BARS SWEEPSTAKE WINNERS

Corn Show Champions Placed on Honorary List.

CANNOT COMPETE WITH OTHERS

They May Contest with Each Other and Enter the World Classes at the National Exposition This Fall.

Witness of grand champion sweepstakes at former National Corn expositions will not be permitted to enter classes against other exhibitors at the 1989 exposition No students' judging contest will be put on this year. Colorado will give an oats trophy worth $1,000 and prizes of $190 for oats in the juntor classes. All entries must be made and all exhibits on the ground November 27, the show opening in Omaha, December 6. These are a few of the important changes made in the plans for the National Corn exposition as a result of a meeting held in Omaha Monday and attended by the members of the executive committee of the show and vice presidents and officers of the National Corn associa-

The exposition places the sweepstakes winners on an honorary list and permits them to compete against each other and enter the world classes, but offers no cash prize for the grand champion sweepstakes. Last year $1,000 in gold was paid to the winner. This year there will be three sweepstakes for yellow, white and mixed corn. The grand champion sweepstakes winner will be given the premium trophy won last year by Indiana.

As but one agricultural college has atulents to enter in the judging contests, the exposition has decided to discontinu these contests.

W. H. Olin of Colorado has arranged for the oat trophy, which is given by the grain dealers and commercial clubs of the

CITY AND STATE AGREE ON HOW TO TREAT THE COWS

No Friction Between the Officers on Handling Tuberculouis Among Cattle.

"There is absolutely no friction between our department and the state officials and we will work together in the tradication of tuberculosis among the dairy cows in and about Omaha," said Dr. Ralph W. Connell, city commissioner of

Some of the dairy owners objected to the enforced inspection ordered by the local authorities and called in the state veterinariasn, Dr. Paul Juckiness, but that official coincided with Dr. Connell, though at a meeting attended by the state veterinarian the city health commissioner, Dr. C. C. Hall, the city veterinarian, and F. Fitch, attorney for the local Dairymen's association, it was decided that the inspection should in the future be done by the state authorities.

The state veterinarian is required by law to co-operate with and is made an assistant to the secretary of agriculture or of any officer or authority of the government in the suppression and extirpation of any and all contagious diseases among domestic animals and in the enforcement and execution of any and all acts of congress to prevent the importation or exportation of diseased cattle and the spread of infection or contagious diseases among

Mayor and Craig Keep Mum on Appointments

Will Send to City Council Tuesday Night Long List, but Will Divulge None.

The names of between fifty and seventyfive appointees for city positions will be sent by Mayor Dahlman and City Engineer Craig to the city council today confirmation. Neither official will divulge the names of any of the appointees and consequently there is much conjecture and uneasiness on the part of hose who want positions.

Mayor Dahlman at first intended to send o the council the names of only appointees to charter positions, six in number, but he has now decided to send in the names of nearly all his appointees. The charter gives him until June 15 to appoint men to offices created by ordinance, but the executive wishes to get it off his mind and to put a stop to the scores of applications made daily to him for political jobs. City Engineer Craig intends now to ask for the confirmation of about one-half his force. Mayor Dahlman is expressing amusement at the interviews published in the local democratic paper from democrats who ob-

Thomas F. Lee as city prosecutor and he says he could have saved the reporter who secured the interviews a lot of trouble. "Could anyone imagine that the opinions of such men as Colonels Marshall, Berrywhom the World-Herald delights to quote." Some of the Jim leaders say that if the democratic paper really does not want Lee appointed it would succeed better if it would support him, for then the mayor might not appoint him just out of spite.
