ILLINOIS DEADLOCK BROKEN

Congressman William Lorimer is Finally Elected Senator.

LORIMER MAKES AN ADDRESS

Emphasizes Fact that He is Republican and that Men Voting for Him Knew He Was a Republican.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 27.-Congressman William Lorimer of Chicago is the junior United States senator from Illinois. He was elected on the ninty-fifth ballot in the joint assembly today by a coalition of democratic and republican votes, to fill the vacancy from Illinois which has existed in the national senate at Washington since Albert J. Hopkins' term expired on March 4 last. The deadlock has existed since last January. Mr. Lorimer's total vote was 108. Speaker Shurtleff cast the vote in the joint assembly which insured Lorimer's election When the speaker's name was reached on the house roll call 88 votes had been cast in the house and if votes had been cast in the senate for William Lorimer, making a total of an even 100 votes. Shurtleff's was the eighty-ninth vote in the house and the 101 vote in the joint session for Lorimer, which gave the senator-elect a majority of the 200 senators and representatives who were present and voting.

Lorimer's election was not dependent on a majority of those present and voting. He also received a constitutional majority of 102 votes and had before the vote was announced six votes to spare. With the announcement of Shurtleff's vote members of the legislature and the vast throng in the house galleries knew that the deadlock was broken. Pandemonium broke loose. Fifty-five republicans and fifty-three democrats voting together brought about Lorimer's election and broke the longstanding deadlock.

Northcott Dragged from Floor. The breaking of the deadlock was not permitted to pass without exciting incidents. Former Lieutenant Governor of the Iowa Episcopal diocese adjourned Northcott, a Hopkins leader, who is now the United States district attorney at Springfield, was dragged from the main Premier Asquith Refuses to Define floor of the house by house policemen who would have thrown him through the main door had not a doorkeeper interfered Minority leader Lee O'Nell Browne characterized the words of Representative Eng-FORT DODGE HOTEL ASSURED lish as false because the latter gave the impression by inference that improper influences had been used to secure democratic votes for Lorimer. Senator Lorimer was given an ovation when he appeared. He said in part: "Every democrat that voted for me to day knew that he was voting for a re publican. Such a condition as exists in this hall could not have been obtained twenty years ago, but the parties have been growing in their great principles closer and closer together every day until new we are separated by just a few great principles and that which has continued the chasm between the two great parties. that which made it possible for us to enter into the contest in the last campaign was the tariff issue. All my life have been for what is known as a 'high protective tariff, but in our last republithe Omaha National bank, Luther Drake can national convention, our party, the re-4,000 of the Omaha Merchants National and publicen party, declared for a lower tariff, or a tariff revision downward. And, gentle men, whether that is the view I have held in the last twenty-five years that I have been voting the republican ticket or not. the party obligations call upon all of our representatives to carry out our pledges and let me say to you before this contest opened the republicans were prepared to carry out their pledge.

"The last time I was elected to congress I made the campaign to promote the great project of a waterway from the great lakes to the gulf of Mexico. I had hoped that probably I might have one more term in congress after the one I am now serving expires. I had hoped for that additional term in order that I might have the time to urge upon the congress of the country this great and much needed development of the Mississippi valley. But you, gentlemen. here today have brushed aside all the nee-of a re-election to congress. You have made it unnecessary for another campaign and another election. You have given me a service of six years in the high branch of the congress of the United States and let me say to you today, that, with your aid at some time during the life of this general assembly you and I during my service in the senate will live to see the day when the great project of a waterway from the lakes to the gulf will be on tin way to completion."

Ex-Senator Hopkins said:

"In looking back to the primary I feel no regrets as respects the manner in which my campaign was conducted. Under the aw that was placed upon the statute books of this state by the general assembly which preceded you, if I desired to become a candidate to succeed myself in the senate of the United States I was required, with the others, to file my petition with the secretary of state and to make a canvass of this state and receive the endorsement of the people at the primary election. Under that statute I, with several others, made a canvass of this state and received nearly 50,000 plurality against my nearest competitor, and $2,000 plurality, in round numbers, against Senator Mason. I had supposed, as many others, that the primary law was to determine the result of the sen atorial canvass. When I came here in January I found a different condition existed I found that many of the members of the general assembly felt that they should be guided and controlled by the vote in their respective districts, and others believed as I believed, that the general result of the entire state was to determine this ques-

The Birth of A Strange Style

A new - and strange - style in men's clothes is made every minute.

It is made by the tailor who starts out with you as his "dummy" and with a fashion plate style in his mind.

He cuts and he bastes and he chalks. He tries it on you sleeveless, with a sleeve, collarless, with a collar, shapeless, with too much shape -he fusses it up one side and down the other-until the only thing left of the good original idea is a memory.

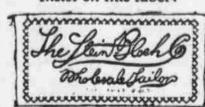

You settle the bill - and try to make yourself believe you have an almost stylish suit.

But your Stein-Bloch suit or overcoat is not the result of one effort. Infinite pains are taken to gather fashion facts and to make the original model exactly what the best styles in the world call for.

Proportions are then exactly maintained for every possible size, so the lines of the desired style are preserved intact.
