AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Hundreds of Citizens Join in Observing Memorial Day.

SERVICES HELD AT ETTER LOT

Dr. Wheeler, in Reminiscence Address, is Fearful of Weakening Along Patriotic Lines Among Young

Many hundred citizens of South Omaha visited the different cemeteries of the city yesterday in honor of the dead. The remembrance was not alone to the old soldiers, but very few graves were forgotten in the tokens of affectionate remembrance.

The regular Memorial day ritual was observed by the Grand Army of the Republic. The order marched to Laurel Hill cemetery at 2 p. m. and laid exercises above the grave of the late F. J. Etter. Musical numbers were rendered by a quartet consisting of J. C. Carley, I. A. Kellogg, F. A. Brown and C. E. Campbell.

The selections were: "Oh, My America," "Soldier's Rest," and "America."

After the ritual in honor of the known dead was finished, Dr. R. L. Wheeler made a short address on the significance of the occasion. He said he was just old enough to remember well the war times, but just a little too young to be a soldier. Nevertheless, he was intensely interested in the events of the war and the men who fought it. He thought his chance of knowing public sentiment was better than some in the thick of battle. The doctor gave one of two reminiscences and passed into a eulogy of the heroes of the great war. He said he had sometimes doubted whether the blood of the present generation was as strong and vigorous as in those days of the pioneers of human liberty. He feared the younger generation had ceased to revere the traditions of our country. But when the Spanish-American war broke out and the whole people responded so nobly to the demands of duty, he was led to believe that the nation was eminently safe, both from invasion and from the great war.

One South Omaha policeman is laid up with a bruised head and another is laid off with no job because they could not agree on who arrested Woods, the supposed leader of the Overland limited train robbers.

Monday night, Captain Zeis Turnquist and Patrolman D. W. Mahwinney of the South Omaha force fell to discussing the credit for arresting Woods, the supposed leader of the alleged bandits.

"I made the arrest," said Mahwinney.

"I made the arrest," said Turnquist.

Whereupon the argument waxed hot. Finally Mahwinney made a gesture with his club hand and then he made another and another and each time he gestured his club fell with emphasis on Turnquist's head. Turnquist never did become thoroughly convinced, but he sustained two or three scalp wounds.

Mahwinney was laid off for ten days, but Chief Briggs says—while the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners has final authority in his case—that he will never consent to Mahwinney's returning to the force.

"It is the first time in my experience that a policeman has attacked a superior officer," said the chief. "We can't and won't put up with that."

Mahwinney has been on the force a year and a half.

Dr. A. H. Koenig says Turnquist's wounds are not serious, though painful.

Meyer President Carriers

Nebraska City Man Chosen Head of the Nebraska Postmen.

FAIRBURY GETS NEXT MEETING

Governor, Mayor and Other Leading Men on Toast Card—Victor Rosewater Discusses Proposals for Pensions.

Delegates to the Nebraska Letter Carriers' convention closed their eleventh annual meeting with a handsomely appointed banquet at the Home, tendered them by Branch Number 8, N. A. L. C. The feast was enjoyed by about 130 letter carriers and their wives and guests. After a delightful menu had been enjoyed the assembly was entertained by a number of greatly appreciated toasts by prominent men of the state.

In the absence of Postmaster Benjamin Z. Thomas, of Omaha, Superintendent of Schools W. M. Davidson acted as toastmaster, and in his opening speech read a number of letters of regret from out-of-town guests, who were unable to attend, among them being Senators Burkett and Brown, and Congressman Hitchcock.

Mayor Dahlman delivered a speech of welcome in which were interspersed a number of entertaining stories. He directed his welcome especially towards Governor Shallenberger, assuring him of his safety while in Omaha.

Victor Rosewater followed with an explanation of different proposals for retirement pension for public service men, referring to the experimental beginning along this line in Omaha in regard to the firemen and policemen. He said that there will be no use discussing a pension of government employees if they are to be turned out at the expiration of a fixed term. The particular plan considered by postal employees is for a system by which substitutes should be put on at the lowest grade of pay, in place of the retiring man taking a per cent of the latter's salary, turning the difference back into the treasury. While the plan is not accepted as final it is attractive and is entitled to careful consideration.

Governor Shallenberger paid a tribute to the faithful performance of duty by the letter carriers and painted the resources and glories of Nebraska as one of the greatest states of the union, and ended with a splendid tribute to the flag.

United States Marshal William J. Warner spoke upon "Our Country," tracing its marvelous growth in the last few years, particularly in the western states. Postmaster F. L. McCartney, of Nebraska City, explained the workings of "Our Civil Service," telling the trials and tribulations attendant upon the distribution of the mail. Carl Kramer, postmaster of Columbus, paid tribute to "Our Lady Gazette," which was greatly appreciated by those present.

At a business meeting held in the afternoon the following new officers were elected: President, J. S. Meyer, Nebraska City; vice president, Ed. D. Black, Omaha; secretary, L. M. Witherson, Lincoln; treasurer, C. W. Mulloy, Fremont; delegate-at-large, St. Paul, F. F. Johnson, Fairbury. The next convention is to be held in Fairbury.

The committees in charge of the various features of the meeting were:

Committee of arrangements—S. A. Morrison, chairman; George F. Harris, secretary; William Maher, D. W. Tilston, Joseph Musgrave, B. F. Knox, Edw. L. Hoag, Joe Z. Little.

ELIMINATE PROFESSIONALS, URGES MISSOURIAN

"Invite the Amateur and Give Every Boy a Chance to Win," Says Psychologist in Address.

In an address before the physical directors of the Young Men's Christian association, Prof. C. W. Hetherington, holding the chair of psychology in the University of Missouri, advised the elimination of professional athletes from contests within the Y. M. C. A. because they hamper the ambitions of the amateur. The professor's subject was "Amateurism" and the address was delivered to the audience of the Y. M. C. A. building last evening.

"Amateurism is playing with motives," said Prof. Hetherington. "Distinct from it is professionalism. The amateur goes into a contest for the fun of the thing, the professional for the monetary gain to be derived from his efforts. The object of the professional is not primarily play, but it is to get money from the spectators who see his feats."

"All conceptions of amateurism are based on the instincts derived from play. The law of amateurism is an administrative rule made in an attempt to separate contests for play from contests for money. The whole question is: Is this law essential?"

"The principal factor which leads the boy into athletics centers in the law of competition. Most, if not all, the pleasures of the contest are in the chances to win. If there is no chance to win, there is no competition. This being so, we should then eliminate the professional, invite the amateur, and give every boy a fair chance to win."

COUNCIL HAS THE MESSAGE

Committee of Whole Discusses Mayor's Recommendations.

LAW COMMITTEE GETS MESSAGE

Plumbers Appear to Protest Against Resignation of Harry McVea, Who Defends Himself on Charges Preferred.

Mayor Dahlman's message is now up to the council committee on judiciary, headed by Judge Berka, for recommendation as to the disposal of the various pieces of legislation touched upon.

The message was brought up in the meeting of the committee of the whole Monday afternoon, read and discussed. The councilmen expressed themselves favorably on the recommendation that two assistant plumbing inspectors be appointed, intimating that there are enough parks in Omaha not to necessitate the expenditure of money to buy seats to place in the park at Fort Omaha and declared themselves as being in favor of equipping the fire engine houses already built before building more stations.

Former Councilman Zimmerman's ordinances requiring the payment of occupation taxes by public service corporations were not before the council, so no action could be taken on this matter in relation to the mayor's recommendation. Nothing was said regarding the mayor's recommendation that bonds be voted to build an art gallery or the establishment of a public comfort station.

A delegation of plumbers headed by George Wallace, appeared before the committee to protest against the confirmation of Harry McVea, city plumbing inspector. In the event the mayor recommends that official. Definite charges were preferred, the plumbing inspector being allowed to answer them later. The committee spokesman said the plumbing inspector had inspected but little of the work done in this city during the last three years, had allowed incompetent men to follow the trade, had passed as competent men who are not. He had filed no complaints against incompetent men until the last week and had allowed plumbers to complete a job before taking out a permit.

McVea Makes Showing.

Mrs. McVea admitted that he had not inspected all work, but said that it was a physical impossibility for one man to get all over the city and inspect work in new houses which were inspected by three or four inspectors and three electrical inspectors. In support of this contention he showed that the net earnings of his department had been $1,100, $1,000 and $2,000 a year since he has held the office, while the previous maximum was $500. He said that he did more work for the health department alone than was done altogether by his predecessors.

The plumbing inspector also told the committee that he is only one member of a board of three (composed of himself, a ### union plumber and a master plumber)

which examines plumbers and that if any incompetent man had been passed, he alone is not responsible. Failure to file complaints was explained by the official on the ground of lack of time, that if he followed up a man believed to be incompetent he would be neglecting other work. Mr. McVea said it had always been the policy of the department to let a contractor take out a permit after the work was done.

Another committee appeared before the council committee in support of Robert U. Wolfe, boiler inspector, whose reappointment has been forecasted. This committee was from the International Association of Machinists and was headed by J. Wanger.

Favor Billboard Restriction

The committee recommended the passage of the ordinance prohibiting the erection or maintenance of billboards within twelve feet of a boiler building. Billboards are now allowed to join buildings, which enhances the danger of fire, said Councilman McClellan, who introduced it, and they also serve as a hiding place for tramps and garbage.

The ordinance requiring the confirmation of health and sanitary inspectors, appointed by the health commissions, was also recommended for passage. The ordinance gives the council power to fix the pay of these inspectors. Heretofore the commissioner has appointed as many men as he saw fit and paid them a salary fixed by himself. This resulted last year in a deficit of $7,000 in the fund allowed the commissioner of health.

Councilman Sheldon's ordinance making it a misdemeanor to annoy people over a telephone, was reintroduced and recommended for passage. A maximum fine of $100 is provided.

F. P. Gould & Son, contractors of the new fire engine house at Twenty-second street and Ames avenue, were allowed additional pay of $1,150.00 to build a retaining wall on the rear end of the lot. The lot has been filled and it was found necessary to build a high retaining wall to keep it from washing away during heavy rains.

CURED ITCHING PAINFUL HUMOR

Which had Spread Over Face, Body and Arms—Swellings were as Large as a Dollar—When they Broke, Sores would Not Heal—Suffered 3 Years.

MADE SOUND AND WELL BY 3 SETS OF CUTICURA

"My trouble began about three years ago with little black swellings scattered over my face and neck. They would disappear but they would leave little black scars that would itch at times so I couldn't keep from scratching them. Larger swellings would appear in the same place and they were so painful I could hardly bear it and my clothes would stick to the sores. The first doctor I went to said the disease was scurvy, but the more I used of Cuticura, it was so painful that I could not bear to lie on my back at night. The second doctor pronounced my disease inflammation of the lymphatic glands. He stopped the swellings, but when they would break the places would not heal. He tried everything that he could but to no effect. He said it might be cured but it would take a long time. I bought a set of the Cuticura Remedies and used them according to directions and in less than a week some of the places were nearly well. I continued with the Cuticura Remedies until I had used three sets, and now I am sound and well. The disease lasted three years from the time it commenced until I was cured. Before Christmas something broke out on my seven year old brother's hands in the form of large sores. I tried everything I could think of but to no effect until it happened to think of Cuticura and one application cured him. Also, not long ago, my sister got a bad burn on her ankle. I have been using Cuticura on that and it gave her scarcely any trouble. O. L. Wilson, Puryear, Tenn., Feb. 8, 1908.

No Porker in Parlor at Ellick's

Deputy County Attorney Wins Golf Prize, but Wife Won't Let it Be Brought Home.

A. G. Ellick, deputy county attorney, has a cute young pig which he does not know what to do with because his wife will not let him bring it home. "The idea!" exclaimed Mrs. Ellick.

All the trouble started over a golf game. H. K. Burkett announced that he would give a valuable present to the winner of the golf match at the Happy Hollow club on Memorial day. Ellick was the lucky man, and when the crowd had gathered around the club house in the evening Mr. Ellick was presented with his prize with due pomp.

DeRoy Austin, Tom Austin, W. E. Shaffer, A. G. Ellick, Wyman, D. Liggett, G. W. Carpenter, E. A. Nordstrom, John R. Webster and John Bartlett were the ten high scores which were turned in before 4:30 on the handicap medal play over the course. It was agreed that the ten best scores would play off for the prize at a swiftest DeRoy Austin and Ellick were the last left in the swiftest and Ellick won—hence the pig.

He left it at the club house last night.

The Midwest Life

On the 28th day of April, 1909, The Midwest Life Insurance Company, of Lincoln, Nebraska was authorized by the Insurance Department of this state to do a general life insurance business on the level premium, legal reserve plan. The stockholders are Nebraska people, associated together to insure Nebraska people, and thereby to keep within Nebraska the premiums paid for their insurance. The business methods of the Midwest Life are clean. It sells and always has sold life insurance as life insurance.

The recent rulings of the Nebraska Insurance department, through the auditor of public accounts, the Hon. S. R. Barton, did not affect The Midwest Life in the slightest degree. It had never used "statements"; sold "special" or "board contracts"; placed misleading "statements" on the face of its policies; or elsewhere, as an enticement to its policyholders were secured; or sold "stocks, bonds or securities" of any insurance or agency company as an inducement to take life insurance with it. The rulings against such practices are in harmony with the position publicly taken by The Midwest Life ever since its organization.
