Exemption of Wages.
OMAHA, May 15.—To the Editor of The Bee: It may be interesting to your readers, and the public in general, to call attention to a case involving garnishments and exemptions recently decided by the supreme court of the state of Nebraska.

The case is one which was brought by me in this county and was decided by Judge Howard Kennedy, and is entitled, Jones against Union Pacific Railroad Co., et al.
The question involved was exemption of wages. A party in Columbus, Neb., obtained a judgment against a Union Pacific engineer by default. In course of time, the Union Pacific Railroad company was garnished, and answered in justice court in Platte county that it owed the engineer about a month's wages. The justice court directed the railroad company to pay into court a sum sufficient to satisfy the judgment. The engineer employed me to protect his wages, and I brought suit in equity alleging among other things that the engineer was the head of a family; that he had no houses, lots or lands subject to execution under the laws of the state of Nebraska; that the money held up by the Union Pacific Railroad company was for wages earned; that 50 per cent was especially exempt under the law as it existed, the balance being subject to the wages due him as a part of the $500 in personal property exempt to heads of families under section 321 of our civil code. In other words, I contended that wage earners heads of families, having no homestead exemption, may claim an exempt, all the wages due them as a part of the $500 in personal property exempt to heads of families under section 321 of our civil code. The opinion of the court written by Judge Duffie, affirmed Judge Kennedy upon this branch of the case and permanently enjoined the railroad company from paying the justice of the peace the amount of wages due the engineer.

The opinion which has not been published, is very brief, and reads as follows:
The head of a family having neither lands, town lots or houses, which are exempt under the laws of the state, may have personal property exempt to the amount of $500 in personal property exempt to him under section 321 of our civil code. It is a question of fact, whether he has, having neither lands, town lots or houses, which are exempt under the laws of this state, entitled to claim all the wages due him as a part of the $500 in personal property exempt to him under section 321 of our civil code; in other words, whether the wages due him are personal property within the meaning of the statute.
In Lappin against Mumford, 14 Kan. 3, it is said: "The wages due a man for his labor in his life time is personal property, and is exempt to him under section 321 of our civil code."
In Ritch against Talbot, 4 Conn. 14, it is said: "The wages due a man for his labor in his life time is personal property, and is exempt to him under section 321 of our civil code."
The court held that the term "personal property" used in section 321 of our civil code, included wages due to a man for his labor in his life time. In the case at hand, the wages due the engineer are personal property, and are exempt to him under section 321 of our civil code. The court accordingly affirmed the judgment of the justice court, directing the railroad company to pay into court a sum sufficient to satisfy the judgment of the justice court.

Arrest of the Sutters.
OMAHA, May 15.—To the Editor of The Bee: In several issues of the papers appeared articles concerning the arrest of Lafayette Sutter, J. H. Sutter and C. G. Sutter, founded upon the one-sided report given by Officer Fleming. When this case came to trial Wednesday morning and a number of witnesses on both sides had been examined it was decidedly shown where the blame lay.
The officer had placed himself on an equal basis with the colored driver for the Sutters by doing things unbecoming an officer and not feeling in a joking mood Saturday evening respecting something said to him by Greene, and his arrest followed. When Mr. Sutter told and showed the officer where he was in the wrong, Fleming became incensed and after Greene had been placed in the patrol wagon the officer went to the store Mr. Sutter owned and without provocation struck him on the head, knocking him down, and while in this position struck him four more blows, one on the arm and three on the head. When C. G. Sutter came to his father's assistance he was also struck twice on the head and both placed under arrest for resisting an officer and evidence introduced to show such was the case.
The judge undoubtedly differed of opinion, for the men were discharged.

Health Officers Should Organize.
NORTH PLATTE, Neb., May 14.—To the Editor of The Bee: In line with the present rapidly developing sentiment in favor of the idea of preventing disease instead of attacking it after it is developed, and the spread of life-saving medical intelligence, I want to bring before the public the necessity of organization of the public health officers and the need of public support of such an organization after it has been effected. Much good would result if the public health officers of the state were organized and would hold regular meetings, where the ways and means for preserving public health might be discussed, improvements and advances noted, and the force of the organized body brought to bear on the enforcement of such regulations as might be necessary. City and county health officers have been inclined to be passive, very little work of an active and aggressive nature has been done, but in view of the fact that an enormous amount of the diseases that now afflict the people of our state could be absolutely prevented it seems reasonable to suppose that one of the first steps to secure more nearly ideal health conditions would be the perfection of such an organization as I have cited. Respectfully,
D. T. QUIGLEY,
City Physician.

SCHOOL AND COLLEGE WORK

Wasteful Practices in Public Schools Pointed Out.
The current number of the Psychological Clinic, Leonard P. Ayres, who is in charge of the investigation conducted by the Russell Sage foundation of New York city into school conditions in American cities, computes the direct financial loss caused annually by fifty-five wasteful practices as the result of the "repeater." In the schools of these cities there are nearly 2,000,000 children, of whom over 800,000 are spending their second, third or fourth year in the same grade. Mr. Ayres estimates that these wasteful repeaters devour annually nearly $1,000,000.

Among all the cities studied, Somerville, Mass., makes the best record, with only a little more than 5 per cent of its pupils in the repeating class. The first ten cities are all in New England, and eight of them are in Massachusetts. In Boston and Springfield 10 per cent of the children are repeaters, and 19 per cent of the school funds are annually expended on the wasteful process of restructing them in work they have already covered once, twice or more times.

The city of Omaha occupies the twenty-second place among the fifty-five cities studied. Here Mr. Ayres claims that 13.5 per cent, or 243,000 children, are repeaters, which means that our repeaters annually consume $7,329 of our school funds. This huge sum represents almost pure waste, analogous to that cause in a factory by a mechanic telling two hours over a task one hour ought to be finished, or a factory on earth would such loss be tolerated. Our schools can ill afford to ignore the waste taught, thrice taught child. The results of the Russell Sage educational inquiry will furnish to educators all over the country a list of the wasteful practices which they cannot afford to ignore. The announcements which are now being made and which will soon be put in their entirety at the disposal of school authorities, tell for a large number of American cities such facts as the number and cost of repeaters, the number of backward or retarded children, the rate at which the pupils progress through the grades, the proportion of beginners who continue until they graduate from elementary courses, and many other similar significant measures of school efficiency. These figures will give American school men for the first time standards by which they can judge their schools, compare them with those of other cities, and discover the causes which have obtained the highest possible degree of efficiency.

Students Sidestep Rushing Rule.
LINCOLN, May 15.—(Special.)—Fifty boys got busy during the high school fete day here this week and did a lot of rushing among the high school boys, and sidestepped the rules which prohibit rushing students during their first year in the university.
The high school boys are not yet students of the state institution and so were prey for the fraternities. Several of the fraternities gave dinners either at the hotels or at their homes.
The event of the week at the university was the high school fete day, and though it rained most of the day, the fete day events were record-breakers. The schools of the state were well represented and the crowd unusually large. Chancellor Avery, State Superintendent Bishop, J. L. McBride and Prof. Conroy addressed the students and welcomed them to the university. Lunch was served at the university temple and 250 visitors participated.

Michigan University

Annual Summer Sessions and the Biological Station.
The sixteenth annual summer session of the University of Michigan will open June 23, 1909. Courses will be offered in the departments of literature, science, and the arts, of engineering, of medicine and surgery, of law, and in the School of Pharmacy and the Homoeopathic Medical college. The session continues until August 20 in all departments except in the department of medicine and surgery and in the Homoeopathic Medical college, in which work will close August 6.

The work of the summer session is equivalent in method, character and credit value to that of the academic year. The teaching staff, numbering 140, is selected almost exclusively from the regular faculties. There are no formal requirements for admission to the summer session and its courses are open to all persons qualified to pursue them to advantage.
During the summer of 1909 a station for instruction and research in biology will be maintained at Douglas lake, in Cheboygan county, as a part of the summer session. The station will be located on the south shore of the lake, about seven miles east of Pellston, on land belonging to the university and near the Bogardus engineering camp.
The location gives easy access to Mackinac island, Cheboygan and the resorts of Lake Traverset, and the region to the south of it. As the station will be located in an unsettled country the party will live in tents, but will be able to obtain board at the engineering camp. There will be the usual equipment of boats, apparatus for field and laboratory study and of books. A dark room will be provided for photographic work and a number of aquaria will be provided for the observation of fish and other aquatic forms.
The total number of students enrolled in the University of Michigan for the year 1908-1909 was 5,223, distributed as follows:
Literature, science and the arts: 3,124
Graduates: 1,214
Engineering: 1,411
Medicine and surgery: 438
Law: 839

BRIGHTEST BOY IN WORLD.
Lad of Fourteen Will Be Graduated Next Month from Tufts.
A lad who has been termed the brightest boy in the world will graduate next month from Tufts college. His name is Norbert Wiener, and he is the son of Prof. Leo Wiener of Harvard university. This remarkable boy was born in Columbia, Mo., November 26, 1894. He will graduate in his 14th year, having completed the regular four-year course in three years, receiving the degree of bachelor of arts and covering work equal to the amount usually completed by a candidate for a degree of doctor of philosophy. Needless to say he is the proudest student of 14 to be graduated from Tufts.

Norbert Wiener at the age of 8 was fitted for college in mathematics, philosophy and modern languages. Three years prepared him for college entry. When he entered Tufts in 1906 he had gone farther in chemistry and philosophy than the average senior.
He resides with his father and mother at 11 Bellevue street, Medford, Mass., at the foot of Tufts college hill.
Aside from the fact that Norbert Wiener's capacity for learning is phenomenal, he is as other boys. He is tall, of Russian descent on his father's side, a good tennis player and a splendid swimmer. His intense black eyes are his most striking features.
This autumn he will enter the Harvard graduate school, taking a course in higher mathematics (his favorite study) and supplementary biology or chemistry. After receiving the doctor's degree at 17, he will spend two or three years in France and Germany, devoting himself to philosophy. Thus, at an age when the average boy has just two years' work ahead for his college course, young Wiener will be doing advanced work among men three times his age in a German university.

UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO.
Week Added to School Year to Accommodate High School Visitors.
The University of Chicago has added a week to its regular school year to make sure of the entertainment of the thousands of high school athletes who will be on the campus for Director Stagg's eighth annual intercollegiate meet on June 12. This will bring the meet into the middle of convocation week, and the visiting athletes will see the institution in the height of its most festive season.
Director Stagg is now sending out invitations to almost 5,000 high schools and academies in the ten middle western states, and is already receiving requests for entry from a far west as Fort Smith, Ark., and Oklahoma City.

The students are entering enthusiastically into their plans for entertaining the hosts of preparatory school men who will be here for the occasion, and the committees are already appointed and at work. Admission to the balcony from which to view the great junior promenade and a trip to the White City, the great amusement park which is near the university, are planned for the evening before the meet, and banquets, smokers, a student vaudeville show and receptions at the student houses are being arranged for after the event.
The ceremonies of the convocation week, which will be in full swing at the time of the meet, will reach their climax in the graduating exercises on Tuesday morning, and probably a large number of prep school lads will stay over to see them and the class exercises of Monday.

Wentworth Military Academy.
The corps of cadets returned Saturday evening from Warrensburg, Mo., where they have been enjoying their annual encampment. They not only had a nice outing before taking up their examinations, but they had the experience of actual army camp life. Boating, fishing and base ball constituted the sports between drills. They also had a sham battle on Friday afternoon. A troop of cavalry and a battery of artillery were over by land and the infantry by rail.
The commencement exercises will follow the examinations, which will take place this week.
Charles Mayer, a prominent lawyer of St. Joseph and an alumnus of Wentworth, will deliver the graduating address on the morning of May 27. Dr. Armstrong, Dr. Armstrong of the Central Baptist church of St. Louis will deliver the baccalaureate sermon on Sunday, May 23.
Fifty acres of ground have been added and a lake will be built this summer.
The inspection this year was made by Captain Lockridge of the general staff of
