foreign Missions stationed here and at Tarsus, was an eye witness of the scenes of terror and destruction at the center of the Moslem uprising. He gives as follows the first graphic story of the series of massacres, rapine and incendiarism.

"The entire village of Adana has been visited during the past five days by a terrible massacre of the Koniahs and found known in the history of the district. The terror has been universal, and the government is powerless to check the disorders. Adana, the capital of the province, has been the storm center.

"Conditions have been unsettled for some time and there has been animosity between Turks and Armenians owing to the political activity of the latter and their open purchasing of arms. "Early last Wednesday morning, when I was in the market, I noticed that the Armenians were closing their shops and hurrying to their homes. An Armenian and a Turk had been killed during the night and the corpses were paraded through their respective quarters. The sight of the dead inflamed the inhabitants, and crowds at once began to gather in the streets armed with sticks, axes and knives. A few young Armenians assembled in the center of the covered market and began firing revolvers into the air. By 11 o'clock in the morning the crowd had begun the looting of shops.

"The military commander of Adana was by my side in the market when the firing commenced. He had not the courage to endeavor to disperse the mob; he returned to his residence and did not venture out for two days.

Murders in Cold Blood. William Chambers, field secretary of the Young Men's Christian association, and myself, proceeded to the Koniahs and found a howling mob demanding arms with which to kill the Ghouls. We then went to the telegraph office to summon the British consul. On the steps of the building we saw three Armenians who had been massacred. Their bodies had been mutilated. While we were in the telegraph office a mob burst into the room where we were and killed two Armenians before our eyes. The unfortunates were applying the protection of the hall when they were struck down.

"We managed to make our way into the next room, where we made representations to the wall. This official said he could do nothing. He was afraid of his own life and made no attempt to protect us. Somehow we managed to get to the interior of the Koniahs, where we remained at the side of the government officials for the next forty-eight hours.

"That afternoon the situation grew distinctly worse. The Armenians withdrew to their quarters of Adana, which is situated on the hill and covered by their houses. They held advantageous positions in the fortresses. Here the fighting went on for two days during which the Armenians succeeded in beating off their Turkish assailants.

Officials Arm Moslems. "Wednesday evening Major Daugherty, the British vice consul at Merzina, arrived at Adana and established headquarters in the British residence. During the night he received many refugees who had been rescued. The wife of the British vice consul, who was brought into Adana under fire on Thursday attended personally many wounded women and children.

"Adana was a hell. The bazaars were looted and set on fire. There was continuous and unceasing shooting and killing in every part of the town, and fires raged in many quarters. "Moslems from the neighborhood began pouring into the city, and notwithstanding our vehement protests, the wall distributed arms to them, alleging that they were Turkish reserves.

"Major Daugherty, while at the head of a group which he compelled to walk to supply water to the railroad end of the town and was successful in preventing the villagers from coming into Adana. Later, while the major was attempting to pacify the town, he was shot and disabled.

"Missions of the Central Turkish mission had assembled for a district conference in the center of Adana on the day of the outbreak. They received and protected hundreds of refugees in the American seminary for girls, and courageously endeavored to pacify the warring elements.

"On Thursday Daniel Miner Rogers and Henry Mauren, American missionaries, were killed under treacherous circumstances. "On Friday the Armenians yielded, since Investigation Discloses Chicago is Paying High Rental for Temporary Quarters.

CHICAGO, April 27.—State's Attorney Wayman's graft investigation has, it was reported today, unearthed a scandal having to do with the leasing of the temporary city hall. It is alleged that the city is paying a rental of $20,000 a year, despite the fact that the same building was offered to private firms and individuals for one-third of that amount.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 27.—The bill imposing a tax of 25 cents for each $1,000 of capitalization on all corporations doing business in Missouri was reconsidered and passed by the house of representatives today. The measure was defeated in both branches of the legislature last week, but a message from Governor Hadley, in which he called attention to the necessity of the bill as a revenue producer, caused the house to retract. The bill received seventy-four votes today. Its opponents predict that the senate will decline to recede from opposition to the measure.

American Navy Not Considered

Force of United States Disregarded in Estimates of Number of Ships Required by England.

LONDON, April 27.—Answering a question in the house of commons today as to whether it was the policy of the government to take into consideration the American navy when estimating the number of ships necessary to Great Britain to maintain a fleet 10 per cent more powerful than the combined fleets of any two powers, a former naval officer, the "two power standard," Reginald McKenna, first lord of the admiralty, said this was an academic question, as under existing conditions the navy of the United States for the practical purposes of the two power standard as defined in the speeches of Premier Asquith, would not enter into account.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., April 27.—The senate committee on constitutional amendments will report the proposed amendment for state-wide prohibition tomorrow, but it will carry a tax rider and a provision for effectiveness in 1911, instead of 1913, as decided by the house. Yes, "The Blood Is the Life"

If Bad, Hardly Worth Living. If Good, Healthy and Happy.

"I am well pleased with my experience with Hood's Sarsaparilla for my blood. My trouble was of a scrofulous nature—sores frequently came on my neck, increasing in number and size. Years of treatment failed to effect a permanent cure. The sores discharged freely and gave me much pain. The drain on my system had been so great I was completely worn out, easily became tired, and did not have much appetite. My neck was so sore and swollen, I could hardly turn my head around, but I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and within two months the benefit began to come. The sores healed up, my general health improved, appetite came back, and my feet took on a good color. Since then I have never been troubled with scrofula, and have had good health all the time." Mrs. Alvin Barton, West St., Walpole, Mass., Jan. 10, 1909.

"Hood's Sarsaparilla effects its wonderful cures, not simply because it contains sarsaparilla, but because it combines the utmost remedial values of more than 25 different ingredients.
