NEGRO AND OFFICER SHOT

"Alkali Ike" Taylor Pulls a Gun on Patrolman Horner.

LATTER FIRES TRUE AS HE FALLS

Taylor Got Away for the Time Being, but Later is Found at Lodging Place with Wounds Likely to Prove Fatal.

Patrolman C. A. Horner of Council Bluffs was shot and seriously wounded last night about 10 o'clock by a negro named Taylor, whom he had placed under arrest at Broadway and Eleventh street.

"Alkali Ike" is known to the Omaha police, who say that he has been arrested in this city several times on minor charges. They state that he was never known in Omaha as a "bad man," generally having been picked up merely as a vagrant.

While the Bluffs police were looking for Taylor before he was arrested, the Omaha officers rendered efficient aid, although they did not get the opportunity of making the arrest, which was made on the other side of the river.

The depot, railway yards, both bridges and the street car line were carefully guarded and no negroes were allowed to pass until the police and detectives were sure that the much wanted man was not among them. Several negroes were taken from trains and cars, but were immediately released.

The negro proprietor of a pool hall near where the trouble occurred came near being roughly handled, both by the police and the crowd, for he was mistaken for Taylor. It happened that he was just going to take a train and was seen running toward the tracks to board a train soon after the shooting.

The Omaha police say that many negroes flocked to Omaha after the trouble, fearing racial troubles as the result of their brother's shooting. It is said that no such trouble resulted, but that Council Bluffs is now city a goodly number of colored people as the result of the migration.

Iowa

Money Goes to Foreign Pook

Nice Question Settled by the Supreme Court in Will Case.

HEIRS WANT MONEY KEPT HERE

Question Now Arises, Can the State Get Inheritance Tax on Colateral Bequests that Go Out of the Country?

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, May 11.—(Special).—That a man dying in Iowa may leave his estate to the poor of a foreign municipality without designating any specific trustee for the trust fund was announced by the supreme court of Iowa today. The case whose question arose came from Sioux county. D. J. Klumpert, dying, left a few thousand dollars to distant relatives and then decreed that the balance of his estate, valued at about $10,000, should be distributed among the poor of Voorst, Gelderland, Netherlands. He appointed executors for his will.

Some of the heirs who received small bequests under the will and demurred to the section giving money to the foreign poor on the ground that the will designated no proper trustee for its distribution. The executors chose to stand on the question of demur and appealed from the lower court. The supreme court reverses the lower court and says the section providing the bequest to the poor of a foreign municipality is probably an incorporated municipality with duly elected officers and as the bequest is for the poor generally of that city it can be distributed equitably through the municipal institutions for such work under the direction of its officers.

Now another interesting question has been raised in the office of the attorney general with regard to the action of Iowa collect a collateral inheritance tax on this large amount left to the poor of a foreign municipality. Attorney General Byers will probably be asked for an opinion in the matter before the money leaves the jurisdiction of the state courts.

Workers at Capitol Changed. At the state capital a number of changes in the working force were made today, which marks probably the last of the changes under the new administration. John M. Lewis, an old soldier, retired as janitor, to be succeeded by Louis Cohen, James Newcomb of Boone was released to make room for Mr. Cox of Valley Junction, who succeeds him as chief of police. Harris Goldberg was removed as elevator man and his place given to Owen Byrnes.

Aged Prisoner Pardoned. Governor B. F. Carroll, in conformity with the recommendation of the State Board of Parole, has signed a pardon for R. W. Glyndon, who is unquestionably the oldest prisoner in the United States, having served thirty-one years. He is now 71 years old. Before his conviction thirty-one years ago he was twice held a rope around his neck, but was beaten back by deputy sheriffs. After conviction he worked in a furnace room of the penitentiary till his clothes were wringing wet with perspiration. At night he had to change of clothes and accordingly contracted catarrh that has blinded his left eye and defaced his left ear. Despite all these things, he has not a single ray of hope in his head. He has been provisionally pardoned all these years. He has never seen a telephone, a street car, an automobile or any of the other modern inventions. He was a soldier in the civil war and has been drafted a period from the government. Much of that he has spent doctoring his catarrh. When he leaves the prison he is going to Cedar Rapids for a time with friends until he becomes acclimated to the modern ways of the world.

General Strike Will Not Be Declared Until After Parliament Considers Appeal.

PARIS, May 11.—The postal situation in Paris was unchanged tonight. The leaders in the movement for a general strike apparently wish to await the action of Parliament tomorrow before taking an irrevocable step. The federal committee has placarded the city with a manifesto entitled: "A Last Appeal to the Members of Parliament."

The manifesto in stating the case against the government claims that the government has refused to recognize all attempts at conciliation and is trying to force the postal employees into a war. It asks Parliament to do its duty.

A mass meeting has been called for tomorrow night, at which the question of striking on Wednesday will be discussed. Eleven more suspensions were announced. The places of the seven postal employees who were dismissed from the service of Saturday were filled today.
