Manufacturers and Merchants Have Put on Exhibition a Wonderful Array of Food Products, Luxuries and Modern Aids.

HASTINGS, Nob., May 4 -- (Special.)-With machinery in operation, all displays in place and ready for inspection and an attendance that far exceeded expectations, the Home Products exposition, promoted by the Tribune for the sole pur pose of encouraging patronage of home industries, was opened to the public this existed as to the success of the enterprise kind ever att mpted in Hastings, were swept away when the people began crowding into the auditorium. Tonight's attendance was even larger, and from all indications there will be no let up until the exposition closes Friday night.

There are thirty-three exhibits of home manufacture, and together they form one of the most magnificent displays ever arranged in the state. Many of the ex libitors show the actual process of making, and where this is not practicable the product is shown in its various stages of manufacture. A number of pieces of machinery were installed at considerable sacrifice by the exhibitors, but in each case the articles produced are either given out as souvenirs in one form another or placed in regular trade.

The Electric Feature Valuable. The electrical feature utilizing in an laborate demonstration the current from the municipal plant, attracted much attention, and for this display numerous pieces of apparatus were engaged by special arrangement. The gas company, likewise, has an extensive display, and aside from the lighting is furnishing gas for a number of exhibitors.

The displays of the mill, a bakery and the gas company are grouped together, showing flour made in Hastings from Adams county wheat, then worked into with gas. In both gas and electricity Hastings can boast of the best equipped plants in Nebraska, outside of Omaha and Lincoln.

The largest single exhibit in the exponess and horse collars by a combined plant heavy pieces of machinery are used in this display and eight expert workmen are enwill visit this city in a special train the latter part of this week on their regular gaged in finishing the products from rough trade boosting trip.
