Brown of New York Central, McCrea of Pennsylvania and Winchell of Rock Island Systems

Are the Men.

Omaha has been the stopping place for three presidents of three of the largest railroad systems of the country within twenty-four hours. First came W. C. Brown, president of the New York Central lines, who spent Monday forenoon in Omaha and Council Biaffs. James McCrae, president of the Pennsylvania lines arrived in Omaha with gum shoes Tuesday morn ing and left immediately afterward for California, accompanied by A. L. Mohier vice president of the Union Pacific, with a special train. Then came B. L. Winchell, president of the Rock Island system to speak at the Omaha Commercial club.

The Rock Island expects to rock ballast seventy-five miles of its line in Nebraska this year." said President Winchell.

Mr. Winchell stated that he had come from Chicago especially to attend the Commercial club banquet and expected to stay couple of days to get better acquainted with the people of Omaha. He had arranged for a golf match, but said that to might have to be called off because of the hard rain and wet grounds.

Gould Dietz escorted Mr. Winchell around Omaha Tuesday morning, showing him the many new buildings in the jobbing district and landed him at the Commercia iab rooms in time for the spread. Mr. Winchell said his road had no definite plans for building any new lines in Nebraska this year.

East Learns Western Ways. The east is learning railroading from the west. President Brown admitted he was out here in search of information, and President McCrae wanted the leading rail road officials of the west to accompany what Harriman had been able to accomplish in a few years in turning a bankrupt property into one of the leading and best equipped and operated railroads in the

No one seemed to know that Mr. McCrae was coming, and the first indication was when a beautiful, bright, private red car of the Pennsylvania system rolled into Union station Tuesday morning. A special train was soon made up of Mr. McCrae's and Mr. Mohler's private cars and a couple of extra cars for ballast and started at 8 o'clock for California. Mr. Mohler will go as far as Ogden with Mr. McCrae.

When is a newspaper?

The question confronts Judge Troup in district court though an action brought by I. G. Baright to have E. L. Platz and shed. 500. John Lubold enjoined from publishing the Florence Gazette.

Baright has a chattel mortgage on the machinery of the old Gazette, which died some months ago.

Recently Platz and Lubold started up the paper under the name of the "Gazette," and Baright thinks they are infringing on his rights. R. H. Olmsted representing Platz contends that a news paper ceases to exist when it ceases to be published. The case will be argued further Wednesday morning.

Lawyers Hired in the Shaw Case

Family or Friends of Doyle and Dead Man Have Retained Legal Counsel.

Lawyers closely watching the testimony for the opposite sides of the case and County Attorney English conducting the examination of witnesses will be present at the inquest into the death of Ed R. Shaw, the broker, who died Monday from the effects of a fractured skull.

The inquest is to be Friday at 2 p. m. and preparations are being made, including the summoning as witnesses of M. S. Jackson of Cedar Rapids and George Scott and Jack Morris of this city, who were in the party when Charles Doyle struck the blow which caused Shaw to fall to the sidewalk at Fifteenth and Howard streets and fracture his skull. The women are not yet secured as witnesses.

Both the Shaw family and the family and friends of young Doyle have retained attorneys to look after their interests at the inquest and afterwards, if the case results
