War Does Twirling

War Sanders was chosen by Captain Bu to do the twirling and he did not betre the confidence the management and the fans placed in him. At no time did he show any signs of weakening, allowing but five hits and passing but one. He held the game well in hand all the way through and the sixteen assists by the infielders shows where most of the would-be hits went.

Omaha cinched the game in the initial round by sousing the ball after your oldtime friend Jay Andrews had booted the of the Union Pacific and several other railroad officials made a trip over the got in his regular sacrifice and Pendry did North River branch this afternoon for the the rest with a single. ST. LOUIS, May 16.—St. Louis won the third game of the series today from Washington by the score of 4 to 2. St. Louis hit Johnson for seven safeties, bunching them in the fourth and eighth innings, which resulted in two runs in each inning. Graham for St. Louis was in trouble all through the game and several times looked as though he would have to be taken out. Washington railled in the eighth and ninth and scowred once in each inning. Boston Defents Detroit. DETROIT. May 16.—Today's game, won by Boston 3 to 2, had an exciting windup. Moriarty tried to steal home with two down in the ninth, and was caught coming in. Carrigan and the runner had a mixup after the play was completed, the catcher striking at Moriarty as he lay on the ground. Other players got in before any harm was done, but it was necessary to spirit the Boston catcher away from the park to avoid trouble. Boore:

ATHLETICS BLANK WHITESOX THOMAS A. CREICH IS DEAL

(Continued from First Page.) Mr. Creigh established the first of the field telegraph lines of the army of the Potomac and was almost constantly on the firing line. He became particularly dis-tinguished for valor and efficiency during the Fredericksburg campaign, and was entrusted with the secret codes between President Lincoln and the commanding generals of the army. While always in imminent danger, Mr. Creigh fortunately escaped injury from wounds during his long and valuable military service in the war. With his family Mr. Creigh came to Nebrasks in the territorial days, locating first ning game today. He was the intimate and Outfielder Cravath to the Washington friend of the late Robert W. Furnas, exgovernor of Nebraska, and was connected with one of the state departments during Governor Furnas' administration. He theu removed to Omaha, where he engaged in the drug business, and in 1880 entered the land and real estate business, which vocation he has since followed, with offices in The Bee building.

Colonel Creigh had always been an ardent Grand Army of the Republic man and was commander of Grant post No. 110 during the year 1905. Two years later he was elected department commander of the Nebraska Grand Army of the Republic. During his incumbency of the office of department commander he materially increased the sembership of the organization, and succeeded in bringing many of the old comrades back into the order. Methodical in all his habits, he adopted a system in Grand Army of the Republic affairs and by this means kept tab on practically every veteran of Douglas county, and succeeded in having the system introduced into the state department.

Mr. Creigh is survived by his wife and wo sons, Thomas and Alfred, all of maha. Mr. Creigh was a member of the Masonic order and had all his life been a Christian. He was a prominent and active member of the Men's club of the First Presbyterian church and one of the members of the original First Presbyterian church of Omeha, being connected with that church organization for about thirtyfive years. The announcement of his death during Sunday morning's services of the church yesterday was received with every expression of the deepest regret and sorrow.
