CHRISTIAN SCIENCE DEFINED

Not Merely Another Sect, Says Judge S. J. Hanna.

This is the Vital Purpose of the Teaching that Proposes to Establish a Full Gospel of Christ.

He practiced law for upwards of twenty years, held various positions of trust—Captain of Company H, 18th regiment Illinois Volunteers, judge of the county court at Council Bluffs, city attorney and during President Arthur's administration, registrar of the United States land office at Leadville, Colo.

ACCEPTS INVITATION OF MAN TO KILL HIM IN QUARREL

Rich Girl at Neosho, Mo., on Trial for Murder of Her Sister's Sutor.

NEOSHO, Mo., April 29.—"Johnny" Davidson, a wealthy young woman, who killed Roy Ramour here in June 6, 1908, following a quarrel at the Davidson home, in which it is alleged Ramour applied an epithet to the girl, is on trial here. Miss Davidson's plea is self-defense.

Ramour was a sutor for the hand of Miss Grace Davidson, the defendant's sister. A few days before the murder the two had quarreled. Ramour used improper language toward Miss Davidson, and when he refused to retract, she secured a revolver and confronted him.

C. M. Williams, a neighbor of the Davidson's, and who claims he saw the killing, was the first witness called.

"I saw the girl go toward Ramour, who was leaning with his back against a gate. 'Take it back,' she said, or 'I'll kill you.'

"Well, kill me then," he replied. "With that she shot him as he stood with his arms lying back on top of the pailings on the fence. Roy fell forward, catching 'Johnny' and throwing her to the sidewalk and beneath him. They lay on the ground for a moment. Then she pushed the body over to the walk."

The Davidson's are wealthy. The two girls some time ago were left a fortune by an uncle in the east.

RECORD OF IOWA'S SOLDIERS

New Documents Found in Washington Give Interesting History.

MORMONS IN MEXICAN WAR

Six Companies Recruited at Council Bluffs Marched to Los Angeles and Were There Mustered Out.

WEBSTER CITY, Ia., April 29.—(Special.)—Seven full companies of Iowans enlisted for the war with Mexico and served throughout the war, marching from Iowa south into Mexico and westward to Los Angeles, Cal.

Records showing that Iowa's military record began in the same year in which it covered for the first time in the War department at Washington and are now in the possession of Colonel G. W. Crosey of this city, who is in charge of the work of compiling the roster of Iowa soldiers and sailors soon to be published by the Iowa National Guard.

Historians knew that Iowa had furnished troops for the Mexican war, but how many or who they were was never known until Colonel Crosey received the complete record of the Iowa Mormon battalion of six companies and of Company K, Tenth United States Infantry, which was recruited entirely from among the residents of southeastern Iowa.

Company K of the Tenth regular infantry was recruited from Keosauqua, Fort Madison, Muscatine (then Bloomington) and other towns in southeastern Iowa, and was commanded by Captain Edwin Guthrie, who was wounded with others of his command at La Brea and died a few weeks later in Mexico. The records show that many other members of the Iowa company fell in battle or died in hospitals in the City of Mexico.

SIX COMPANIES OF MORMONS

The other six companies which represented Iowa in the war were recruited from Mormons who had reached Council Bluffs, on their westward journey, in search of land, where they would be free from persecution. They were called the Iowa Mormon battalion, and comprised about 600 young men.

The records show that none of the Mormon battalion was killed in action, but they marched the entire distance from Council Bluffs, where the battalion was mustered in July, 1846, to Los Angeles, Cal., where it was mustered out just a year later. Records show that one member of the battalion died on the Rio Grande river, indicating that they marched south into Texas and what is now New Mexico and thence westward to Los Angeles, then a small Mexican pueblo.

After being mustered out the record shows that many drew traveling allowance from Los Angeles over the old Mormon trail to Salt Lake City, then just laid out by Brigham Young. Others settled in California and few found their way back to Iowa.

The records received will add materially to the completeness of the roster, which is to include the names and records of all Iowans who saw service from the earliest Indian combat to the close of the Philippine campaign.

Wife Prevents Suicide

HEDRICK, Ia., April 29.—(Special.)—An attempt at suicide made by Charles L. Dace in the case of Mabel Norton, a resident in southeastern Iowa, was dramatically prevented by his wife yesterday, when she drew the knife from her husband's throat, where he had plunged it in a momentary fit of insanity, then called a physician and the revived him. She temporarily bandaged the wound before calling the doctor. His condition today is such that he probably will recover.

Osteopathic Physician Wins Suit

GLENWOOD, Ia., April 29.—(Special.)—The jury in the case of Mabel Norton versus M. E. Corbin, after deliberating five hours, brought in a verdict for Corbin. This is the case in which Mrs. Norton brought suit for $10,000 against Dr. Corbin, an osteopathic physician. Both are from Malvern, Mo. NO NEW TAXES IN BUDGET

Higher Rates on Present Sources of Revenue Proposed to Pay British Deficit.

LONDON, April 29.—With a deficit of nearly $50,000,000 to provide for, it was anticipated that David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer, in introducing the budget in the house of commons today would tap springs of revenue. The chancellor, however, had nothing heroic to propose, and the additional expenditures will be met largely by increased drafts on the same sources that have heretofore furnished the bulk of the revenue.

There has been no such rush to the house of commons for many years as there was today. Every nook and even the gangways were packed when the chancellor arose to make his three-hour speech.

Lloyd-George said that to the increased expenditure on the navy and the old age pension the deficit was largely due. A considerable increase in naval expenditures was to be expected again next year, and in the present condition of mind of Europe it will be a stupendous folly not to adequately provide for such.

New York City's Great Parks

Totalling Nearly 6,000 Acres, All Within Easy Riding Distance.

FROM THE ST. REGIS HOTEL. The five boroughs of Greater New York contain upwards of seventy public parks—both large and small—having a total area of approximately six thousand acres. Six of these parks are notable for their size and extent and take rank with the largest parks in the world. Their beauty is remarkable and diversified. Each possesses some attribute, some charm of location or some specially developed feature denied to the others, and this variety adds greatly to the enjoyment of visitors. All of New York's parks are within easy carriage or automobile riding distance of the center of Manhattan—the middle borough—and particularly of the St. Regis, at Fifth Avenue and Fifty-fifth street, the hotel most popular with metropolitan visitors of discrimination and refinement. To those as yet unaware of its exceptional advantages it may be said that the St. Regis, built to be America's finest hotel, has more than accomplished the hopes of its projectors. Home comforts and home refinements of the highest degree are assured to all; its service is of a character that leaves nothing to be desired; its cuisine—modeled upon those of the most famous foreign restaurants—is perfect. Note well, also, that its restaurant charges are no higher than those of other first class hotels, and that its room rates are extremely reasonable: $3 and $4 a day for a commodious, handsomely furnished single bedroom; the same with private bath for $5 a day (or $6 for two people); or $12 a day and up for an exquisite suite or parlor, bedroom and private bath.
