JULIUS MEYER KILLS SELF

Fires Bullet Into Temple and Another Into Breast.

HANSCOM PARK SCENE OF DEED

First Shot is Heard by Men, Who Fall to Reach Him, Before Second One Takes His Life.

Julius Meyer shot and killed himself at noon Monday. He chose Hanscom park as the scene of his death and a .22-caliber revolver as the weapon. He fired a shot into his left temple and another into his left breast, killing himself almost instantly. Despondency was the cause. It had been provoked by a continued sickness.

Mr. Meyer was 25 years of age. He was the general agent of the Provident Savings Life Assurance company and one of the most widely known and generally loved men in Omaha or Nebraska, where he had lived since the early '80s. His death was a profound shock.

Paranoid in Mind

Paranoid in mind, the man: "Do get your thick Dutch head examined and then jump into the river." Mrs. Nellie F. Smith filed suit for divorce from Alva F. Smith. They were married March 15 of the present year in Washington county. Nonsupport is charged.

Argument on Saloon Mandamus

Judge Redek heard argument in district court Monday morning on the petition for a mandamus brought by L. D. Holmes to compel the South Omaha fire and police board to reopen the question of a license granted to Arthur Frye for a saloon in the Exchange building. Holmes claims that Frye is simply a dummy for the Union Stock Yards company and that the board of fire and police commissioners acted illegally in refusing to consider evidence as to what was done last year.

Steelman & Takem's Man in Town

A traveling representative of the firm of Steelman & Takem, expert lifters, stopped over in Omaha Sunday. In the course of his business visits he dropped in at the Pope Supply company's store, 1033 Farnam street, and secured three new alligator grips, worth $20 each. As he happened to be out of both personal and business cards his name and address are unknown. However, the police say they will do all in their power to have the man stay at the jail hotel, where everything possible will be done for his comfort and the bill will be paid by the city.

Big Electrical Week

Exposition at the Auditorium Will Be the Attraction All This Week. The electrical exposition at the Auditorium is now fully installed and it will be the big attraction for the public all this week. The show is almost as interesting in the afternoon as it is in the evening for the reason that the windows are darkened and all the lights are turned on just the same as after dark.

Police Think They Have a Live Wire

The police believe they have arrested a man who may prove to be guilty of some of the numerous burglaries and other thefts that have been committed in Omaha lately. The prisoner is Joe O'Hara, who was picked up early Monday morning by Detectives Mitchell and Sullivan and Patrolman Coffey. He is being held for careful investigation.

Even Thieves Are Electrified

Omaha has become so electrified by the electrical show that even the city's thieves are beginning to speculate in things pertaining to the magic "juice." Sunday night a fan motor and a generating test set were stolen from O. A. Albrecht's store, 410 South Eighteenth street. The burglar pried a sheet of galvanized iron off a window in order to get into the building.

Knife Fight Expires Kiss and Make Up

After having a knife fight and one of the men being carried to the temple, A. E. Harris and Paul Hill, the two negroes who mixed in a pool hall quarrel last Wednesday night, have been discharged. Hill refused to prosecute his brother of color and there were no other witnesses, so City Prosecutor Daniel had to dismiss the case. Hill is the man who was cut. He lives at 2509 Grant street.

Charles A. Batcher Gets Divorce

A divorce was granted in district court Monday to Charles A. Batcher, the evidence in the case being chiefly a number of torrid letters written by Mrs. Batcher. One com-

THE SUMMER IN NEW YORK A MOST ATTRACTIVE SEASON

Its Fine Hotels, Like the St. Regis, Not as Full Then as in Winter.

The summer is the season when the city man and his family fly to the country, the seashore or the mountains. It ought to be a good time for the country man and his family to come to the city—and it is. The country has no monopoly of summer pleasures. New York has plenty of them, and at that time its hotels are less thronged than in winter. As the attractions of New York City extend those of smaller places, so do its hotel comforts surpass theirs. One New York hotel there is, the St. Regis, at Fifth Avenue and Fifty-fifth Street, which has won for itself a deserved reputation for real comfort and homeliness far beyond any other. Its location, in practically the geographical center of Manhattan, makes it most convenient for trips to all parts of the city. Being situated in a strictly residential district, it is admirably adapted for a summer sojourn, and, being within a few minutes of Central Park, it has the country at its doors, so to speak. And it should not be forgotten that the St. Regis prices are not excessive. Its restaurant charges are the same as other first class hotels, and rooms may be had as low as $2 and $4 a day for a large, handsomely furnished single bedroom; the same with private bath for $5 a day (or $6 for two people); or $12 a day and up for an elegant suite consisting of parlor, bedroom and private

Friend of the Children

Mr. Meyer was affectionately known as "Uncle Julius" to hundreds of children and persons who had been children in Omaha. For years this name distinguished him as the friend of the little folks. To them he presented at Christmas, on their birthday anniversaries, or took them picnicking or elsewhere to have pleasure and help fill their little lives with happiness. No child ever went to "Uncle Julius" for comfort in vain. He was never too busy, never too tired, to entertain his young friends. On his fiftieth birthday anniversary, eight years ago, he gave a big party at the Metropolitan club to his friends, the children, and a host of them attended.

W. C. GILBREATH IS MADE VICE PRESIDENT BY FUNK

North Dakota Agricultural Commissioner Appointed by Corn Growers' Association President. President E. D. Funk of the National Corn association has appointed W. C. Gilbreath, commissioner of agriculture of North Dakota, vice president of the National Corn Growers' association for this year. Mr. Gilbreath distinguished his state at the St. Louis exposition by making an exhibit of grains and grasses rivaling that of any other state represented. He has signified his intention of making a similar exhibit at the National Corn exposition to be held in Omaha in December and the appointment was made Monday.

MAYOR SLAPS ED HOWELL

Says He Double-Crossed Democrats to Tie His Hands.

HOPES PARTY IS DONE WITH HIM

Changing Charter on Fire and Police Board is the Jobbery for Which Dahliman Takes Rap at Howell.

And now the democrats are wondering what was gained by changing the city charter and making the Board of Fire and Police commissioners elective instead of appointive, for under the old charter the board was nonpartisan and the democrats had two members, while under the new it is partisan and it is solidly republican. This was done by Senator E. E. Howell and records of twelve years back show that this is not the first time the senator has given his own party the double cross. This year he legislated three democrats to excise board members and the city engineer-out of office, and twelve years ago he legislated three democratic councilmen out of office. Consequently the democrats are wondering why they have in their camp the aforesaid Senator Howell. Prior to that session of the legislature of 1897 the city officers were elected in the fall. The election was in the fall of 1898, and among other officers elected were Tom Flynn, democratic councilman from the Second ward, Richard O'Malley, democratic councilman from the Eighth ward, and E. J. Burkey, democratic councilman from the Eighth ward. They took their seats the first of the year prepared to serve full terms. But Senator Howell went to Lincoln about the same time the democrats took their seats in the council and within a few weeks he changed the charter to provide for the election of city officers in the spring. In the spring election the three democrats were defeated.

Hope We Are Done with Him

Senator Howell gave us the double cross in '97, and he gave it to us again this year, but I think and I hope the democratic party is through with him now," said Mayor Dahliman.

He changed the charter twelve years ago so he could run for mayor in the spring. He ran, but was defeated by Mayor Moore. Howell was third man in the race and the republican ticket was split, too. This year he changed the charter on the fire and police board so as to defeat me; or, if I was not defeated, to my hands; and on the city engineer so as to get rid of my appointee. But he again made a mistake. Instead of having two democrats on the fire and police board, as under the old charter, we have one; and we have traded one republican engineer for another of the same party."

Some democrats are of the opinion that Senator Howell had notions of running for mayor again, but when he returned from Lincoln he changed his mind and decided the best thing he could do would be to get out of the country. This he did, and he called for Honolulu before the spring campaign really opened.

DITCH UP TO SARPY COUNTY

Proposition to Vote Bonds is Left to Commissioners—Outcome of the Meeting. Omaha owners of farm property in Douglas and Sarpy counties and farmers along the Papillion and Big Papillion rivers have put it up to the commissioners of Sarpy county to hold an election on the proposed ditch from Lamb and Hallett to the Missouri river, which will be twenty-seven miles in length and drain 40,000 acres of valuable land.

As the petition has been filed in compliance with the Nebraska law asking for the election and a bond furnished by the interested owners has been furnished to reimburse the commissioners of Sarpy county for the expenses of holding the election and the proposition is voted down. Those who attended the meeting in Papillion Saturday, who represent several thousand acres of land, were: A. L. Reed of the Byron Reed company, representing the Rebecca M. White interests; W. Farnam Smith, Peter E. Her, representatives of the John A. Creighton estate, and G. C. Barton. Other large interests represented were those of Howard Clark, banker of Columbus; Joseph P. Malander and J. J. O'Connor of Omaha who owns a large tract of land in western Sarpy county.

"All who were present, and the court room was crowded, were favorable to the ditch," said Mr. Reed. "We have taken the steps necessary to put the proposition up to the owners along the proposed ditch. The county surveyor of Sarpy county will go over the proposition and probably make up the complete list of the land which will be drained by the ditch. The meeting was exceptionally satisfactory and very enthusiastic."

The Young Man's Clothes

must of necessity possess a certain "dash" and smartness not found in the usual styles. That's partly why most particular young men turn to "The Nebraska" for their clothes. Of course there's many other reasons, such as the excellent fabrics, exclusive patterns and expert hand-tailoring of "Nebraska" garments.

Now, we want you to see the Suit we show at only $12.00. It's so good that any other clothiers would ask at least $15 for it.

We show it in all the new and "different" styles and the popular new Spring shades as grays, greens, olives, browns and fancy striped patterns.

To fully realize the value of this suit you must examine the excellent lining, padded shoulders, hand-felled collar and naircloth front, which reflect the most expert workmanship and the finest of materials.

The sizes are for young men only and range from 33 to 38 at this price—

BIG ROADS TO FIX NEW RATES

Hill and Harriman Officials Will Revise Schedules.

WILL MEET IN CHICAGO IN JUNE

Propose to Redress Grievances of Western Cities in Complaints of Freight Rate Discrimination.

Representatives of the Hill and Harriman lines are preparing to meet in Chicago next month to revise present freight rates and to see if some scheme may not be worked out to rid the roads of the numerous suits various communities have filed alleging unjust discrimination. Spokane, Denver, Salt Lake and Omaha and other points think the present adjustment not right and suits are now pending. "If the Hill-Harriman representatives can agree upon a rate scheme, they will submit their plans to the rest of the western roads, and if all agree the Interstate Commerce commission will be asked to permit the changes. If the commission grants this request a new system of rate making will be in force on the roads of the western two-thirds of the United States. Omaha is preparing for representation at the Hill-Harriman conference to be ready to make the fight when the matter is brought before the Interstate Commerce commission. Other communities are preparing to do the same thing and it is figured that if the communities get a proper hearing rate grievances can be adjusted without a fight.

A series of new basing points may be proposed by the roads and Omaha will contend that the Missouri river is the natural basing point for business to the west of Chicago. Denver and Salt Lake City will also be on hand to ask that these cities be made basing points if the basing point system is to be continued.

MR. CROUSE IS VERY SICK

Former Governor Still in Critical Condition at His Home in the Hamilton.

Ex-Governor Lorenzo Crouse is still seriously ill at his apartments in the Hamilton flats. Since he was in a critical condition over a month ago from a severe attack of pneumonia he has not regained his strength and it is feared that his age, 75 years, may prevent his recovery. He has had several setbacks since surviving the crisis of the original trouble, and numerous slight complications have aggravated his general condition.

Wife of Mayor Gets Heritage Through Court

Mrs. Dahliman Sues to Wrest Money from Sister and Wins the Suit.

In Belfast, Me., Mrs. J. C. Dahliman, wife of the mayor of Omaha, has brought suit to recover $5,000, which Mrs. Dahliman assigned when a minor child and the estate of her father, Dr. Charles Abbott, was placed in the hands of her mother as administratrix. The suit brought by Mrs. Dahliman follows one brought by her mother, Mrs. Harriet M. Abbott, against her youngest daughter to recover money and bonds which were entrusted to her and which the girl kept and claimed as a gift.

Mrs. Abbott has just won the suit, the jury awarding her practically $5,000, which Mrs. Margaret Abbott Niles will have to pay. Mrs. Abbott said she gave her youngest daughter her bank books and two bonds at one time, instructing her to transfer the money to her own account for convenience as the girl remained on the homestead in Maine after the others had gone. In the suit it is claimed the girl kept the money during a long term of years and the suit asked for the interest as well as principal, which was granted by the court.

It would seem the money rightfully belonged to Mrs. Dahliman. Dr. Charles Abbott, her father, died in 1880, leaving a considerable estate. All the heirs except the youngest daughter, assigned their rights to aid their mother in the settlement of the estate and handling the affairs. Following the judgment entered against Mrs. Margaret Abbott Niles, the suit of Mrs. Harriet Abbott Dahliman was postponed until the next term of the court at Belfast, Me. The former suit was hard fought and brought out many family affairs of the Abbotts.

Railway Brevities

The Harriman lines have built a large number of their own refrigerator cars and on top of these the lines have ordered 1,500 additional refrigerator cars from the Pullman company. The total expenditure for these cars will be $2,000,000. Western railroads are about to abolish the practice of checking baggage from residences and hotels to destination. The reason given is that excess baggage sometimes goes through without being charged for. The railroads claim they fear prosecution from the government on the ground that they discriminate in favor of some passengers in that the excess baggage is not charged.
