

SEVERE ITCHING HUMOR ON HANDS

Tiny Pustules Spread Up to Elbows—Could Not Sleep and Scratched Until She Bled—After Seven Months of Futile Treatment, Little Girl was Completely

CURED IN TWO WEEKS BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"My daughter, twelve years of age, was afflicted with a terrible itching of the hands which was so bad at night that she was unable to sleep. She scratched herself until she bled. The trouble began in the shape of small pustules about the size of a pinhead which produced severe itching and then a hard scab formed on top. These always opened up again, bleeding badly. From the fingers it extended over the hand and as far as the elbows. The doctor said it was eczema and that recovery would necessarily be slow. He treated my daughter for seven months, but the trouble always grew worse. Then I started to use the Cuticura Remedies. After I had used Cuticura Soap for two weeks, with Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Pills, her hands were healed. Mrs. M. Strecker, South Haven, Minn., April 1 and July 7, 1908."

Seiner Pays Well for Fish

F. C. Howe, Who is Caught at the Lake, is Shot in the Legs.

F. C. Howe, who lives at Fourteenth and Locust streets, was shot in the thighs about 6 o'clock last night with a load of buckshot near Cut-Off lake while on his way home from seining in the lake.

The exact circumstances of the shooting are not definitely known, but according to the story which the police have received it is thought that the shooting was done by two game wardens who were trying to arrest Howe and some companions.

The wardens were Frank Brown, keeper at the Rod and Gun club, and Frank Williams, manager of the Williams messenger service.

It is alleged that the wardens knew that the men were seining in the lake and lay in wait for them as they went home. When Howe and the men with him approached they were halted, but started to run. They were fired upon and Howe fell, but got up and ran again, escaping. He went to his home and afterward to the office of Dr. Lynch, who took him to the Omaha General hospital, where he was operated on. Twelve buckshot were taken from his thighs, but it is thought his wounds will not prove fatal unless infection should appear.

Both wardens and the alleged seiners discharged their guns, according to information secured by the police detectives, who investigated the affair Friday morning.

The shooting was witnessed by the conductor and motorman of a Courtland Beach car. It is said that three sacks of fish, a net and a shogun were secured when the offenders ran away.

C. C. Rosewater Interviews Officials of Agricultural Department.

GAMBLE MOVES FOR HIDE DUTY

Kinkaid Introduces in House Brown Resolution for Income Tax Amendment to Constitution.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(Special Telegrams.)—The Department of Agriculture will do everything possible to make the coming National Corn exposition at Omaha a success, said Secretary Wilson to C. C. Rosewater of The Bee today. Mr. Rosewater had a long interview, not only with Secretary Wilson this morning, but with Assistant Secretary Hayes, looking to secure the Department of Agriculture exhibit arranged for the Seattle exposition to be put off at Omaha during the corn exposition next December. Secretary Wilson stated it would possibly be impossible to erect the denatured alcohol still which was on exhibition at the corn exposition last year because of the failure of Congress at its last session to include an appropriation for this purpose. He said the bureau of chemistry had no sum of money to expend for this purpose and, in fact, the bureau had been considerably curtailed in the annual budget for the agricultural department and it would therefore be impossible to make the exhibit unless other specific provisions were made to cover it. However, as far as the agricultural exhibit for Seattle was concerned he would be only too glad to have the cars carrying the exhibit stopped at Omaha and displayed there during the corn exhibition. "I realize the very important character of the work being done by the National Corn exposition," said Secretary Wilson. "It has done a great deal to arouse the interest of the farmers not only in the growing of corn, but in the growing of cereals in general. Last year's success of the corn exposition demonstrated to the Department of Agriculture its educational advantages and such an institution ought to be supported, as it will be, by the government and especially by the department over which I have the honor to preside."

Assistant Secretary Hayes, whose standing as an educator along agricultural lines is of the very best, was equally emphatic in pledging the department's aid wherever possible in making the second annual corn exposition in Omaha a success. Prof. Hayes suggested giving a picture show, among other things, which will show the work being done by the Department of Agriculture, not only in stock breeding, but in seed raising, and he stated to Mr. Rosewater, that during the summer a series of ribbons would be made illustrating the work of the department, which might be used in a series of lectures along the lines indicated.

Mr. Rosewater, who is accompanied by his wife, were guests of Senators Burkett and Brown at luncheon today at the Capitol and tonight are dinner guests of Senator and Mrs. Burkett.

VOTERS OUT TO HEAR BREEN

Two Big Meetings Listen to His Frank Utterances.

ZIMMAN EXPOSES THE DEMOCRATS

Councilman Quotes the Records to Prove Incompetency of the Jim Crowd to Direct Affairs of the City.

Voters crowded Metz hall at Thirteenth and William streets, and at Wolf's hall, Twenty-second and Cuming streets; every chair was taken and people were standing as late as 10:30 last night, when John P. Breen, republican nominee for mayor, arose to speak.

Mr. Breen and Harry B. Zimman were the principal speakers at these two meetings. Mr. Breen speaking first to the Metz hall gathering and Mr. Zimman last, and Mr. Zimman speaking first to the crowd in Wolf's hall and Mr. Breen last. Judge Ben S. Baker, Judge Louis Berka, S. A. Searle, H. J. Pinkett and candidates were the other speakers.

"I have no use for the evangelist of all restriction on the one hand or for the bum and the rouser on the other," declared Mr. Breen in answering his critics who have circulated the slander that he is a prohibitionist, "and I maintain there is a middle ground for all men. I do not believe that a man should be put to bed and be compelled to stay there all day Sunday and not be allowed to get out and enjoy himself in his own way and without doing harm to his fellow man. I know enough about law and order to promise you that if I am elected mayor of this great city that we will not have a bum town of bums or a strict and straight-laced town where Puritanic sentiment will prevail."

Democrats for Prohibition. Quoting from an interview with Dick Metcalfe, editor of Bryan's Commoner, in which "the right-hand man of the demagogue of the democracy" declared that in two years from now the democratic party in this state will champion county option, Mr. Breen showed his hearers that the republican party is and always has been the party of personal liberty. Mr. Metcalfe said the democrats would have to take up prohibition because the south is doing so, and the west is adopting restrictive measures, "and whenever the democrats see anything that appears to be feasible and on which there is a chance of winning, they seize it, whether it is sound, wholesome or desirable.

"But there is a broader and higher view in this campaign and all does not rest on a man's appetite or his stomach," said Mr. Breen in closing. "I have been asked to say where I stand. This I can do in one sentence. I am opposed to that brand of democracy which has a Jim Dahlgren for its chief exponent. There ought to be some civic pride in this city and that we cannot have as long as we have the type of men in power that now rule Omaha."

Record of the Administration. Mr. Zimman, in his talk to the voters, took occasion to delve into the record of the present administration to some length and to show its failure to keep pledges made three years ago and the lack of democracy which has a Jim Dahlgren for another period of power in municipal affairs.

"The democrats claim to have saved the taxpayers money, but how can they truthfully say this when they have levied more than ever before?" asked Mr. Zimman. He then went on to show that the tax levy for general purposes in the city is $200,000 greater than two years ago, and $150,000 greater than during any republican year, and this in face of the fact that valuations are higher now than a few years ago. He also told of the members of the administration confessing that they had not the slightest idea how the payment of some old bonds had come about, though the taking up of the bonds is made a basis of one of the claims of the democrats for reelection.

"But these bonds, my friends, were paid off by the operation of the scavenger tax law, enacted by a republican legislature and enforced by a republican city treasurer," he said.

"The speaker exploded the claim that more sewers and more paving has been laid by the democrats by showing that the administration is not responsible in the least for the reason that the property owners pay for the work. Also E. J. Cornish, the republican member of the Park board, and not the democratic administration, is responsible for the magnificent gift of Mrs. Levi Carter, whereby the city has acquired the new park. The failure of the democrats to get dollar gas and their inability to fulfill any party pledge without the seventh vote of the republican member of the council were also shown by the production of copies of the official journal of the council proceedings.

Democrats Turn on Pledges.

"Are the democrats sincere in their promises when, a week before election, and in spite of their platform, they vote against their pledge and the people?" said Mr. Zimman. "I say they are not. Three months ago they voted against the occupation tax ordinance, but I thought I would give them another chance last Tuesday night to vote in accordance with their party pledge. They all voted against it, with one exception.

"I have a good right to ask you to vote against the democratic nominees who have played hand and glove with the corporations and worked in season and out for them and against the people."

Swedish-Americans in Line. Swedish-American republicans turned out in numbers for the meeting at the Fontanelle club rooms last evening, the assembly being under the auspices of the Swedish Republican league.

"The spirit of the meeting was pronouncedly enthusiastic and optimistic and predictions of victory for Breen and the other candidates on the ticket met with the heartiest approval and plainly coincided with the convictions of the auditors.

President A. W. Johnson presided and introduced first Dr. E. Holvichner, candidate for alderman in the Second ward. Following him E. A. Searle contrasted the personnel of the republican and democratic tickets, comparing the qualifications of candidate with candidate. Most stress he laid on the comparison of Breen and Dahlgren.

"The crest of the democratic wave has passed," Dr. Holvichner said. "Their campaign has spent its force and they know it themselves. They know as well as we do that Omaha is utterly weary of Dahlgren and Dahlgrenian and is about to repudiate both."

Other speakers of the evening were John Helgren, candidate for comptroller; Frank Anderson, editor of the Posten, who spoke in Swedish; Dr. A. Johnson; and George W. Craig, candidate for city engineer. Both Helgren and Craig were accorded an enviously warm reception.

JEFF DAVIS' PICTURE ON BATTLESHIP SILVER SERVICE

Report Rites Representative Hollingsworth, Who Has Resolution to Investigate.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Representative Hollingsworth of Ohio has prepared a resolution calling on the secretary of the navy for information relative to the report that the state of Mississippi is preparing to present to the battleship Mississippi an elaborate silver service whose centerpieces bears an engraved portrait of Jefferson Davis. The preamble declares that "the dignity and character of the United States government and its creditable standing at home and abroad require that its battleships should be in command of officers imbued with high American ideals, healthy

British Budget Will Tax Wealth and Liquor Trade

LONDON, April 30.—Accumulated wealth and "the trade," which the liquor business is popularly called in the liberal government's budget, which David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer, presented in the house of commons today, are made to bear the burden of the £16,782,000 (£18,819,000) deficit of the fiscal year incurred by the old age pensions and the race with Germany for Dreadnoughts.

"Socialism and confiscation," the wealthy classes are already crying, and a few are clutching at the hope that the house of lords, which represents these classes, may throw out the budget entirely, but this is improbable. Increased income taxes, death estates and legacies duties, a tax of 20 per cent on future increase in the value of lands due to the enterprise of the community, taxes on motors, to be devoted to keeping up the roads, and stamp taxes on sales of property are the principal levies upon wealth.

The government gets its revenge for the rejection recently by the lords of its licensing bill by increasing the taxes on some classes of public houses and the customs excise duties on spirits. A tax of 3 pence on £1 on sales of liquors in clubs is also imposed and this is likely to antagonize both the liquor interests and the working men. On the other hand, the latter are placated by provisions made for labor exchanges for the unemployed and the promise of an industrial insurance scheme, as well as the satisfaction of knowing that the job are to carry the greater share of the load.

The new taxation bears heavily on corporations. The only features affecting the United States are the increased tobacco tax, a tax of three pence per gallon on petrol and heavier stamp duties on stock transactions.

"The maddest budget ever introduced," Sir Frederick George Banbury termed it during the course of a speech in which he declared that the new budget included every fad on the face of the earth.

Austin Chamberlain denounced it for imposing so large a proportion of the nation's burdens on a few people by different devices.

John Redmond, leader of the Irish party, asserted that the whisky tax imposed another burden on Ireland, which the nationalists would resist by every means.
